

GREEKS SCORE A VICTORY

LIEUT. BECKER IS FOUND GUILTY

He Was Convicted of Murder in the First Degree in the Rosenthal Case

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Police Lieutenant Charles Becker was found guilty this morning of murder in the first degree by the jury which has been trying him for instigating the death of Herman Rosenthal, gambler. The verdict was pronounced at 12:02 o'clock. Becker was remanded for sentence to the Tombs by Justice Goff until Oct. 30.

Mrs. Becker, sitting outside the door of the court room, fell in a swoon when the verdict was announced.

Becker did not flinch as Harold B. Skinner, foreman of the jury, pronounced the verdict.

John F. McIntyre, Becker's chief counsel, announced that he would take an immediate appeal, but added he-yond this he had nothing to say.

The prisoner's destiny was delivered into the jury's hands at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon after a three hours charge by Justice Goff, which Becker characterized as distinctly unfair and

LOCAL GREEKS ARE TO MEET

For Purpose of Raising Funds for Red Cross Association of Greece

A committee of local Greeks are making arrangements for a mass meeting to be held probably Sunday afternoon at Associated hall for the purpose of raising funds for the Red Cross association of Greece.

The meeting will be for everybody, irrespective of nationality, and English speakers will be provided for. There will also be Greek speakers and a collection will be taken up. The meeting will be held under the auspices of the local branch of the Pan-Hellenic union, J. E. Houpis president.

The following list of speakers was received yesterday by Mr. George Gouzoules of this city, one of the general directors of the Pan-Hellenic union, and it was then that the movement of a mass meeting was started:

New York, Oct. 19, 1912.
Dear Sir or Madam:—With the commencement of hostilities between Greece and Turkey the demands upon the Greek Red Cross, heavily taxed already by the general mobilization of the army, are daily growing larger and the society is becoming dependent to a very great extent upon the aid of those who sympathize with the sufferers in this inevitable struggle.

At the request of the governing body of the Greek Red Cross in Athens we make an earnest appeal to the generosity of the people of the United States to send us contributions to enable us to strengthen the important and arduous labors of the Red Cross, and to assure its continuance. Small or large sums will be equally thankfully received. Every dollar helps. Every contribution will be acknowledged by our treasurer, Mr. A. P. Ball, care Ball Bros., 15 William street, New York city, to whom kind subscribers to our fund are requested to forward their remittance. Yours respectfully,

D. N. Botassi, Consul-General of Greece, Chairman.
C. Papanichalopoulos, Manager Pan-Hellenic Union.
A. P. Ball, Treasurer and Secretary of Committee.

More Greeks Depart

About 60 Greeks arrived in this city yesterday, coming from Minneapolis, Minn., to pay a visit to their Lowell friends before returning to Greece, where they will join their regiment, they being all in the reserve class. The party is expected to leave tonight for New York with a small number of local Greeks.

A group of 53 local Greeks left this city yesterday for their mother land, 41 going at 5 o'clock, with the other 12 went on the midnight train. They all went to New York from where they sailed today on the steamship "Patrie" of the Greek line.

The next direct sail to Greece will be made by the "Athens" of the Greek line, which will sail from New York on Nov. 9. The steamship "La Touraine" of the French line will sail tomorrow noon from New York and the party who will leave tonight will board it. All others to leave this country will wait until Nov. 9, unless special arrangements are made with other steamship companies.

That Greek "Exodus"
Our neighbor, the Courier-Citizen, on Wednesday, said:

"Our esteemed contemporary, The Sun, largely confines its news of the exodus of Greeks from this city to join the forces of the motherland in the Balkan war, to constant denials of stories which appear in the Courier-Citizen. However, up to the present time, practically all that this paper has said about the enlistment of local Greeks has turned out true. On the authority of the Greek priest, Rev. C. H. Demetri, it was stated in Tuesday's issue of the paper that probably 500 Greeks would leave Lowell this week for New York, there to sail for home. This was most emphatically denied by the other newspaper, although on the evening following the denial 200 of the Greeks left the city. There seems to be some little factional trouble in the Greek colony, and The Sun is apparently getting its news from the faction which is out of touch with the real facts."

If the news in the Sun contradicted that in the Courier-Citizen it was because our neighbor was wrong and has been wrong all along in talking of the Greek "exodus" as if half the Greeks of Lowell were starting for the motherland. As a matter of fact, probably not more than about 250 Lowell Greeks have gone thus far to join the Greek army while according to the Courier-Citizen's figures the public is led to believe that the number is more than twice as large. Our neighbor has apparently counted in with the Lowell Greeks leaving this city the contingents from Nashua, Manchester and even from the west.

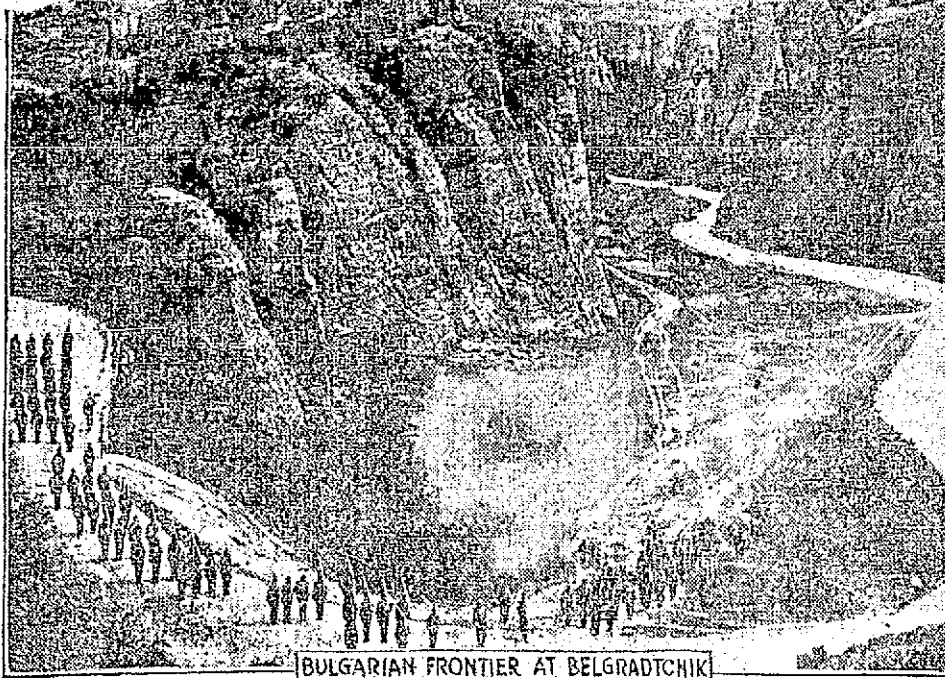

In the above paragraph the statement that 500 would leave Lowell this week is wrong. The statement that 200 Lowell Greeks left was also wrong, as there were only 156 on the train on that occasion and of these about 50 were from Nashua and Manchester. The Sun has been getting its news of the number of Greeks leaving, from parties who know. There has been nothing to justify the statement that there is an exodus of Greeks.

The Sun got its information mainly from Geo. Gouzoules, the immigration agent, the only man in Lowell who knows the number going. The Courier-Citizen was right in the report of the number going yesterday because it got its news from Mr. Gouzoules, not from people who were only guessing.

DETAILS OF THE BATTLE BETWEEN

THE TURKS

MONTENEGRIN ARTILLERY

BULGARIAN FRONTIER AT BELGRADTCHIK

LONDON, Oct. 25.—The Bulgarian and Greek armies have carried out successfully their part of the first stage of the war waged by the Balkan states against Turkey by the capture of Kirk Kilisseh and the Turkish base in the town of Servia. Their allies, Montenegro and Servia, are now working desperately to do their share by overcoming the Turkish hosts at Scutari and Kumanova, which later is the key to Uskuh.

Details of a great battle between the Bulgarians and the Turks at Kilisseh are still lacking. It is believed the Bulgarians expected the fortress to hold out longer, and its quick fall is considered by them a great achievement.

The visitors now expect to cut the communications between Adrianople and Constantinople and to take the former city. That, however, will in the opinion of military experts, be a difficult task as the forts of Adrianople are thoroughly up to date and are connected by an underground motor railway line. The Bulgarians secured a lot of guns, food, and ammunition at Kirk Kilisseh, but particulars on this point, as well as of the number of the prisoners of war have not yet been given out.

Even after the fortress was overcome by the fire of the Bulgarian artillery force fighting took place in the streets of the town into which the Bulgarians effected their entry from the lower part.

A special despatch from Stara Zagora today says the battle was waged from street to street every foot of the ground being obstinately contested.

The Turks on their part declare that the evacuation of Kirk Kilisseh was a "strategic retreatment," a phrase which became familiar during the Russian retreat in Manchuria. They still have a big army at Adrianople and along the line to Constantinople and if, as the Bulgarians say, only 50,000 Ashuk troops have so far reached the theatre of war the Turks have strong reinforcements coming up.

The crown prince of Greece has formally entered the town of Servia from which his army drove the Turks and that city is getting ready to welcome the king of Greece, who is on his way there.

The Montenegrins are still hammering at Tarakosch and Scutari. At the

VERDICT FOR THE DEFENDANT

for Injuries Received

The case of Francis Callahan of Boston against the Boston Elevated Company, which was called in superior court yesterday afternoon and completed this morning the jury returned a verdict for the defendant. The case was one of the quickest tried at this session, being called late yesterday afternoon and finished before noon today.

The plaintiff sought to recover damages to a team, caused by a collision of his horses with a wagon-load of ice and a car of the defendant company, which occurred in Cambridge. The plaintiff claimed that the motor-man of the car was not exercising due care at the time of the accident, charging that he was driving his car at a fast rate of speed down a steep incline. He claimed that he looked before he attempted to cross the tracks, but saw no car. The car came upon him and struck the rear wheel of his wagon, with the result that the vehicle turned turtle, and one of the horses was thrown under the truck. The defense claimed that the driver of the team was not using reasonable care at the time of the accident, and the witnesses for the company testified that the motorman did all in his power to avert the accident. The testimony of court this morning, and then the arguments were made. The case was given to the jury shortly before noon, and after being out but a short time the jury returned with a verdict for the defendant.

The case of Rose B. Planders vs. James E. Sharkey, both of Somerville, was next called. The defendant is charged with a paternal offense. Lawyer L. Makepeace appears for the plaintiff and W. J. Shanahan is counsel for the defendant. This case occupied the entire afternoon session. In the case of Patrick McNulty vs. the Eastern Concrete Construction Co., the jury late yesterday returned a verdict for the defendant.

PLACED UNDER ARREST

Man Wanted by the Greenberg Police

Frank Kosystyniak, aged 24 years, was arrested by Inspector Thomas McCoughy in Andover street this noon on a warrant issued by the Greenberg police charging him with seduction.

Kosystyniak is a resident of Greenberg, which is 20 miles from Pittsborough, and left that place about a week ago and came to this city. Inspector D. E. Dunmire of Greenberg came to this city in search of the man and furnished the local police with a good description of the fugitive and also turned a photo of the man over to the police.

This noon while passing along Andover street Inspector McCoughy saw a man who answered the description and placed him under arrest. Kosystyniak admitted that he was the man whom the police were looking for and said he would go back to Pennsylvania without waiting for extradition papers.

Chelmsford Grange

The members of the Chelmsford grange went to Hudson, N. H., in a special car last evening. They met at Chelmsford Centre at 5:30 o'clock and boarded a special car, which reached Merrimack Square at 1:15 o'clock, after which the grangers went to Hudson.

THE LOWELL ELKS ARE BUSY

Several Important Events Are on the Program—Secretary Cull on the Hustle

The local lodge of Elks, which is among the foremost fraternal organizations in this city, is making great progress towards the establishment of a permanent home here. In many of the other cities, the Elks have homes of their own, and some of the lodge rooms are among the best structures in the country. At the present time there is a large sum in the treasury for the purpose of erecting a building that will not only be a credit to the lodge but also to the city of Lowell.

Plans for the annual ball of the order in aid of the building fund are well under way, and the prospects are very encouraging for this year's event to be one of the most successful in the history of the organization. The lodge was instituted on April 10, 1888, and since that time, many social functions have been conducted under their able and efficient management. Each year the organization has increased its membership and each year the returns have been augmented. These facts argue well for any organization, and are also responsible for the expectation that the ball of this season will bring larger returns than any previously held.

New Feature

Owing to the large increase in the membership and the grist of business attached to the order, it was deemed advisable at the last meeting to set aside a room for an office for the secretary and board of directors of the lodge. This has been done, and while the remodeling is not yet finished the room is a most beautiful apartment and a very useful acquisition to the organization.

It was also decided to have the office open daily, and henceforth Secretary Cull will be at the office during the day. One of the most important furnishings in the office is an addressograph. The latter is one of two in this city. The other is in the office of the Masons.

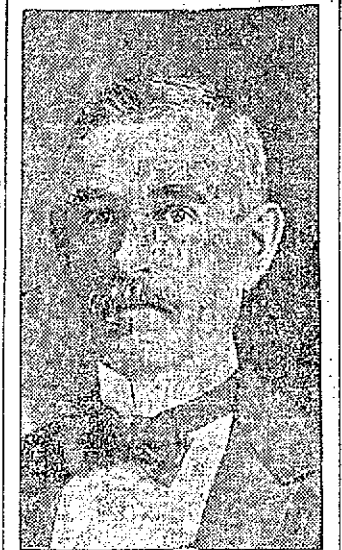

Another device conspicuous in the office is known as the "Crown Press," which is used for postal card communications. While this is of smaller construction, it operates similar to the addressograph. There are also large desks, tables, safes, etc., and the room itself, while uncompleted, is a very beautiful one.

Mr. Cull, secretary of the lodge, is a most capable and courteous official, being an expert bookkeeper, and he has received a number of compliments from the grand lodge office for his excellent appearance of his books and reports. He has held the office for several years, and it's one of the most popular "jobs" in the order. He will also be remembered as the secretary of the Lowell Baseball club, and to him much credit is due for the systematic manner in which both offices are conducted.

JOHN H. CULL,
Secretary Lowell Lodge of Elks

Breathe Booth's HYOMEI and Refreshing Relief will come in Three Minutes

Australian Eucalyptus is a non-irritating, germ destroying fluid that is largely used by Catarrh and Throat Specialists and by physicians of the modern school.

HYOMEI is Australian Eucalyptus combined with the best of Listerian Antiseptics, and when breathed through the nose into the lungs over the sore, inflamed membrane of the nose and throat it surely destroys the pernicious catarrh germs and ends all catarrhal misery.

For Catarrh, Coughs, Colds and Croup Booth's HYOMEI is guaranteed to give satisfaction or money returned.

Try it on that honorable basis; the directions are easy to follow and a complete outfit (inhaler and bottle of HYOMEI) can be obtained at drug-gists for only $1. Extra bottle, if after-ward needed, only 50c. Druggists recom-mend Booth's HYOMEI.

CONGRESSMAN WEEKS

Denies Stories About Express Lobby

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—Congressman John Weeks denied before a meeting of the Postoffice Superintendents' Association last evening at the Brunswick hotel that he had been approached by any express company, had hindered the enactment of a parcel post law. "I have never seen any evidence of it," he said, "during my service in congress. No one has ever come into my office about postoffice business whom I thought had any connection with the express companies. I want to dispute that slander. I don't believe they hindered the passage of the measure. It was not true that congress has been opposed to the plan, at there seemed to be a lack of concentrated public sentiment in its favor, any of the reasons advanced in its behalf did not apply to our country. We have no subsidized railroads; our railroads are not government-owned. Then we have longer railroad hauls than abroad. It costs more here to carry on the postal service. So it is nonsense to say that a parcel can be sent from New York to San Francisco as cheaply as from London to New York.

"There is complaint because we adopted the zone system. We either had to or institute a monopoly. The parcel was fixed at a limit of 11 pounds because that corresponds with our international agreement. If we had taken over the express companies, as some urged before our committee, we should have been obliged to put their 70,000 employees in the classified service, probably entailing an expense of $25,000,000 for increased salaries. And as the profits of the companies are about that sum, no reduction of rates could have been made.

"The demand that parcels be carried to all distances for a flat rate will be insisted. But the government couldn't compete under these conditions, as the express companies would take all the local, profitable business and leave the long-distance, unprofitable business to the parcels post."

building and the matter of a greater structure was discussed yesterday afternoon by a council committee.

A plan was proposed whereby a resolution might be presented to the council petitioning the legislature for the right to borrow $300,000 for carrying out the plans. A proposal to ask for the right to borrow money covering the detailed plans and specifications did not meet with great favor, as the plans might be secured and then be passed on unfavorably.

The tentative plans called for an appropriation of $250,000 for remodeling the building.

Bank Directors Not

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—A petition for leave to accept an offer of $5000 made by one of the directors of the Acushnet Cooperative Bank of New Bedford, in settlement of responsibility arising from the loss of $28,000 to the bank through the alleged misconduct of its former treasurer, Edgar Lord, was filed by Bank Commissioner Thorndike in the supreme judicial court yesterday.

Mr. Thorndike has been in charge of the bank's affairs since Aug. 29, Lord, who was treasurer of both the New Bedford and Acushnet Cooperative banks is held on a charge of embezzlement.

MANY PEOPLE WERE KILLED

Several Hundred Shots Fired in Battle Between Conservatives and Liberals

HAVANA, Oct. 25.—A brisk battle between conservatives and liberals, during which several hundred shots were fired and a number of people were killed and wounded, broke out after midnight in Central park in the heart of the city at the close of an immense outdoor meeting of supporters of Vice President Alfredo Zayas, who is a candidate for the presidency.

The meeting was conducted peacefully until the last speaker ascended the platform when a number of shots were fired, apparently by a group of conservatives gathered in front of a hotel.

Instantly the crowd began to disperse and the rush became general, extending across the park and down the streets.

For ten minutes the firing was so brisk as to resemble the battle of machine guns.

Strong forces of mounted police and cavalry charged repeatedly with drawn sabres and firing rifles. The mob returned the firing from windows and porches.

Here occurred the hottest fighting. Several policemen's horses were shot under them. A number of shots struck the American club opposite the Asberg club.

Reinforcements of police, rural guards and soldiers arrived and the mob which was then composed of adherents of both parties was gradually dispersed. Afterward the park was occupied by a strong force of cavalry for the remainder of the night.

The total of the wounded, which included two women, was about 40, of whom several were fatally hurt.

The fronts of the hotels and cafes facing the park were riddled with bullets. Immediately after the firing had ceased the police raided the Asberg club in search for weapons.

Another meeting held by the conservatives in an outlying borough of the city, also ended in a riot during which many shots were fired. One version of the start of the riot in Central park is that the firing was begun by conservatives returning from their meeting who were exasperated by an attack on them there.

The city is quiet this morning but strong detachments of police and rural guards are on duty. Political excitement runs high, the two factions mutually accusing one another of beginning the riot and both threatening to renew hostilities.

Shot to Death

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, Oct. 25.—Two of the captured officers of the staff of Felix Diaz were shot by the federal troops at half-past ten last evening after being sentenced to death by summary court-martial.

The execution was carried out with secrecy. Their names were Major Zarate and Major Cueto.

The court-martial began its session at 5 p. m. and its judgments must be delivered and the verdict into effect within 72 hours from the time of the meeting.

Major Fernando Zarate and Major Julian Villas are pleading on behalf of Diaz, who according to military law is liable to imprisonment for a term of three to eight years.

Public opinion against Diaz, however, is so strong that it is thought a sentence of death may be pronounced on him as well as on all the officers and government officials who joined his cause and were captured. The troops, however, who rebelled with him will in all likelihood not be punished.

Some of the volunteers who joined Diaz belonged to the leading families of the city. These will be sentenced to short terms of imprisonment when captured but many of them have escaped to the country.

The garrison of Vera Cruz consists of 2,500 men of all branches of the service. The city is quiet and business has been generally resumed.

Miss Snider Sponsor
QUINCY, Oct. 25.—A splendid addition to the American merchant marine will be made Saturday morning when the steamship Frida will be launched.

The Frida is built for the Union Shipbuilding company of New York and is named for a daughter of Hermann Frasch of that city, president of the company.

The Frida will be launched at 11 and will be christened by Miss Adeline H. Snider of New York, a student at Wheaton college, Norton, Mass. It is expected the Frida will be placed in commission late in November.

The Frida is 315 feet in length and of 5,000 tons deadweight on a moderate draft. The vessel is of the single deck, poop, bridge and forecastle type with propelling machinery installed aft and is rigged with three-masted, the fore and main having derricks and cargo discharging gear.

The equipment includes a submarine signal, wireless telegraph installation and night signal and a portometer for the automatic weighing of the cargo.

Fatally Wounded
BINGHAM, Utah, Oct. 25.—Deputy Sheriff L. J. Tidwell was shot in the breast and thigh fatally wounded, Fred Harmon, team foreman, was shot in the arm and leg, and a Greek miner was wounded in a fight between officers and Greek strike pickets when operations by the United States mine tramway were resumed today.

Cut Prices on Medicines, Drugs and Toilet Articles

WHEN RIKER-JAYNES opens a store in a city it means down go the prices on medicines, toilet articles and drugs, and up goes the quality. Why? Because we are following out our principle established years ago to sell everything at 33 1-3 per cent. to 50 per cent. discount. When C. P. Jaynes started the first Jaynes Drug Store (now the Riker-Jaynes Drug Store) he established a reputation for selling medicines one-third lower than retail prices. Jaynes built up a wonderful following with this policy. We always have and we always will continue this policy. We are always figuring how low we can sell these articles and are always trying to buy in larger quantities so we can sell even lower. The public knows we always sell low—other stores know it—and sometimes they advertise to meet our prices and even undersell them for an hour or so. What is the result? Some people go to these sales and the salesman says the articles advertised have just been sold. Then back they come to us. The public knows that we have always sold, are now selling and always will sell medicine, drugs and toilet articles at the very lowest prices, and that the quality of our goods will always be the highest.

Here is a list of patent medicines, drugs and toilet articles. Look at our selling prices and compare them to the regular prices. It's the Riker-Jaynes policy that has kept these prices down. If it wasn't for Riker-Jaynes, other stores wouldn't be vainly trying to meet our cut prices. When everything else has been going up, Riker has kept prices on drugs going down. Always remember this and encourage this policy by buying from us. It's the big volume of business we do that enables us to buy so cheap, and your trade added to the trade of others enables us to give even bigger orders to the wholesaler and manufacturer and consequently give lower prices to you.

SOLEMN SERVICE HELD

Funeral of the Late Owen J. Carney

The funeral of Owen J. Carney, whose death was due to injury received in an automobile accident in Billerica last Saturday night, took place this forenoon from his home at 44 Highland street. It was one of the largest funeral corteges that ever passed through the streets of Lowell.

THE LATE OWEN J. CARNEY

There was a solemn high mass of requiem celebrated at St. Peter's church at 9 o'clock and the church was well filled with the relatives and friends of the departed.

The celebrant of the mass was Rev. John Burns. Rev. Daniel Keleher was deacon and Rev. W. George Mullin sub-deacon. The choir, under the direction of Mr. James E. Donnelly, sang the Gregorian mass. At the offertory Miss Keleher sang "O Meritum Presonae" and, after the elevation, James E. Donnelly sang. The solo in the Libera was sustained by John J. Dalton. The choir rendered "In Paradisum" at the conclusion of the mass, and as the remains were borne from the church "De Profundis" was sung. Mr. Edward J. Shea sustained the solos. Mrs. McKennedy presided at the organ.

There was a large number of out-of-town people in attendance. They came from Boston, New York, Philadelphia and other places, and there were delegations from the Ellis consisting of Fred H. Bourke, John J. Lee, P. A. Mallory, W. W. Murphy, James Horsfall and J. J. Duff. From the Alpines were Frank Warren, Henry Quirbach and John O'Hare. The bearers were Rudolph Wolff, John C. McLaughlin, Thomas Hustwick, Dr. Thomas Cuff, Major Robert J. Crowley, James E. Hearn, Michael Gookin and John McDougall. The ushers at the house and church were Frank Connors, Roger Lang, Dr. J. B. O'Connor, Charles D. Paige and J. Joseph Hennessy, Esq.

The scene at the home of the deceased in Highland street was one of flowers and sorrow. The rose and the lily perfumed the room where sorrow prevailed and where a good man was wrapped in silent slumber.

It would be almost impossible to publish a complete list of flowers, so generous were the offerings and the following list was taken at random:

Mammoth pillow inscribed "Husband and Father," from family; mammoth cross on base inscribed "Gwen," James P. McCarthy and family; wreath on base, Thomas F. Holan and Edward J. Campaign Notes
Every voter in Massachusetts who is in doubt as to how he is going to vote on election day should visit Boston during the coming week and view the tariff chamber of horrors located on Summer street. There will be a number of rooms fully furnished, such as a small family would commonly use, and each article of furniture will be labeled with its price and the tariff tax which shows why the price is so high. There will also be a collection of American household utensils, mechanical tools and articles of clothing with price tags showing how much cheaper these articles are sold by American manufacturers to the foreigners abroad than to our own people here at home. This is the same tariff exhibit which has been on view in New York city and been visited by over 250,000 persons. This is truly a campaign of education.

It did not cost much effort for Woodrow Wilson to force (Foss) victory on the democratic party in this state by insisting on the governor being a candidate for re-election.

The Wilson and Marshall club of Concord have purchased a pair of O'Sullivan rubber heels and put them over their door as a token of good luck in the place of the horse shoe which had been there.

Humphrey O'Sullivan, democratic candidate for congress in the new Fifth congressional district, is making a surprisingly effective campaign for votes. Always genial and generous, he now shows so earnest and convincing a manner in his presentation of campaign issues that the great majority of voters, whatever their party affiliations, are going away satisfied with O'Sullivan's candidacy.

This was particularly marked in the whirlwind tour of the district made this week. O'Sullivan's friends are confidently predicting his election.

CHARLES LATHROP PACK

New President of Conservation Body

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Oct. 25.—Charles Lathrop Pack of this city, recently elected president of the national conservation congress in Indianapolis, has long been interested in conservation. He was the first American to study forestry, in Germany, and he was the first man in the United States to practice forestry, having received fees from Jay Gould for expert advice on timber lands.

SUPREME COURT SITS

In Order to Make Test of Eggs

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Four hundred and forty-three cases of frozen eggs of the vintage of 1910 occupied the attention yesterday of the supreme court of the United States. The members of that tribunal were engaged in determining whether the eggs were decomposed.

Ralph S. Rounds, attorney for the claimant of the eggs, argued that the eggs were not "decomposed," within the meaning of the pure food law, and told the court that the case was the most important of all five pure food cases which had come before it for consideration, because it would decide whether the pure food law was to be interpreted according to the view of the "young men in the department of agriculture, or according to common sense." He said that the common sense way of interpreting the law was to give to the word "decomposed" the meaning of "rotten, decomposed, or putrid," and not make the decomposition depend upon the number the bacilli cell that could be counted in an egg.

Mr. Rounds informed the court that there were four grades of eggs, "current use," "seconds," "checks" and "spies."

"Do you mean to say that there are four grades of strictly fresh eggs?" inquired Justice Holmes. This confidence was restored by a negative answer.

A WOMAN'S BEAUTY

All Specialists Agree That It Cannot Be Obtained by the Use of Cosmetics.

Beauty—real beauty—is more than skin deep. No cosmetic in the world can give the whole some color, the bright eyes, the clear transparent skin that is the natural result of pure blood, proper diet and hygienic habits of daily life.

It sounds easy and it is easy for a woman to have the beauty which health alone can give. A safe and efficient tonic if the blood is weak, thin or impure (Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are especially recommended), the avoidance of foods which will cause eruptions, and regular bathing of the skin. That is all and it is the only way. Most women will be interested in the following statement:

Mrs. Agnes Goodworth, of No. 86 Grace street, Mt. Washington, Pittsburgh, Pa., says: "I was in a run-down condition, which developed into anorexia and nervous prostration. For two or three years I was doctoring and was confined to bed for from four to six weeks every few months. I was pale and weak. I couldn't sleep and was so nervous and irritable that I could hardly stand it. I had no appetite and nothing that I ate agreed with me. I lost weight and became completely run down. The doctor said I didn't have enough blood and at last advised me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. In about a week I began to gain. They did wonders for me. I gained in flesh and strength, had a good color and was entirely cured. Later I gave them to my little boy who had no appetite and was sickly. He commenced to gain right away and is now strong and healthy. I can heartily recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for people who are run down and have no blood. Women, especially, will be benefited by them. I gave them to my daughter and they built her up wonderfully. It is my duty to speak good words for a remedy which has done so much for my family."

Write to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Box 178, Schenectady, N. Y., for a free booklet, "Plain Talks to Women." It should be read by every woman and growing girl. A free sample of the new laxative "Pinklets" will also be sent you. VALUES COLLAPSE

I have no sentimental regard for the cost price, for the market value, for the inherent worth of things when I decide to make a market for those things.

I'd be kidding only myself if I told you that this Key West weather in October was not hurrying my winter clothing trade. I'd be kidding only myself if I carried over till next year the goods I ought to sell this winter.

I can't bring home my immense stock of Winter Overcoatings and Suitings and frame them. I must sell them. You must buy them—I say you must buy because I am going to sell them Friday and Saturday at prices that will make you buy them.

Thirty-four different styles in Brown and Gray Overcoatings, the popular shades this season, in plaid backs, shaggy rough mixtures, made any style. No restriction in length. A store full of staples in Johnson's Fancy Kerseys, Black and Blue Meltons, Heavy Weight Worsted Suitings, Premier Worsteds, Wanskuk Serges, Sheriff Worsteds, North Adams Worsteds, Standish Worsteds. MITCHELL, THE Tailor 24 Central St., Lowell. Open Evenings

The attorney explained that the government had first charged that the product was "filthy, decomposed or putrid," but now only claimed that it was "decomposed."

The court continued its study of the egg today.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The regular meeting of Highland council, Royal Arcanum, was held last night in Highland hall and considerable business was transacted.

Seven applications were received for the product which will be held on Nov. 14. At the conclusion of the business meeting an enjoyable entertainment was carried out by the Honey Boy minstrels and addresses were made by the following officers of the order: Alfred C. Turner of Boston, supreme secretary; Charles J. Taylor of Baltimore, L. J. Meiser of St. Louis, and W. C. Shurtliff of Chicago, members of the financial committee of the supreme council; and Curtis H. Wadsworth of Boston, supreme deputy grand regent.

The remainder of the evening was spent informally, cigars being passed around and refreshments served. At the regular meeting of Waverly lodge, Sons of St. George, two candidates will be initiated and several matters of importance will be acted upon this evening. The anniversary committee will make a report and it is hoped that a good attendance of the members will be present to hear it. Final arrangements of the affair will also be made. The general committee will meet at the conclusion of the lodge session.

Knights of Pythias

Lowell lodge, Knights of Pythias, met in regular session at their hall, 134 Merrimack street last night. There was a large attendance and considerable business was transacted. It was voted to draw up a set of resolutions of regret on the death of Brother William Kershaw, a member of the lodge.

Brother C. Baker, P. C., gave an interesting account of his trip through the Provinces.

Franco-American Society

A very important meeting of the Franco-American Historical society of New England was held in Boston at the City club. The affair was attended by nearly all members and a feature of the evening was the election of officers for the ensuing year.

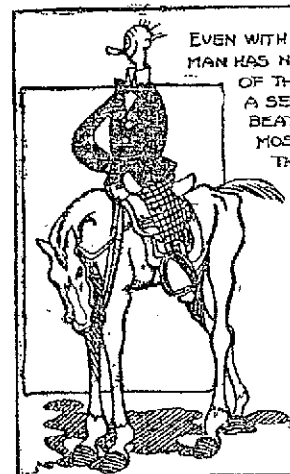

At 7 o'clock the members sat down to a banquet which was followed by an interesting lecture by Rev. Camille Roy of Quebec, professor at the Laval university, who took for his text, "Portrait de M. Gaspe."

The election of officers resulted as follows: Dr. J. A. Bedard, Lynn, president; Henri Boudet, Manchester, N. H., vice president; J. A. Favreau, Boston, secretary; Hector L. Belisle, Lawrence, assistant secretary; J. H. Guillet, Esq., Lowell, treasurer; Hon. Henri T. Legoux, Nashua, N. H., Louis E. Cadieux, Boston, J. E. Lachance, Manchester, and Clarence F. Cormier, Waltham, directors.

Considerable routine business was transacted, and interesting remarks were delivered by all members of the new board of officers. Among the Lowell people who attended the meeting were: Messrs. Louis P. Turcotte, Paul Yveant, Thomas Bourque, J. H. Guillet, Esq., and Rev. Joseph M. Blais, O. M. I.

Latest in Ships is the "Sea Automobile"

ONE OF THE TWO "SEA AUTOMOBILES," THE SELANDIA

Not since the turbine appeared on the scene in the marine engineering world, promising relief from the defects of the reciprocating engine, has so great an advance been made in that line as that of the "sea automobile," newest of ships.

The recent appearance of the latter in New York and other great ports of the world around the discovery of marine engines. They are unobtrusive, or almost so, in calling the ocean going motor driven vessels the forerunner of a revolution in navigation. There are now only two of these ships about, the Christian X, and the Selandia, but there will soon be others. Both vessels were built in a few days they will drive from the sea together, the reciprocating engine vessel and the newer turbine driven ship. Most nautical experts will not go so far as that, however, while conceding to the navy the merits proved by successful experiment.

"Sea automobile" is a good term for the Selandia and the Christian X, but the reader must imagine an automobile in the shape of a steamship. 375 feet long and 53 feet wide. He must equip her with three masts, but he must by no means picture her as the Christian X, or the Selandia at sea or in port. The first thing he does is rub his eyes. Then if he is near enough, he looks at her and wants to know what has become of her funnels. Captain Niss of the Christian X, reported on his arrival in New York from New Orleans the other day that he had been queried by every ship he had sighted as to what he had done with his smokestacks.

Like its land relative, the sea automobile burns oil, but fuel oil, not gasoline. Fuel oil is what is left of petroleum after the gasoline and the kerosene have been removed by distillation.

Gasoline is not suited for use in marine power plants. Its volatile nature makes it dangerous to ship and crew and cargo. Besides, it is not safe from the possibility of forming an explosive mixture with the air. The by-products of combustion are discharged through apertures in the upper part of the hull and the smoke from the galley fires through the mizzenmast.

In non-technical language it may be said that the Christian X, and the Selandia are propelled by compressed air and crude fuel oil, highly expanded, hitting pistons. It may almost be said that the vessels "kick" themselves along, but the "kick" comes on its side and so continuously and are applied in such a manner by the proper coupling of the eight cylinders of the internal explosion motors that the progress of the vessels through the water is steady and smooth. There is no jerkiness in the movement. The cylinders are coupled in pairs and are of 1250 horsepower to each series of four.

ning of the new motor driven vessels marks an advance in economy over the steamship. For instance, in a steamship of the size of the Christian X, or her sister ship 45 men would be needed in the engine room to handle the 50 tons of coal she would burn every 24 hours of steady sailing. In the "sea automobile" only ten men are required. This means a saving of at least $500 a month in wages and food. The first cost of the ship is greater, but there is a saving in the end. According to an eminent New York engineer, "an oil engine ship is more expensive to build and equip than a steam engine ship. In the case of such large vessels as the Selandia and Christian X, the difference is as much as $50,000. The East Asiatic company of Copenhagen, the concern for which these two vessels were built, estimated that there would be a saving of some $25,000 per annum for each ship if equipped with motors in place of steam engines.

"Each ship was supposed to make three round trips or voyages from Copenhagen to the far east via the Suez canal in that time. This plan was changed later, and the Christian X, was sent from Europe to New Orleans and then to New York. The Selandia, however, also upon a gain of a thousand tons in cargo space (saved by the smaller size of the engines), which represents to them not less than $5000 per voyage, or $15,000 per ship per annum. If the calculations of the owners are correct the extra cost of these 16,000 ton motorships will have been earned and written off within 18 months."

The Season's Coat Length

The length of the coat to accompany the walking suit is a question that is uppermost in the minds of women who are buying or ordering their winter garb. The edict has gone forth that for tailored suits the length is to be 32 or 34 inches long, cut away in front and ending in a broad curve or blunt point in the back. Some of the very extreme models in "cutaway" effects reach in the back to the end of the skirt, but this very long swallow-tailed coat is too bizarre to be adopted by women who dress well.

The style most favored is buttoned over slightly on the left side and has the Robespierre collar and revers so arranged that they can be opened up when the weather permits. Some are made with perfectly straight cut backs and others have a slight fullness at the belt and a decided flare on the side seams.

Nearly all have slightly rounded or pointed corners, and all show the modified cutaway effect. The Robespierre collar, with vest of a contrasting material, is very much liked. The sleeves in these coats are mostly of the set-in variety, with medium large armholes.

Velvet collars and velvet band buttonholes and large ornamental buttons trim the best and most attractive models.

It's Oyster Season

With the oyster season comes a novelty which no one can afford to overlook. It is made in both Sheffield plate and solid or sterling silver and is to hold the slice of lemon which must be on each plate, and in using it one avoids the very disagreeable experience of having a sticky lemon juice run over one's hands and fingers, an incident which for many a person almost spoils the oysters.

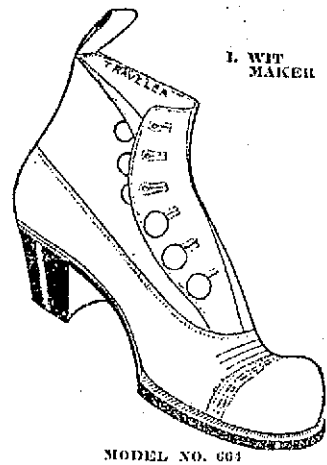

The holder is designed like two dairy clamps on either side of a long prong, the quarter of lemon is slipped on the prong and by pressing the two unperforated clamps the juice is squeezed down on the oysters or clams and one's fingers escape. This should also be used for serving sardines and is also for salmon or anything with which lemon is served. These cost in Sheffield plate $1 each and in solid silver $2 each. Nothing could make a more acceptable bride's gift than a set of these lemon holders, for they are useful and unusual, and for any home they are among the items which mark the up to date and alert hostess at whose dinners and luncheons some special and attractive notion is sure to be found. These are not expensive.

River is High

The heavy rainfall during the past week has caused a big rise in the waters of the Merrimack river and according to information received at the Locks & Canals it is thought that the water will rise much higher.

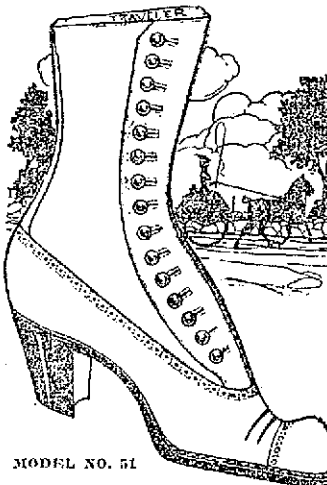

At the present time the water is up to the top of the flash boards on the top of the granite dam and the strain has been so severe on the boards that several of the stay rods have been bent outward and the water is running over the boards.

When the mills close tonight it will cause the water in the river to rise and it is expected that many of the boards will be washed away.

THE PROGRESSIVE PARTY

Urged Gov. Foss to Call Special Session

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—Gov. Foss was urged to call a special session of the legislature for the enactment of a senatorial preference law in a communication delivered at the state house by members of the progressive party today.

The progressives marched in the rain up Beacon hill stopping at the republican and democratic headquarters on the route and inviting the members of the other parties to join them. Gov. Foss was not on hand to receive the callers. He was on a tour of the sixth and seventh congressional districts. He had previously issued a statement declining to call the legislature together as the body, he said, had three times refused his request for the enactment of such a law.

The governor's program today called for sixteen speeches in as many cities and towns and evening addresses at Salem, Peabody and Danvers. At these latter meetings he expected to be accompanied by Gov. Emmett O'Neal of Alabama, who was to discuss national issues.

Joseph Walker, the republican candidate for governor, had evening rallies planned for Waltham, Medford and Stoneham, while the progressive leader, Charles Bird, gave his attention to Cambridge, North Cambridge, Arlington, Waltham and Watertown with hourly speeches from 10 a. m. until nearly midnight.

Elbert B. Martin, who disarmed John Schrank after his attack on Col. Roosevelt in Milwaukee, spoke at a progressive rally in Faneuil hall today. George E. Roosevelt, a cousin of the colonel, was another speaker.

Ribbon Bracelets

The woman who suffers the annoyance of having her long gloves constantly slipping down to her wrists can find relief in a pair of ribbon bracelets, which will look best when they match the gloves in color. These little accessories can be made at home the materials needed being one yard and three-quarters of soft ribbon about two inches wide and half a yard of narrow elastic.

Divide the ribbon into three equal parts and the elastic into two parts. To make a single bracelet seam the edges of one piece of ribbon together and fold it so that the seam comes at the center of the underside. Slip on the elastic, pull up the ribbon on it and join elastic and ribbon end to end.

Out of one half of another of the ribbon pieces make a tiny puff or some other device to hide the joining. The little bracelet slips up the arm and catches the glove just above the elbow.

Sunday Night Teas

A woman whose husband was obliged to work on Sundays found the day dull and lonely. Remembering the number of people who have unexpected guests Sunday afternoon, she had cards printed announcing that hot muffins and biscuits and salads and jellies were for sale at her home from 3 till 7. The salads, cakes, etc., she prepared on Saturday and Sunday morning. The biscuit dough was in the refrigerator for the oven at a moment's notice and the materials for the muffins baking spread out on the kitchen table. Most of her friends and patrons had telephones, and by previous notice she had their orders ready when they arrived. Finally her trade increased so much that she hired two boys to deliver orders for her. Neatness and cleanliness were the attraction to her wares, and after once tasted the fluffy biscuits or delicious salads the patrons could not help but form the habit of having "Mrs. B's Sunday supper" as a regular thing.

She kept plenty of cardboard boxes and waxed paper on hand for the orders, but wrapped the hot breads in plain white crepe paper napkins, as she claimed the waxed paper did not absorb the moisture and consequently the hot breads were apt to be soggy if wrapped in it. Salads were sold in waxed paper cartons.

The New Tailored Blouse

The new blouse has no yoke in the back and is absolutely without tuck or fold in front, though for very thin figures there is a style with a single plait laid in at the shoulders which is becoming, yet does not make the blouse fuzzy. The sleeve is put in just like a man's shirt sleeve, with a wide double seam stitched twice around. The armhole is large. The box plait in front is narrow and stitched on each edge. The cuffs are soft and turn back upon themselves with rounded corners on the turnback portion. The collar is made of self material and is a turnover, unstarched.

A four-in-hand tie is worn with it and a gold safety pin holds the points of the collar together very smartly. For more formal wear a black satin stock with a narrow turn-over of white pique is chosen.

This blouse may be purchased in the shops carried out in wash silks, both plain white and striped. Especially smart are the white silks striped with hair lines of black, either singly or in clusters of four or five.

In wash cotton material madras is the favorite. One very good blouse seen recently is of white with a wide stripe of dull blue. It would look well with dull gold links and a fine four-in-hand tie to match the blue of the stripe.

Two Young Men and a Black Dog Will Make Trip Around World

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Walter Standow and Henry Danes, two young men who have already made reputations as walkers in Europe, have started on a pedestrian tour of the world that will not only take them around the globe, but will take them into every country. They will be accompanied by "Jack," a black dog with a willingness to travel on foot. The idea of the tour was formed some years ago when the young men attended a banquet in Germany at which Sun Chong Tai, mayor of Hong Kong, was a guest. He invited the pedestrians to visit his country and agreed to assist them in every way if they would make a tour of the Chinese empire with a view of arousing an interest in walking.

REV. GEORGE KENNGOTT

Addressed Men of the

At the opening meeting of the Men of the Round Table of the First Baptist church last evening, Rev. George F. Kenngott, departing pastor of the First Trinitarian Congregational church, delivered an address on the subject of "Social Service."

A large attendance characterized the event and preceding the address a bounteous supper was served the gathering.

President Frederick J. Flemings presided at the meeting and briefly outlined the work of the organization. He then introduced Rev. Mr. Kenngott, who said in part:

"The first impression one gets of this country of ours is size. I have traveled across the continent twice and have received the idea of immensity which carries with it. This very immensity is one of the difficulties that confronts us in this big problem of today. The population, too, is scattered and unevenly distributed, figures from the last census showing 26 persons to the square mile of territory. And when it is remembered that Lowell with 10 square miles of territory contains over 100,000 souls and other cities in proportion, some idea of the scattered population of the more isolated sections of the country can be obtained. Another difficulty is the different conditions under which the immigrants are coming. The work lies here in this country in comparison with their own. For instance many of the foreigners in our city come from farms, were shepherds or engaged in some employment entirely different from what is met in their new country. Another difficulty is of a political nature. What is feasible in New England is not feasible in the south and what would be the proper thing in the south would not do in California.

There are different matters of legislation in the various states, too, where there should be national legislation. There should be national legislation for the conservation of natural resources. For instance, the Mississippi river; one state empties its sewage into it, and another state uses the river for its water supply. For an example nearer home take our own Merrimack. New Hampshire cities empty sewage into it and our Massachusetts city of Lawrence drains it. Our national legislation has not yet reached the scale of Germany's which forces all the people to the time and all of the natural resources.

"A sense of nationality is also apparent today. It has become a good thing to be an American. The Spanish war helped that spirit along. While there was a militant spirit in some, most of it was like that of the Crusader. It was an appeal to a Christian spirit; some one was suffering and the conditions must be rectified.

"The day of individuals is past. We are now fighting the battle shoulder to shoulder, for new principles. And the churches must co-operate with each other in the battle for the things in life which are right.

In conclusion the speaker referring to Lowell, said:

"Now, you men of Lowell know your city. Study its past. Study its present population, its tongue, where it originated and how it lives. Tuberculosis and intermarriage go hand in hand with poor housing, unsanitary conditions. Remember the unhygienic, dirty, darkness and dampness. Remember the average scale member that because the average scale member is something about $9, that that fact does not help the poor unfortunate who gets $5. And because on that $5 he can save a dollar, is no credit to the community. The emphasis must be laid, not on the cheapness of labor, but on the efficiency of labor. Massachusetts stands first of the states in labor laws and while our state will work for a disadvantage against the long hours, and cheaper labor of the south, Massachusetts will ultimately reap the benefit of it. Some labor is costly at any price and must be watered down. In this social service work there is a lack of union. There is no concentration of resources in this undemocratic cause. In these last few words I wish to leave you this message: We must concentrate our resources, our abilities, our money to overcome the difficulties and make this city of Lowell a holy city."

Rev. Selden W. Cummings, who is soon to leave his pastorate at the First church, made a brief address in which he thanked the men of the Round Table for their help and wished them great success in their work in the next year.

ANNUAL DANCING PARTY

Relief Corps

Odd Fellows hall in Centralville was the scene of a very pretty social function last night, the occasion being the second annual dancing party and fair under the auspices of B. F. Butler Women's Relief Corps. No. 76, auxiliary to Post 42. The attendance was large and the affair proved to be a social as well as financial success.

The interior of the hall was decorated in a very attractive and artistic manner, the national colors predominating. Booths and tables which were placed at points of vantage around the hall were very prettily decorated and did a thriving business.

In the afternoon a sale of goods was held and a neat sum of money was realized.

General dancing was enjoyed last night from eight o'clock until a late hour, music being furnished by the Merrimack orchestra.

General chairman, Mrs. K. G. Gott; treasurer, Mrs. Ellen Goodwin; chairman of decorations, Mrs. Bessie Cummings. Apron and fancy tables: Mrs. S. Blanche Cummings and Mrs. Lydia Bartlett, chairman, Mrs. Ella B. Hight, Mrs. Josephine P. MacDonald, Mrs. Carrie Warren and Mrs. MacDonald. Cake and ice cream tables: Mrs. Elizabeth Williams and Mrs. Bessie H. Cummings, chairman, Mrs. Sarah Simmons, Mrs. Lizzie W. Rhine, Mrs. McIntire, Mrs. B. A. Thissell, Mrs. Lizzie Ober, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Helena Quinn. Candy table: Mrs. Alice Patch, chairman, Miss Mary May, Miss Mary Smith, Miss Pauline G. Cummings,

A little Danderine now will immediately double the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it

LOCKE MAY GET FOGEL'S JOB

As President of Phillies—Manager Evers Plans Big Shake-up of Cubs

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—One of the biggest pieces of news in baseball here yesterday was the arrival of William Locke, for many years secretary of the Pittsburgh team of the National league. He came into the city quietly and had a good hour's conference with President Murphy. A report that would not down and widely published here is that Locke is wanted for the position as president of the Philadelphia team of the National league, and was here conferring with Murphy regarding the probable ousting of Horace Fogel. Locke stands very well indeed with all the magnates of the senior baseball organization, and there is little doubt that it would be an entirely popular move to place him at the head of the Phillies. One version of Mr. Locke's visit here is that he was after the original copy of the Fogel story, which was published here and caused all the row. In some quarters it is believed that Murphy was the author of the Fogel story attacking the National league umpires. Mr. Locke, after his conference with Murphy, absolutely declined to discuss the subject of their interview. Murphy was also silent.

Evers Gets Job
The appointment of John J. Evers as manager of the Cubs of 1913 was made "official" yesterday afternoon. Immediately there were rumors of some big deals. Evers says his first official act will be to get a man to fill the position of Joe Tinker, who is almost sure to go to the Cincinnati Reds. Mike Doohan, shortstop of the Philadelphia National league team and a very capable infielder, has caught the eye of the new Cub leader, and Johnny is planning negotiations with the Philadelphia management. "I want to get Doohan if it is possible," said Evers. "I consider him one of the best men in either league, and I would be willing to make some kind of a three-cornered deal to secure him. There will be a number of changes made in the line-up for the Cubs for 1913. I am looking for a man to take the place of Jimmy Sheckard. He is not fast enough. He is a good ball player, but I want a faster man. I have in mind a three-cornered trade involving Chicago, Cincinnati and Philadelphia. It would be premature to announce all the details of this trade just now."

From reliable sources it has been learned that Tinker has agreed to accept the position of manager for Harry Herberman's club, to take the place of Hank O'Day. Evers says his team will line up about as follows: Center field, Miller; left field, Hill; open; with Frank Schulte, right field. The infield will be made up of Sheckard on first, Evers on second, and Zimmerman on third. Should Johnny fail to land Doohan for short, he will turn his attention to some other good man, but he is going to try hard for the Philly star. Archer will do the greater part of the work behind the bat. Needham will likely find himself elsewhere next year, as will some of the other recruits, for Johnny wants another catcher of class who can relieve Archer in times of need. That some of the pitchers will be sold or traded also is sure, but just who will go could not be learned.

PRES. JAS. E. GAFFNEY

Enthusiastic Over Braves Prospects for 1912

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—President Jas. E. Gaffney of the Boston Nationals is enthusiastic over the prospects for next season. He said Wednesday that he had signed George Stallings to a three years' contract, to take effect Jan. 1; also that he had secured the best players in the North eastern league. Mr. Gaffney has received word from Bud Sharpe, manager of the Oakland club, that in William James of Vancouver the Boston Nationals will have another Matthews. James won fifteen straight games this year and was a sensation in the northwest. Bert Whaling of Seattle has made a great record behind the bat. He worked in 133 games, had seven errors and threw out 188 would-be base stealers. Pitcher Noyes of Spokane ranks second in point of effectiveness. Pitcher Strand of Seattle was practically unbeatable in the last month of the campaign. A year ago the Red Sox bought him for $4500, of which $2500 was paid in cash to bind the bargain, but in some way the deal fell through. Meyers, a first baseman with Spokane, stole 116 bases, a record for organized baseball; the Spokane team as a whole pilfering a total of 209 sacks. Mr. Gaffney has also barged Thompson, a big left-hander from Seattle; Gervais, a pitcher from Vancouver, and De Voght, who did first class work behind the bat for the Spokane club.

McIntosh Wants Boxers
MILWAUKEE, Oct. 25.—Hugh McIntosh, the Australian promoter, positively declines to further negotiate with Jack Johnson. Tom Andrews received a cablegram from the Australian promoter to drop all matters with Johnson as he will not be permitted to box there.

Andrews was authorized by McIntosh to open negotiations for the services of Harlem Tommy Murphy, Gunboat Smith and Dave Smith. Joe Jeanette and Buck Crouse were included in the list. Jeanette is out of the question, however, and Crouse is abroad at present.

Jimmy Clabby, who agreed to the terms offered him for another trip, is now underpaid about going. Clabby is doing so well with his cafe in Hammond, Ind., that he is seriously thinking of calling everything off and boxing in the future near his home town.

THE ST. LOUIS BRANCH WIFE AIDS SICKLES

Of the Lowell Bleachery Has Sale of His Effects Almost Finished Postponed

The machinery for the St. Louis branch of the Lowell Bleachery, which is being manufactured at the local plant, is practically all finished and the western plant will soon be ready for occupancy.

As was previously stated in this paper, the increasing business at the Bleachery, made it necessary to secure more room, and inasmuch as many of the orders received here come from the western section of the country, it was deemed feasible to open a branch of the local concern in that locality. The building was leased some time ago, and the machinists at the local mill, who are among the best in this vicinity, were assigned to the work of manufacturing the machines for the branch factory.

The work on the new devices was started several weeks ago and yesterday, six carloads were shipped to St. Louis. These will be immediately installed and in a few weeks' work will be started there.

A number of the employees of the Lowell mill will be employed in the St. Louis mill, which will be under the complete supervision of the local officials. The orders and payments will be received here, and all business connected with the western branch will be transacted through the local office.

The principal line of goods to be handled in the branch mill will be shoe duck. The latter is used for the lining of shoes and is very heavy work. The majority of the orders received here come from the west and owing to the establishment of the branch, the crowded conditions here, be relieved and quicker service will be given those who supply the work.

The new branch of the Lowell Bleachery is the result of increasing business, and the plant at the present time, and during the last few years has enjoyed a remarkably prosperous era. The company is in charge of a very capable and popular board of officials, and the booming business there is a tribute to their successful management.

Root Elected Lecturer

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 25.—The election of United States Senator Elihu Root of New York as Stafford Little lecturer on public affairs was announced here yesterday at the regular fall meeting of the board of trustees of Princeton university. This chair was held by former President Grover Cleveland until his death in 1908. Former Mayor McClellan of New York then held the lectureship for two years. Senator Root succeeds Joseph H. Choate, who held the chair last winter.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—A plea against a sale of the personal effects of Gen. Daniel E. Sickles, the war veteran who was formerly ambassador to Spain, was made yesterday by his estranged wife, to Sheriff Harburger, who agreed to a postponement of the threatened sale when Mrs. Sickles promised to pay about Nov. 10 money necessary to satisfy a new judgment against her husband.

This is the second time in a month that Mrs. Sickles has come to the veteran's aid. On the other occasion she pawned jewelry that was her property when a belle in the court of Spain when Gen. Sickles knew her there. This action led to a report that the couple would be reconciled, but although Mrs. Sickles paid the judgment their social relations remained as before, such in a statement declaring their reunion was impossible.

Surprise Party

Eugene A. Tansey was tendered a very enjoyable surprise party at his home, 10 Alder street, by a number of his friends, the occasion being his 21st birthday anniversary. The host was presented a beautiful gold watch, the presentation speech being made by John J. Payne.

The evening was spent in games and a musical program was given. Among those taking part were: John J. Payne, John Curry, Miss Winnie McCormack, Miss Mary Carroll and Miss Catherine O'Connor. Thomas Purcell was the accompanist of the evening. Refreshments were served during the evening by Miss May Tansey and Miss Lillian Ladarsky. The gathering broke up at a reasonable hour, all wishing Mr. Tansey many happy returns of the day.

Held a Whist Party

The members of Cercle St. Louis gave a whist at the St. Louis parochial school last night. The affair was largely attended and proved to be a great success. Garde Frontenac, Capt. Albert Bergeron in command, gave a very interesting exhibition drill and an entertainment program was also rendered. Mr. Philippe Chaput presided over the whist, and several handsome prizes were awarded the winners. Among those present were Rev. J. N. Jacques, pastor, and Rev. R. A. Fortier, chaplain of the circle.

It takes good food to build children like these—

and in this case, what is good for the child is good for the grown-ups.

Oatmeal is an admirable food. In its combined richness of protein (which builds brain, bone, flesh and blood) and fat and carbohydrates (which supply heat and energy) oatmeal leads other foods.

If you want the authority for this statement, send for the U. S. Department of Agriculture Bulletin No. 249, and look on page 12.

There are other good foods to give children, but you can always be sure that oatmeal is a safe, sure food; and if you serve H-O Oatmeal you can be sure that it will always be properly cooked.

Twenty minutes on your stove plus the more-than-two-hours' cooking we give it in the mill, insures that.

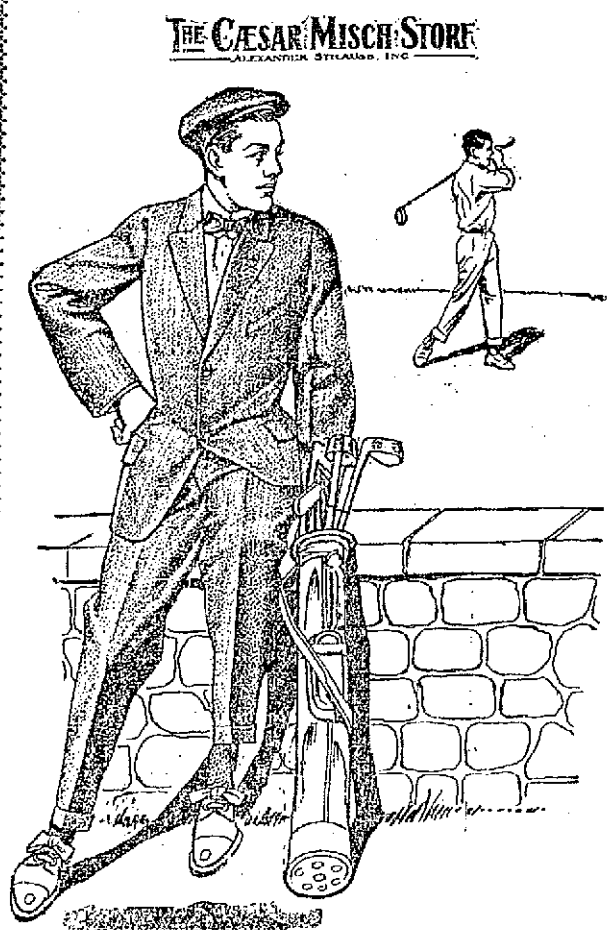

Right away, order a package of H-O from your grocer, at less than half-cent a dish.

Conant's Sales
The report of this week's auction sales by J. E. Conant & Co. shows that they have sold three large manufacturing plants with a total which aggregates nearly $46,440. Their report of the transactions is as follows:

"On Tuesday forenoon we sold the E. E. Poore plant of the Federal Biscuit company at Lawrence, Mass., to John Shea of Lawrence for $9440. On Wednesday afternoon we sold part of the real estate of the C. D. Boss & Son, Inc., plant of the Federal Biscuit company at New London, Conn., to Ernest E. Rogers et al. of New London, for $24,250. On Thursday afternoon we sold the realties of the Leeds & Catlin plant at Middletown, Conn., to Dale D. Butler and S. L. Calkins of Middletown, for $12,750. The three sales approach a total of at least $46,460. The sale at Middletown was illustrative of the indifference with which the honest advertisements of properties pledged to the highest bona fide bidders at absolute auction sale are sometimes received. The sale of the properties at Middletown was worthy of much better attendance than it received, and the prices realized were much less than they should have been. There was some comment in the town after the sale to the effect that had these talking been present at the sale, they would have bid much more for the properties, but they did not believe that the owners would allow the properties to be sold at such low prices. The point the sale so perfectly illustrates is that the bidder without qualification to sell to the highest bona fide bidders must have been purposely interpreted to suit some peculiar process of reasoning. Such pledges to sell are really binding."

MILITIA AND POLICE DENY

That They Fired Shots During the Fatal Riot in Lawrence on January 29th

SALEM, Oct. 25.—Members of the Massachusetts militia were in court today to testify in the trial of Joseph J. Eitor, Arturo Giovannitti and Joseph Caruso for the Lopez murder in the Lawrence strike. Thus, Capt. Eitor, captain of the 24th regiment, who began his testimony yesterday, was ready to resume the stand.

The prosecution planned to show by the militia's evidence that none of the shots fired in the riot of Jan. 29, when the killing occurred and none of the shots fired at the climax of the riot came from the militia's guns. The Commonwealth maintained that not a policeman or soldier fired a shot.

Capt. Eitor again took the stand and his cross-examination was begun by Attorney Fisk. He said that his detachment of 24 soldiers was near the scene of the riot at Garden and Union streets on the evening of Jan. 29. He said he arrived at the corner, Capt. Eitor said he heard six shots fired in quick succession and within 10 minutes he heard 20 or more shots. At that time in Lawrence scattered about the strike district, Capt. Eitor said, were about seven hundred militiamen, armed with rifles. Some were authorized to carry revolvers also. Six men in his company had 25 calibre revolvers.

"Were you interested to know the result of the autopsy on the body of the woman who was shot that night?" asked Attorney Fisk.

"In a general way," replied Captain Eitor.

"And you learned that she was shot with a 38-calibre bullet?"

"No, sir," answered the captain. "It is unknown what it was. It looked like one, but might have been something else."

Asked if he recalled any time when the civil authorities of Lawrence directed the movements of the soldiers, Capt. Eitor declared they had no authority to do so and did not. He related his positive declaration that none of the soldiers in his detachment fired a shot during the disturbance of the 29th.

Daniel Harrington, a private in Company D, Eighth regiment, who actively engaged with the strikers on the evening of Jan. 29, testified that in the crowd just before the murder he saw several strikers armed with revolvers, clubs and knives.

"One of the strikers in a mixup at Garden and Union streets hit me on the jaw with a club," said Harrington, "while we were driving the crowd back. I thought it was pretty near time for us to use the runs then, but we didn't."

"Did you see any firearms?" asked Dist. Atty. Atwell.

"Yes; one striker ran out on Garden street and pointed his revolver at me," Harrington answered. "I picked up my rifle and hit him over the shoulder with the butt end of the gun. He ran away. I saw another man with a revolver at almost the same time. He was jerking at the soldiers and shouting 'let's go and get them.'"

The judge asked how many people there were in the street at the time. The witness said there was four or five hundred.

Thomas Quinn, a special policeman, testified that he saw the defendant Caruso on the night of Jan. 29 in front of the Italian postoffice near the scene of the Anna Lopez killing, about 15 minutes before the shooting.

"Caruso," said Quinn, "had a large club in his hand, a club three feet and a half long. He was in front of the crowd and another man beside him carried a club."

Frank Elliot of Boston, captain of Company C, 9th regiment, described the rioting on the morning of Jan. 29 when the street cars were attacked.

"One of my detachments on Essex street that morning," said the captain, "was almost overwhelmed by the rioters. They were being stoned and pelted with ice and I had to call for more troops to drive back the rioters."

On this morning the captain declared he heard shots fired, the shots coming from the strikers in the streets. Capt. Elliot in cross examination said eight of his men carried revolvers but did not use them and were not at the scene of the fatal riot.

MILITIA AND POLICE DENY THAT THEY FIRED SHOTS DURING THE RIOT

SALEM, Oct. 25.—Militiamen and police officers denied positively today in the trial of Eitor, Giovannitti and Caruso for the murder of Anna Lopez in the Lawrence textile strike, that they fired any shots during the fatal riot last Jan. 29th.

One militiaman was at the scene of the riot told of beating with the butt end of his rifle a striker who drew a revolver and Police Sergeant Walter Spranger told of an all order he gave his men to get their guns ready, but said they did not fire.

"It was in charge of a squad of policemen which was driving the crowds at Garden and Union streets that night," said Spranger. "We had been resisted by the strikers repeatedly, had been pelted with missiles and again with our clubs. When we heard the shooting we were about a block away. I ordered the men to rush to the scene and as we were proceeding I told them to get their guns ready. There was no such order until the shooting was all over."

Sergeant Spranger admitted that he clubbed many of the strikers on the back and shoulders.

"Did you strike any of them on the head?" Attorney Mahoney asked.

"Possibly," said Spranger. "The sergeant said he could not recall saying to the officers on that occasion: 'Knock a head whenever it shows.'"

Oscar Benoit, the policeman who was stabbed during the riot declared that he was rushed by a crowd of strikers just after several shots were fired at Garden and Union streets.

"Officer Marshall and myself were trying to turn the crowd back," said Benoit. "The howling men closed in on us and I heard a pistol report and saw a flash."

"Did you see a woman then?" asked Dist. Atty. Atwell.

"Yes; I saw a woman fall."

Just before that moment Benoit said he felt a blow in the back but paid little attention to it. After the woman fell—she was Anna Lopez—the officer said he went into the store where she was taken and discovered that he had been stabbed in the back. Benoit identified in court the revolver, a 38 calibre, which he carried that night. He denied that he fired any shots.

Asked by the district attorney if he saw Caruso that night Benoit declared that he saw him in the front row of the strikers that rushed up to the corner of Garden and Union streets just before the woman was shot.

"I saw Caruso after that at the police station," said Benoit, "and said to him: 'I've seen you before—at the corner of Garden and Union streets the night of the trouble' and he said 'yes.'"

WHIST PARTY

Held Under the Auspices of Holy Name Society of St. Columba's Parish Last Evening

The most successful whist party of the series in aid of St. Columba's church was held last evening in the rectory. The affair was under the auspices of the Holy Name society connected with the church and was largely attended.

The early part of the evening was devoted to a musical and literary program including recitations by Miss Alice Gleason, piano solos by Miss Teresa Nacy, and vocal selections by Raymond Chapelle, and George Karwin. During the evening both whist and forty-fives were indulged in. The winners of whist were as follows: Lady's first prize, Miss Anna Cassidy; second, Mrs. J. Swift; hooby, Miss Marie Farley.

Gentleman's first prize, Mr. Martin H. Reidy; second, Mr. Edward McCarthy; hooby, Mr. D. O'Connell. The first prizes for forty-fives were captured by Mr. Thomas Drosnahan and Mr. Thomas Sullivan and the dooby prizes went to Mr. Michael Sullivan and Mr. Humphrey Coffey.

The committee in charge of the affair was: Messrs. John Blessington, Mark Morgan, Arthur Kerrigan, Peter McKone, Patrick Brosnahan, Michael McDermott, Patrick McGrath, Terrence Quinn and Charles F. McQuillan.

The next party will be held on Halloween night under the auspices of one of the ladies of the parish.

INSPECTOR MORAN

Held an Examination of Candidates For Boiler Inspectors—There Were About Eight Candidates

Mr. Edward Moran, state inspector of boilers, conducted the usual Friday examinations for applicants for fireman's and second class engineer's license and there were about eight candidates.

The examination consists of practical tests in the operation of boilers, valves, pumps and engines, the applicants making use of the apparatus which is located in the office of the district police in the Central block.

On Thursday Mr. Moran goes to Boston where an examination for more advanced positions is held, the successful ones qualifying for first and second class engineers. On the first Thursday of each month this higher examination is held in Mr. Moran's office in the Central building, Lowell, two men coming here from the Boston headquarters to conduct the test.

MAN IS MISSING

Adolph Perry Has Not Been Seen Since Last Sunday Morning—Family Worried

Mr. Adolph Perry of 53 Hudson street has been missing from home since last Sunday morning, and his family are at a loss to know where he is, for he left saying he was going to church and has not returned since, and not a word has been received from him.

Perry was third hand in the spinning department of the Appleton mill, where he worked with his wife up to three weeks ago, when he secured employment as third hand in the spinning department of the Boott mill. After working there two weeks he drew his two pays and left for parts unknown.

Mrs. Perry when seen at her home stated to the writer she had nothing to say concerning her husband, but admitted she had not seen him or heard from him since Sunday morning. She said Sunday morning he seemed to be feeling good and after playing with the children he left the house saying he was going to church.

CHELMSFORD IRON FOUNDRY

Locates in a Tanner Street Building and Has Many Orders Ahead

Owing to the delay in securing power from the Electric Light company, work at the new plant of the Chelmsford iron foundry on Tanner street is held up. The foundrymen have also experienced another delay in the connection for a telephone line, too, being caused by the fact that several formalities are necessary before the phone will be installed.

It is expected, however, that by the first of next week these incumbrances will be eliminated and the company will be able to start work. Assurances have been received that power will be furnished under protest, this governing until a settlement is reached over the taxing of new poles.

Many men are at work, however, at the shop, getting things in shape, setting up cranes and other paraphernalia, while the engineer is busy installing a motor for the power. The latter is one of large proportions, and will supply the power for the entire plant.

The principle work of the motor will be to supply a force blast for the furnace, while it will also furnish "juice" for empty wheels, rammers and other small devices.

The Chelmsford foundry was formerly located in North Chelmsford, where for many years it did a thriving business. Even at the present time the business is exceptionally good, many orders being on hand, and soon to be started on. When the original owner of the property died and his heirs came into possession of the buildings several sales of the plant were contemplated. The Silesia Worsted company operating in North Chelmsford tried several times to purchase the property. For the last five years the Silesia company has been at it and finally bought it a short time ago.

By the sale of the foundry owners were obliged to seek new quarters, and they had considerable difficulty in finding a suitable place. At the old stand, owing to the excellent location, shipment was greatly facilitated. On one side of the building a track for receiving material is located, while on the other a track for shipment was available. The building itself is a very spacious structure, and as the business of the company demands large quarters, the building was ideal for carrying on the work.

Upon being notified to vacate the premises in North Chelmsford, the officials got busy and viewed many locations. The building, formerly occupied by the Union Iron foundry on Tanner street was finally selected. The latter, however, was not large enough to conduct the entire business of the concern, hence the owners decided to transfer the moulding to the Tanner street building, while the large structural work will be done in Medford.

In Medford, the company has been preparing a shop for five years, and the heavy work, formerly turned out at Chelmsford, will be manufactured there.

During the past two weeks the employees of the company have been engaged in moving the cranes, patent boxes, casting boxes, etc., to the new plant. All the paraphernalia to be used at the new foundry has been in position for the past week, and but for the delays in power and wire connections, the shop would be running now.

A number of men are still at work at the old foundry in Chelmsford, loading on the heavy devices, that are being sent to Medford. This will consume the remainder of the week, and by Monday next the keys of the old foundry will be turned over to the new owners, the Silesia Worsted company. With everything out of the old building, and the necessary wire connections at the present foundry, the officials expect to be working at full blast next week.

that of the baby whose body was picked up by the steamer Mackay Bennett and interred at the expense of the crew of that ship. Flowers are placed on the little grave at regular intervals by members of the crew. J. Bruce Ismay, director of the White Star company and himself a survivor of the Titanic disaster, has ordered large grave-stones for the graves of Mr. Harrison and of Ernest Freeman, who was head deck steward on the ill-fated liner. The stone on the Freeman grave is to be inscribed: "This stone is erected by Mr. Bruce Ismay, director of the White Star Company, in memory of Ernest Freeman's long service and notable heroic self-sacrifice."

FIND $28,000 GONE

In Co-Operative Bank Loot Probe

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—That $28,000 mysteriously disappeared from the Acushnet Co-operative bank through the misconduct of its treasurer became known yesterday when Bank Commissioner A. L. Thordike filed a bill in the supreme court, asking permission to accept a settlement from the directors.

For ten years, the bill alleges, the misconduct of the treasurer continued. The bank commissioner took possession of the bank on Aug. 26 last.

The disappearance of the money was not noted, the bill states, because the secretary of the bank had delegated some of his duties to the treasurer. It is claimed that the directors knew of the disappearance of the $28,000.

They have made an offer of $3000 to the bank commissioner to settle all claims which may arise as a result of the loss of the money. That offer the commissioner wishes to accept. The bill is brought against the bank.

Nov. 19 has been set for a hearing in the supreme court.

Wilson Signs Sheepskins

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 25.—Ten years ago today Woodrow Wilson was inaugurated president of Princeton university. Today as governor of New Jersey and democratic nominee for the presidency he sat in the library of his home executing a task which carried him back to the days when he presided over Princeton university. Several graduates of the last two years who had studied under the Wilson administration but had received their diplomas in the period subsequent to Mr. Wilson's resignation sent their sheepskins to him today for his signature.

Miss Jesse Wilson, his daughter, sat near her father watching him write his name and carry the diplomas to the fireside to dry the ink. "It seems like old times," said Miss Wilson, "to see father signing diplomas and laying them aside to dry." Ever since he was elected chief executive of the state, Governor Wilson has been receiving diplomas from the class of 1911 and 1912 asking him to add his autograph to their diplomas. The governor planned to spend the day at home.

COL. ROOSEVELT

Resumed the Active Work of the Campaign Today—He is Still Quite Weak

OYSTER BAY, Oct. 25.—Col. Roosevelt took up the active work of the campaign today for the first time since he was shot 11 days ago. John McGrath, his secretary, came from New York last night to be at Sagamore Hill early in the day and as soon as Col. Roosevelt had breakfast he began his work. He dictated a number of letters to progressive leaders, then took up the preparation of the speech which he expects to deliver in New York next week.

Col. Roosevelt was in good trim, physically, although he was still weak and was not able to do as much work as he wished. He has not overcome the effects of the nervous exhaustion from which he is suffering after spending a week in bed in Chicago and finds himself greatly fatigued if he undertakes too much.

Dr. Scurry Terrell said that his patient was in surprisingly good condition and that he expected his strength to return rapidly.

Dr. Joseph Blake and Dr. George Brewer are expected from New York this afternoon to dress the wound.

Y. W. C. A. Notes

Vesper services will be in charge of the four secretaries of the Y. W. C. A. and they will try to answer the question: "Why Join the Church?" This is a second of the series of the church, the third will be held November third. A very delightful party was held last night by the girls who live at the Y. W. C. A. The gymnasium was very prettily decorated with leaves and greens. Games and athletic contests were enjoyed by all after which delicious refreshments were served. The committee in charge of the entertainment were Miss Newbegin, Miss Whipple and Miss Trash. The refreshments were served by Miss Oxnier, Miss Carby and Miss Foster.

Y. M. C. A. Star Course

A more appropriate name than the Star Course would be hard to find, this being a series of lectures and concerts conducted by the Y. M. C. A. at the First Baptist church. Due credit must be given the officials of the Y. M. C. A. for selecting such excellent features for their course.

Wednesday, October 30 will be the date for the first lecture which will be given by the Melstersingers of Boston. The Harvard, Schubert and Weber male quartet. Very little need be said about these famous singers as they have appeared in Lowell before. The second lecture will be held on Wednesday, November 20th. Prof. J. Ernest Woodland of Rochester, N. Y., conducting a popular science lecture giving a few demonstrations in twentieth century science. Some of the experiments successfully done by Prof. Woodland are remarkable and completely beyond the comprehension of the audience. The third lecture will be given by the Chicago Ladies' orchestra on Wednesday, January 28th, this orchestra is composed of accomplished musicians each one of them being a master in his line. Cora La Parade Cawthorn will give some exceptionally clever character readings. Hon. Frank J. Cannon, the ex-senator of Utah will speak of "The Kingdom of God on Earth" and the "Modern Mormon Kingdom." Mr. Cannon is an extraordinary speaker and the subject of his speech will be on polygamy existing in Utah today. The final concert will be given Mar. 12 by "Ye Olden Folk's Choir." This is a mixed quartet and the selections sung by them are the songs of fifty years ago. Mildred Sheldon has an accomplished reader, will also be another attraction to the evening's entertainment.

FLOODS CAUSE HEAVY DAMAGE

The Loss is Figured to be in the
Thousands — Strong-Hewat
Woolen Mill Was Saved

NORTH ADAMS, Oct. 25.—Heavy rains, falling steadily for two days, have produced unusual flood conditions in the Hoosac and Deerfield valleys. The Deerfield valley so far suffered the most.

In the Hoosac, northeast of this city, the Strong-Hewat woolen mill was saved during the night by the promptness of B. A. J. Hewat, the owner. Seeing the mill and the great smokestacks foundations already submerged and the water still rapidly rising, Mr. Hewat called for volunteers, who under his direction cut a 12-foot gap in the mill dam and released the rising waters.

Thousands of dollars worth of damage was done in the Hoosac valley by washouts, and the Deerfield valley damage will not be repaired for weeks.

Bridge Carried Away
At the immense plant under construction by the Power Construction company between Monroe bridge and Hoosac Tunnel station, thousands of dollars' damage was done in a few hours.

About 1 o'clock in the morning members of the construction gang were awakened by the creaking of beams and timbers. Andrew H. Berard, who has charge of the work at this point for the B. F. Smith company of Pawtucket, rushed out of his sleeping quarters just in time to see the new $3000 bridge built for temporary use, slung 20 feet into the air, twisted and broken and carried down the river on the crest of the flood.

The force of the current was indicated by the fact that one of the iron railings was found wound about a big tree, while one of the heavy iron girder was carried down the stream to the Hoosac Tunnel station.

Mr. Berard saw at once that two pumps valued at $500 each were likely to go next and he succeeded in chaining them to trees before they were submerged. They are now under water.

The damage at Somerset, where the Power Construction company was doing its biggest work on a monster dam, could not be estimated yesterday. Three big steam shovels and two pumps are entirely in the water. The great log boom at that point went out yesterday morning, carrying hundreds of logs down the river.

New Mill Flooded
At Mountain Mills the Castle Bridge was partly washed away and the engine room of the new mill of the New England Hardware company was flooded to a depth of four feet. The master mechanic, Daniel O'Connell, estimates that tools to the value of $1500 are seriously damaged.

Two bridges on the Somerset road went out, also the cement bridge to Wilmington.

At Monroe Bridge yesterday morning every able-bodied man in the town threatened to fight the flood, which threatened to undermine the Ramapo pulp and paper mill. About midnight the water flooded the railroad tracks on the east bank of the river and began to loosen some of the foundation stones under the pulp mill, located on the west side, the river mill being on the west side. Despite every effort, the damage to the pulp mill was so serious that the plant will probably be closed for several days.

Charles Ramapo, Supt. Forbes Woods and Master Mechanic Harry Taber, with a gang of laborers, immediately set to work to build a dam of loose brick and mud across the railroad tracks. Despite their efforts, a considerable part of the new track laid in connection with the changing of the gauge to standard was washed away.

In addition to the damage to the pulp mill it was found that a large hole had been made in the foundation of the paper mill and Mr. Ramapo believes the larger part of the machinery will have to be reset.

The dam gates of the Power Construction company at Somerset were opened to save the dam, and this let the flood down on the Hoosac Tunnel & Wilmington railway. Had the gates not been opened the dam would have been carried away.

The Hoosac Tunnel & Wilmington officials estimate the damage at between $3000 and $4000.

Train In Difficulties
The effort to run the regular train on the Hoosac Tunnel & Wilmington yesterday morning resulted in all sorts of adventures, and tested Supt. MacTeer's ingenuity. The train left Wilmington at the regular time, 7:30 a. m., but got only as far as Mountain Mills, where it encountered the first big washout. MacTeer immediately made up another train at Fendshore, and sent it to the scene of the trouble, where the passengers were transferred.

The second train got as far as Monroe Bridge, where the roadbed was so badly washed that it was considered dangerous to proceed. The passengers were ordered to get out of the train, uncoupled, and with MacTeer and a couple of brakemen on board, were allowed to coast down the grade over the dangerous piece of track.

The passengers boarded the third train, and this time got almost to Hoosac Tunnel when they were stopped by a great boulder which had rolled on the tracks. They were transferred to flat cars and made the last part of the trip in a downpour of rain.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Lowell Opera House
Sig. Liborati, director of the fine military band and company of grand opera singers that are to be heard at the Opera House next Sunday night, was at one time a private in the Ninth regiment, Italian Volunteers, under Col. Mehoff Garabaldi, and it was in the service that he first became a band leader. In 1873 he was bandmaster and cornet soloist to his excellency Earl Dufferin, governor general of Canada. He was with the Canadian regiment, Liborati organized his famous military band and toured the country.

In "The Wall Street Girl," Miss Ring plays the title role of Jeannine Greene, daughter of a Wall Street broker. Her father being disappointed in not having a son, brings her up in a very fashionable manner. She enters his Wall Street office and is soon deeply engaged in a financial scheme. Miss Ring comes to the Opera House, Nov. 5th.

The Playhouse
Things well done invariably receive recognition from an appreciative public, and that's one of the many reasons why the daily attendance at The Playhouse (formerly Hawthorne Theatre) is showing a healthy growth. The presentation of Porter Emerson Brown's wonderful four-act drama, "The Spontaneous Combustion," is a very favorable impression among the patrons. Next week "Miss Jimmy Valentine," will be the presentation. Matinees will be given every day but Monday. Order your tickets in advance and enjoy the conveniences of the choice seats.

Merrimack Square Theatre
The entire program at the Merrimack Square theatre is cleverly set and provides the most of entertainment. It includes the great photograph, "Queen Elizabeth" in which the "Edith Barry" appears and also holds much else to please. Four of the very latest and best reels of pictures are to be shown. Musical comedy will be presented as the attraction at this popular playhouse next week.

Kettie Centre
The facial expression of Frank Rao, the German comedian, at Kettie's theatre, this week, is wonderfully good. As the husband who is forced to tell the truth about his wife's infidelity he is genuinely funny. Spencer & Williams are a splendid pair of entertainers, and others of the night are Lord & Zarina, dancers; Corliss, Zanolis, Geo. Vocaman, Mlle. Emerita, Palace Geo. Vocaman, Mlle. Emerita, Palace Four and "Four Relations."

A TOTAL WRECK
Remains of Auto Found Near Lake Massabesic Station—Second Machine Found Abandoned
MANCHESTER, N. H., Oct. 25.—For the second time within a few days, a automobile has been found damaged beyond repair and abandoned beside the roadside in the vicinity of this city with the license number removed.

The first was found on the river road and had evidently been put out of commission in a collision.
The second was found yesterday about two miles from the railroad station at Lake Massabesic. This machine had been destroyed by fire, which left it nothing but a mass of twisted iron. The machine, which had evidently been driven by a party of chestnut gatherers, had apparently taken fire from a back fire, and the occupants, finding that they could not save it, had devoted their energies to extinguishing a fire in the woodlands. In this they were successful, although a considerable territory had been burned over.

Atchison Annual Meeting
TOPEKA, Kas., Oct. 25.—At the 17th annual meeting of the stockholders of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe R. R., held in Topeka yesterday, four directors of the road were re-elected for a term of four years. They are: Edwin J. Berwind of New York, John G. McClelland of Vermont, Henry C. Frick of Pittsburgh, and Andrew C. Jones of Kansas City.
Sixty per cent. of the 2,800,000 shares of the company's stock was represented. It was announced by President Ripley that the Santa Fe now has $1,000,000 stockholders, a gain of 3000 over last year.

CHELMSFORD
A very enjoyable and successful fair was held in the Central Congregational church vestry last evening, under the auspices of the Central Congregational society. The concert opened at 7 o'clock and continued through the evening. A large crowd attended and an excellent business was done at the numerous tables, located around the hall. The decorations added much to the attractiveness of the surroundings, and every detail connected with the event was carried out in a manner that reflects great credit on those in charge.

At 6 o'clock supper was served and so large was the crowd, that several extra settings were necessary. During the supper hour as well as later, excellent music was furnished by the "Titania Ladies" orchestra.
At 7:15 an entertainment was opened in the auditorium, that proved a most enjoyable feature. The program was as follows: Titania Ladies' orchestra; reading, "The Muscramoot Orphan," Mrs. Belle Harrington Hall; solo, "To My First Love," Royal W. Lath, leader of the Brown University Glee club; orchestra; solo, "The King is Dead," J. Horace Paradis; duet, "Life's Dream is Over," Mr. Leth and Mr. Paradis; reading, "Taking Him Down," Mrs. Hall; solo, "Three for Jack," Mr. Leth; reading, "Just Boy," Mrs. Hall; orchestra; solo, "The Song of the Sea," Mrs. J. H. Paradis was accompanist for the vocal numbers.

Westminster Presbyterian Church
The boys of Mrs. S. A. Jackson's class gave a most enjoyable musical and entertainment at the Westminster Presbyterian church last night.
Among the numbers on the musical program were the following: Piano solos by Miss Ruth Blackie and Miss Frank McLaughlin; a piano duet by Miss Esther McLaughlin and Miss Louise Jackson, and songs by Miss Susan McQueen, Miss Elizabeth Waters, James Brown and John Dickson, Messrs. Smith and Davis were the accompanists. Edward Rowe, a former bandmaster of Glasgow, Scotland, delighted the audience with his imitations of the violin and cornet, and his characterizations. Mrs. Belle Harrington Hall gave several enjoyable readings.

NORTH CHELMSFORD
A largely attended and enthusiastically held in the town hall last evening, under the auspices of the Democratic town committee. Shortly after 8 o'clock a parade was formed at St. John's hall, and headed by the fire and drum corps of Forge Village, proceeded through the principal streets of the town. Included in the line of march were the Boy Cadets and the supporters of the democratic party. Along the line of march red fire was burned and the speakers were enthusiastically greeted. Upon reaching the town hall all proceeded inside, where selections were played by the drum corps, prior to opening the meeting. John F. McManamin called the meeting to order and introduced James P. Dunnigan as presiding officer. The latter after speaking briefly, presented the speakers of the evening, each being well received. The speakers were: James F. Miskella, Hon. James B. Cacer, Humphrey O'Sullivan, and Henry J. Draper, all of Lowell, and John Carney of Ayer.

At the session of the board of registrars, held in the lower town hall last evening, the following names were added to the check list:
Alfred Patonau, Alfred Peterson, Philip A. Vasselon, Harry E. Parkhurst, Frederick L. Merrill, Patrick J. Queally, John E. Worrill, James J. Haggerty, Frank A. Powers, Edward

S. Yeomans, and George E. Fallon. Besides the above, four other names were added at the meetings held in East and West Chelmsford during the present week.

Miss Bland and Mrs. Thomas Richardson arrived from England on the S.S. Franconia last Wednesday. Both were met at the docks by relatives and friends. Miss Bland is a sister of Mrs. Ralph Armistead of Gay street with whom she is to make her home. Mrs. Richardson came over to join her husband who has already been several months in this locality, being now employed as a wool sorter by the Silesia Worsted Company.

PROGRESSIVES TURNED DOWN

Governor Foss Declines to Give Them an Audience--Parade This Afternoon

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—I take pleasure in informing you that your request for an audience is denied.

This was the concluding sentence in the reply Gov. Foss sent the progressive leaders yesterday afternoon when notified that the Fall Moose followers will march upon the state house today to demand a special session of the legislature for enactment of a senatorial preference law.

The governor said he believes the progressives are making the demand in an effort to bolster up "forlorn political hopes." He pointed out that the republican majority in the legislature, representing jointly the regular and progressive wings, had four times rejected his request for such legislation so far as it referred to the election of Senator Crane's successor.

The progressives propose to assemble, nevertheless, at the state headquarters, 64 Devonshire street, at 12.30 this afternoon and shortly before 1 o'clock begin to march on Beacon Hill. The leaders last night sent out a general invitation for people of all parties to join in this move to obtain for the people the right to elect their own United States senators.

It is planned to halt the march at republican and democratic headquarters long enough to extend the leaders of these parties an invitation to join in the parade and in the movement.

Warn Governor of "Call"

Albert Hurwitz, temporary secretary of Wednesday night's meeting, yesterday sent Gov. Foss a letter, the body of which follows:

"At a meeting of the progressive city committee of the city of Boston, held on Wednesday evening, Oct. 23, 1912, at Ford hall, Boston, it was voted that I communicate with you and call to your attention that a delegation of members of the progressives of Massachusetts will call on you Friday afternoon, Oct. 25, 1912, between 1 and 2 o'clock, for the purpose of turning your excellency to call a special session of the legislature sometime before Jan. 1, 1913, and to have you present before said legislature a message, having for its object the holding of a state primary, whereby the voters of this commonwealth shall express their choice for the next United States senator for Massachusetts, and that a preference so expressed by the voters be binding upon the 1913 legislature."

Governor Prompt in Reply

Gov. Foss last night sent Mr. Hurwitz a letter declining to be on hand to receive the progressives this afternoon. In it he says:

"Your request, if granted, would call into special session a legislature which has four times failed to consider my demand for the same legislation which you now expect it to pass forthwith at your request."

"I called for the popular choice of senators in my inaugural of 1912, and in three successive special messages to the legislature under dates of May 3, May 17 and June 12."

"In my message of June 12 I stated that if the general court were to adjourn without giving the people of this commonwealth the privilege of expressing their preference of candidates for United States senator at the forthcoming fall election, Massachusetts would, in my judgment, be placed in a very unfortunate position."

Republicans Are Responsible

I agree with you that because of this failure of the 1912 republican legislature Massachusetts is today placed in a very unfortunate position, and I say now that the responsibility for this failure rests squarely upon yourself, together with the other members of both branches of the republican party (your own or so-called progressive branch and the regular branch) for your failure to supplement and endorse any four-times repeated demand upon the republican legislature for the legislation which you now want.

"You give me credit for more credulity than I possess. If you now expect me at this date to call together this same legislature in the vain hope that they will now consider any such legislation."

Bolstering Up Forlorn Hopes

"But I am not so credulous as to suppose that you are making this demand for any other purpose than the bolstering up of your own forlorn political hopes, and in the attempt to wipe out from the record of your party the stigma of not having urged this legislation when the generous court was in its regular session."

"And I thank you again for giving me this opportunity to tell the people of Massachusetts that a legislature, the republican majority of which represented jointly the regular and progressive wing of your party, four times rejected my request, so far as it referred to the election of Senator Crane's successor."

"With these facts in mind, I take pleasure in informing you that your request for an audience is denied."

Man Held on Charge of Burglary

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Heir to one-fourth of an estate valued at $125,000, a man, who is said by the police to be William Arnold Victor Koch, was held a prisoner under bail in police court here, charged with attempted burglary, which, according to detectives who arrested him, was the result of their capture of him for excitement.

Tactful and sullen, Koch was brought into court after a battle in a saloon with the police. To the magistrate he would not admit his identity, but the police, arraigning him under the name of "John Doe," say he has twice served sentences in jail for house breaking and burglary. They declare that they identified him through pictures in the Rogues' Gallery and by finger prints.

GOV. OSBORN INJURED

In a Railroad Accident in Chicago

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Gov. Charles S. Osborn of Michigan was one of 13 persons injured in train and street car wrecks here yesterday that resulted from a dense fog in the southern part of the city.

The governor was only slightly injured on the right arm. Mrs. Osborn, who accompanied her husband, was not hurt.

Of those injured, four are believed to be dying, while others were not seriously hurt.

The first wreck occurred when a Big Four train struck the rear end of a Michigan Central train at the 70th street crossing. Gov. and Mrs. Osborn were on the latter train coming to Chicago. Beside the governor, three women were slightly injured in this wreck.

A second wreck occurred when a Pennsylvania train struck a street car at 10th street. The fog was so dense that the gateman failed to see either the car or the train and left the gates open. Seven passengers on the street car were hurt, of whom four probably will die.

Another accident happened on the South Side elevated lines, when two Jackson park trains loaded with city-bound passengers met in a rear-end collision between stations, the motor-man of the second train being hurt.

SENT TO REFORMATORY

Jones of Wales Charged With Larceny

WORCESTER, Oct. 25.—A tour of the United States begun by W. C. Jones of Montgomery, Wales, on Aug. 25, when he arrived in Boston on an ocean liner, landed him in the Concord Reformatory yesterday for the alleged theft of an automobile in Pittsburgh, and a warrant charging similar offense in New York against service on Jones when he is released from the Massachusetts penal institution.

The spending of $5000 in a week and the raising of a large sum, believed to be up in the thousands, from hotel keepers, automobile dealers and chauffeurs, by means of blank checks and letters of credit on London and Paris bankers, are but a few of the items that Jones tells of his career in this country and the information gleaned by Police Inspector Bernard H. Flaherty of the Pittsburgh police.

The police say Jones began his fling at a hotel in Boston, adjourned it to hotels in New York and spread it along among houses in Park Avenue in New York to Brattleboro, Vt.

Jones was called upon to plead in superior court yesterday to a charge of taking the automobile of John B. Manley of Brattleboro, Vt., on Sept. 23. With a decidedly English accent, he said to Judge Ratigan: "Yes, I took the car, but I really don't intend to steal, but just to drive it a bit, don't you know?"

He admitted he took an automobile "just to drive a bit," that he hired from the Lawson garage on Fifth avenue in New York.

Judge Ratigan sentenced Jones to the reformatory for a year and the New York officers have placed the New York warrant at the Concord institution for service.

Jones went to a big hotel in New York, Inspector Flaherty says, and after a few days secured advances of money on the strength of blank checks and letters of credit from Barclay Bros. of London and the bank of Paris that he displayed. Later he moved to another hotel and finally engaged an $8000 touring car from the Lawson garage.

Down on Long Island, it is claimed, Jones sent the chauffeur into a cafe for a drink. When the driver returned Jones and car were gone. It is alleged Man and auto were next heard of in Brattleboro, where Jones, it is said, ditched the car and left it a wreck. He then secured the Manley car and had proceeded as far as Fitchburg on Sept. 23, when Inspector Flaherty arrested him.

The amount of money Jones has raised is not estimated by the police, but they believe it amounts up into the thousands of dollars.

The partial investigation the police have made indicates that Jones comes of a good family of considerable property in Montgomery, Wales. He is apparently not more than 25 and has all appearances of culture and breeding. The dazzle of the white lights and intoxication of the fast pace are the only excuses he offers.

He will give no other name than "W. C. Jones," and declines to say what the "W" stands for.

Maria Theresa Dead

SORRENTO, Italy, Oct. 25.—Princess Maria Theresa, archduchess of Austria-Este, died suddenly here yesterday. She was the wife of Prince Ludwig, heir to the throne of Bavaria, to whom she was married in 1868. Princess Maria Theresa was born in 1849.

STATE BOARD OF TRADE

Held Annual Meeting and Elected Officers

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—The Massachusetts state board of trade held its 22d annual meeting yesterday noon at Hotel Vendome, about 100 delegates being present. The Brockton chamber of commerce was admitted to membership.

Pres. John H. Coreoran, in his annual report, urged all members to keep watch on what is going on in the various legislative bodies that may affect trade interests. The speaker severely criticized the greater liberty given trust companies over savings banks in the matter of the control of the money of depositors, and said the state laws are inconsistent in the matter.

Findley Acker, president of the Philadelphia chamber of commerce, a guest at the meeting, was given a reception before luncheon. He spoke on "Commercial and Transportation Facts and Fallacies," dealing with theories as to the high cost of living, his belief being that advanced cost is due largely to increased cost of labor and depleted supply of some raw materials. He also cited a steadily advancing standard of living.

He denied the increased cost of living is due in any large measure to excessive profits for the dealers.

The election resulted in most of the old officers being chosen again, including John H. Coreoran as president, and Richard L. Gay, secretary and treasurer. Ten of the 55 vice presidents were not re-elected and were succeeded by E. Kinsman Banks of Beverly, Anthony W. Strauss of Cambridge, Frank B. Howard of Chicopee, Edward B. Klingman of Leominster, M. V. Bresnahan of Lynn, Abbott C. Lamson of Malden, James Y. Noyes of Marlboro, Albert E. Cole, Henry B. Humphrey and Jason Bailey.

The meeting next month will be at Springfield, where the members will be guests of the local board of trade.

WALSH AND ATTELL DRAW

Exciting Time at the Pilgrim A.
A. Meeting in Boston
Last Night

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—A draw was the decision by the referee of the 12-round bout between Abe Attell and Jimmy Walsh at the Pilgrim A. A. last night. Attending the bout was considerable excitement, caused by hoodlums, who made the fans think that an army was raiding the place, by-the-way they broke the windows and doors.

Still more trouble developed when Walsh's manager refused to let Jimmy box unless the rounds were cut to two minutes. There was a big howl from the fans over this, and a lot of unpleasant things were said. The club officials showed that they were not responsible for the shortening of the rounds.

It appears that when the match was made it was agreed that the weight should be 124 pounds. Several days later Attell notified the club that he could not make the weight in the time, and asked for catchweights. Walsh's manager agreed to this, so the club officials declared.

Walsh is said to have weighed under 124 pounds yesterday afternoon, but Attell did not, for, according to the agreement, he did not have to. Not until the men were in the ring and the fans anxious to see the mill start did the manager of Walsh make his demand for two-minute rounds.

After some time the howling fans let up, and Attell announced that he would box according to Walsh's manager's demands.

Attell is far from being the Attell of old, although he showed flashes of his former cleverness. He is the same confident boxer of old, and he won after Walsh as if he were not the boxer that Walsh is rated.

For nine rounds the honors were Attell's by a big margin. He could shoot his left to Walsh's face and body whenever he wanted to, and a number of times when at close range he beat a merry tattoo with both hands on Walsh's body. The manner in which he would get his head away from Walsh's leads and the way he would use both hands when in the clinches were reminders of his old style. He also did some good blocking.

While Walsh landed some rights and lefts on Attell's face, many of these blows Attell deliberately opened up for and took without making any pretense of blocking them. A few times he shot the right over for the jaw, and although the blows landed, they did not bring about what Attell desired.

After the ninth round Attell acted as if he had stowed himself up. He did not tear after Walsh the way he did in the previous rounds, and he did not try so often to work both hands onto the body.

On the other hand Walsh sent many lefts and rights to the face, and some of them Attell could have blocked if he felt like it. Attell landed some lefts on the face and body.

In the last two rounds Walsh made a great flash and landed some good blows on Attell's face and body.

While it looked to most of the fans as if Attell was entitled to the award, the referee called it a draw. After the bout Attell said that he hurt his right hand on Walsh's elbow in the 11th round, and that the reason he took so many of Walsh's blows without trying to stop them was because Walsh was not hitting hard.

The bout between Joe Nelson of Lawrence and George Robinson, the colored Cambridge boxer, was a red hot affair. Robinson was too clever and too fast on his feet for Nelson and easily won the decision at the end of the eight rounds.

In the opening bout Tommy O'Brien of Charlestown and Tony Lorenzo of Boston boxed six hard and fast rounds and O'Brien was declared the winner in the other preliminary. Patsy De Luca and Dave Powers went six hard rounds and the bout was called a draw.

Duffy Gets Trouncing

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Jack Britton of Chicago gave Freddie Duffy of Boston an artistic trouncing in a 10-round bout at the 44th street Sporting club last night. Britton at the end permitted Duffy to remain on his feet. That he could have knocked Duffy out in the final round was apparent.

Duffy was weak and reeled around helplessly from a right to the chin and an uppercut. While Duffy was in this plight Britton gave his adversary several little jabs with his right, as though using a powder puff. Under this sort of treatment, Duffy remained on his feet to the final going. The whites were: Duffy 129 1/4, Britton 129 3/4 pounds.

The middle sessions, particularly the fifth and sixth rounds, were interesting. During these chapters Duffy boxed well and staggered Britton several times.

Jim Savage of New Jersey jumped "McKenna" Keating, a local heavyweight, in the first round of their scheduled 10-round session. Referee Young Corbett stopped the bout. Tom Hudson of Windsor, Canada, knocked out Johnny Cracken of Toronto in the fifth round of their bout.

The Jim Barry-Joe Jeannette bout was declared off.

Roger Bresnahan's Dismissal as Manager
PHOTOS BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 25.—The removal of Roger Bresnahan as manager of the St. Louis National baseball team was not wholly unexpected in view of the numerous reports of the past year. It has aroused almost as much comment as the discharge of Frank Chance by Charles W. Murphy. Either of these men would be welcomed in several other cities. Bresnahan's record with the Cardinals compares very favorably with the achievements of numerous other managers who are considered fairly successful. While he had a poor season in 1912, he was gradually getting together a pretty good ball club, and he was always a strong road attraction. More than likely Miller Huggins, the Cards' second baseman, will be Bresnahan's successor. A year ago Bresnahan was signed by Stanley Robinson to a four years' contract as playing manager at a salary of $10,000. He was also to receive 10 per cent. of the net profits. Bresnahan will demand settlement in full.

WALSH GREATEST PITCHER

According to Opinion of
Umpire Dineen

"Ed Walsh is the most valuable pitcher to his club of any hurler in baseball. Considering his continuous service and his record for 1912, he stands out as one of the marvels of the game."

This tribute is from Umpire Dineen, at one time considered among the greatest pitchers in the game and the player who won a world's series for Boston in 1903.

Dineen is in a position to judge of the relative merits of players in the American league. He is behind the plate as an arbitrator and can form a conservative opinion. His stellar career as a pitcher gives more weight to his opinion.

"I have watched Walsh closely for several years, and it is nothing less than wonderful the way he continues to pitch effective ball. When Walsh was worked so much by Elder Jones in 1905 many said that would be about all for big Ed. They thought he had shot his bolt. It didn't seem any human being could stand all that work and retain his effectiveness. Walsh has worked nearly four seasons since 1908, when he appeared in so many games. He has continued to pitch nearly six seasons since he won a world's championship for the White Sox, but he seems to be about as strong today as seven years ago."

"I attribute Walsh's great stamina and wonderful record to the splendid care he takes of himself. Other players with similar talents have been addicted to drink or have had some falling which has sapped their vitality and shortened their careers. Walsh takes good care of himself. He doesn't drink intoxicants, chew tobacco or chase around. He is not a habitue of the Great White Way."

"When I watched Walsh fan Hal Chase in a pinch as he did Frank Baker at Philadelphia, I couldn't help admire the big fellow for conserving his talents. There couldn't be a greater test of a player's gameness than facing Frank Baker with the bases loaded, none out and a run needed to tie the score. That was what Walsh faced, and he conquered Baker in much the same manner as he humbled Chase and Speaker in similar tight places. It is evidence to me that Walsh is about as effective today as he ever was."

Walsh has a record this season that outshines that of Walter Johnson in spite of the fact that the "big moose" has worked much harder and longer than the wonderful speed dispenser of the Washington Senators. Walsh has appeared in more games for the White Sox than Johnson. He has pitched against the Philadelphia Athletics, the

CARNIVAL OF RACING

World's Championships
to be Held in Boston

What will undoubtedly prove the greatest carnival of bicycle racing ever seen in this country will be staged at the Arena in Boston beginning Nov. 1. It will include the world's championships in sprint racing, motor-paced races and a six-day event.

This is the first time in the history of the game that the championships have been decided in the Hub.

The best riders in the world have been signed to compete here. England will send its best men, while France, Italy, Germany and Austria will be represented by the stars, and, of course, the American riders will be in the lists.

Among the latter will be seen Elmer Collins, the Lyon speed merchant; Jimmie Moran, Chelsea's favorite; Eddie Root, Bobby Walthour, Floyd Crobbs, Frank Kramer, world's champion sprinter; Percy Lawrence, George Voser and Joe Rogley.

The big carnival will start Friday evening with the sprint championships, and Saturday evening will also be devoted to this. The long six-day grind will start at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon, Nov. 1, and ten hours will be given each day to riding. Fourteen teams have already been signed, while several more are expected.

This is the first six-day event in the Hub for two years. The demand this year by the cycle "fans" has been so great that Alex McLean has been working for several months to line up what he expects to be the greatest bike event ever seen in this country.

McLean has already made arrangements for the building of the fastest and most up-to-date board track ever constructed here. He is sparing no expense with either track or talent, and expects to make this week a credit to the cycle game.

New York's Six Day Race

Although some doubt was expressed at the time that John M. Chapman signed for the New York six-day race, his manager, as to his ability to procure the proper talent for the coming race in Madison Square garden, Dec. 9 to 14, Chapman lost very little sleep over the signing of the riders, and so far he has as strong a field as has ever been signed two months previous to the race. With one or two exceptions the list is as good, if not better, than other fields in past years. Jackie Clark and Joe Fogler have not signed as yet, and the trouble may be settled satisfactorily to both of these riders. Clark's trouble is of a financial nature, while Fogler wants to ride with Clark, and Chapman says nay.

Fogler contends that as Kramer and Moran are paired up that he has a right to pair with the man with whom he won last year, but Chapman wants Fogler and Clark to pair with other riders. Might be that these two would work on Moran and Kramer and cause the latter to have many restless and pained moments during his six days of residence in Diana's palace of torture.

With two or three teams yet to be added, the riders will line up in the next Madison Square garden race in the following manner:

Frank Kramer and James Moran.

Alfred Grenda and Ernie Pyle.

Bedell brothers.

Paddy Hehir and Eddie Root.

George Heley and Percy Lawrence.

Jackie Moran and George Cameron.

Lloyd Thomas and Martin Ryan.

Clarence Carman and Elmer Collins.

"Bobby" Walthour and Gordon Walker.

Walter DeMara and Ernest Jokus.

Alvin Loftes and Junbo Wells.

Peter Drobach and possibly W. L. Miller.

Andre Perchicot and French mate.

heaviest sluggers in the circuit, many more times than has Johnson.

Johnson is a sensational exponent of speed in a pitcher and in this respect is a rival of Amos Rusie. Johnson and Rusie are on a par in this respect, but neither possessed the varied talents of Walsh. Johnson makes use of his speed almost exclusively to baffie the batter. Walsh has the speed and a varied assortment of other balls. He is the greatest spitball pitcher who ever drew breath, says Frank Schulte of the Chicago Cubs, who met Walsh last season in the Chicago city series.

ANOTHER RACE MEET

To be Held at Rocking-
ham Park Saturday

A series of special match automobile races will be held at Rockingham Park Saturday under the auspices of several dealers and private owners. In addition to a race for the Rockingham Park Trophy, Harry Grant, driving a Stutz, will race the winners of the trophy and the 25-mile race and a special event to lower the record for a mile track will be staged.

A feature of the meet will be the absence of admission fees, the public being admitted to the races without charge. A small fee will be charged for grandstand seats and for the parking of motor cars in order to defray expenses.

The committee in charge consists of John J. Judd, of the Jackson Motor Car Company, chairman; Arthur J. Cumiskey, Lowell agent for Stutz cars; Prof. David L. Gallup of Worcester Polytechnic Institute, who enters a Studebaker; J. F. Esleek, sales manager of the Lexington Motor Car Company of New England; and Richard G. Badger and N. F. Darlington, entering privately-owned National cars.

The entrants include Harry Grant, twice winner of the Vanderbilt cup and Jack Le Cain, in Stutz cars; J. P. Esleek, with a Morris; Harry Cobb, with a Jackson; Daniel Higgins, who drove a masterly race last week in the Studebaker; and several private owners. The list of events include a 10-mile free-for-all for the Rockingham Park Trophy, donated by the Rockingham Park Association; a 5-mile event for amateurs, in which Curtis Downes and Paul Moulton have already entered; 25 mile professional race, for which seven starters are already promised; a special 20-mile match between Grant and the winner of the two other professional events, and a mile time trial to establish a mile track record.

Harry W. Knights, New England member of the A. A. contest board has promised that a sanction will be granted, while Manager James F. Koen of the Rockingham Park Association is doing his part to make the meet a success. The officials who had charge of last week's races will again officiate.

QUESTION ABOUT "SHEP"

If He Can Last Four Years More

Can Mel Sheppard last for another four years? This question seems like a foolish one at first glance, and the natural answer of one who is posted on athletics is, "Certainly not; long before the Berlin Olympiad rolls around Sheppard will be a dead one—in the hall of athletic memories." Of course the chances are that Peerless Mel will have gone into retirement long before Sam starts a dead certainty by any means. How many people are there who, at the time of Sheppard's marvelous running at the 1903 London games, thought that Mel would be at the top of the middle distance heap four years later, not only running as fast as he did against the Britons, but yards and yards faster? Few indeed.

James E. Sullivan, in summing up the features of the Stockholm games, cites the running of Sheppard in the 400, 800 and 1500 meter races and in the relay as well as among the most wonderful performances at the games, and why not? Here's what Mel did: He first qualified easily in two preliminary heats for the 800 meters final. Then he went out and made the running every step of the way in that great race, breaking both the 800 meter and half-mile records, but suffering defeat by young Meredith by the margin of one foot. The very next day Mel turned out and won his heat in the 1500 meters, but 24 hours later failed in the final because he was not up to the distance. Then came the 400

THE WORK IS PROGRESSING

On the Plant of New Rubber Company in Middlesex Street

Work is rapidly progressing on the new building of the Patterson Rubber Co. Lowell is very fortunate in being chosen as the city in which this large concern is to manufacture their goods. Mr. J. C. Baker has the contract for the construction of the building. The land on which this plant is located is on Middlesex street, right on the line between North Chelmsford and Lowell. The corner of land here has been purchased by the company, extending from Middlesex street to the railroad tracks. The majority of the land is on the Lowell side, but it also extends 112 feet into North Chelmsford. Just at present they are laying the foundation for the tire and tube factory and the power house. These buildings will extend from Middlesex street to the N. & W. R. R. H. R. R.

These buildings are to be four stories in height and made of brick with concrete reinforcement, electric lights and all the equipment that goes with an up-to-date manufacturing concern. The tire factory including the power house will be 250 feet long and 65 feet wide. It is hoped by the concern that the factory will be able to commence operations by the middle of March. About five hundred people are to be employed. Eventually eight buildings are to be erected.

Just at present the work on the foundation is being done, about one hundred men being employed. Many of them are engaged in carpentry work, setting and surveying, etc. There is not so much to be done as to the building, so holes are being dug for the cement pillars that are to be used as supports. Tunnels are also being dug for the water pipes. The city made the water connections this morning. A large amount of water is placed in the center of the dirt which is easily capable of moving all of the cement that will be used. The mixer is run by a large Ohio gasoline engine.

A well has been dug near the railroad and has been connected with the river by a twenty-four inch pipe. This water will be used only for the making of the cement. A railroad siding is to be put in immediately which will make it much more convenient in receiving the supplies. A large storehouse has been built beside the railroad which is to be used for the housing of cement. Mr. Baker has also erected an office facing Middlesex street. The foundation of the building will be laid within a few weeks and then work will immediately commence on the factory itself.

The contractors have a big task before them as the field is to be cleared of all trees and bushes before erection of the remaining six buildings commences. It will be a great thing for Lowell as well as North Chelmsford and will increase the trade and population. Several fine apartment houses have been leased in Tyler Park by the officers of the concern.

The principal feature of the Patterson Rubber Co. will be the manufacture of tires.

LIEUT. BECKER FOUND GUILTY

a "thin veiled summing up for the state," and upon which his counsel, John F. McIntyre, declined to comment. To do so, he said, would place him in contempt of court.

Stripped of its legal verbiage as it came from the careful lips of Justice Goff, the charge was, in effect, a ruling that the guilt or innocence of the prisoner rested almost solely upon the debatable point as to whether Sam Schepps was an accomplice to the crime. Dapper little Schepps, when arrested at Hot Springs, styled himself as the "keystone of the arch." As events transpired, he spoke truer than he knew.

"It is for you to determine whether Sam Schepps was an accomplice," charged Justice Goff. "You cannot convict on the uncorroborated stories of Rose, Webber and Vallon."

As to whether Sam Schepps was an accomplice, the justice refused to charge, saying that while a "suspicion exists that he was, I must say I have a doubt in my own mind."

What he did instruct the jurors to do was to return a verdict of first degree murder, or second degree murder, or to acquit the defendant. Man-slaughter was eliminated, and "a compromise verdict" was directed upon the motion of Becker's lawyer.

By far the greater part of the court's instruction dealt with murder in the first degree, the penalty for which is the electric chair.

Flanked by counsel, face expressionless, Becker sat chewing gum, while the court delivered the charge. Back of the railing sat his wife, head bowed, eyes downcast.

The white-haired justice spoke in a monotone, but with incisive deliberation.

"It is not claimed by the prosecution that Becker's hand did actually kill Rosenthal," he said at a crucial point. "It is claimed that he requested and directed that the killing should be done and as I have already instructed the jury, Becker, in law, must be held responsible for the acts of every one who acted in pursuance of his request or instructions."

"It is important here that I should direct you as to the law governing the case now presented: Where a person is claimed not to have done the actual killing, but to have inspired it and instructed it. Under the law Becker stands charged, principally with the commission of the crime of murder on the ground that he counseled and advised it."

The court here added that the main witnesses against the defendant were without a doubt accomplices, and he so branded Rose, Vallon and Webber. Schepps's relation he would not define.

At 4:50 o'clock Justice Goff received a communication from the jury and immediately sent for Dist. Atty. Whitman and Mr. McIntyre and John W. Hart, of counsel for the defense. They went into conference.

The communication from the jury was a request for copies of the stipulations made by the state with Rose, Webber, Vallon and Schepps at Hot Springs, Ark., to Rose, offering to testify. The documents were sent to the jury room.

The 12 jurors, with solemn faces and measured steps, filed into the court room at 11:55 o'clock. A minute later the defendant was brought in from the Tombs. Justice Goff had not yet entered the room and for a moment Becker took a side seat.

As he waited he scanned with anxious eyes the faces of the jurors, but none of them returned his gaze. A tense silence prevailed.

At 11:57 o'clock Justice Goff entered the court room and bowing low to counsel took his seat. The jury roll was called. The clerk then asked the jurors if they had reached a verdict.

"We have," announced Foreman Skinner.

The jury rose to its feet. "We find the defendant guilty as charged in the indictment," Mr. Skinner said slowly, and evenly, looking squarely at Justice Goff.

"Do you find the defendant guilty of murder in the first degree as charged in the indictment?" asked the clerk.

"We do," the foreman replied.

The court then directed that the roll of the jurors be called or their individual verdicts.

Mrs. Becker drove down town in a interview. His fellow prisoners heard the verdict almost instantly that it was announced. In some mysterious manner the message flashed from cell to cell and when Becker tramped back along the corridor, faces were pressed at the bars to watch him.

Yet no one spoke to him. He gazed neither to right nor left and his set face invited no cheering comments from his companions. Not a word has come today from the four gunmen and the two alleged accomplices—Jack Sullivan and William Shapiro, who are also to be tried for Rosenthal's death. The dates for their trials, which probably will be separate, have not been announced.

Inasmuch as their testimony will be used at the trials to come, the informers will doubtless remain in jail as material witnesses. In view of their confessions and threats against them they have expressed no desire for liberty and when they are eventually released it is said that they will leave New York.

Lieut. Becker enlisted in the New York police department Nov. 1, 1893. He was 23 years old at the time. His father is dead but his mother, now in her 80th year, lives in New York and is overcome at his conviction.

Becker's chief counsel, was confident of success in this action.

"There is not the slightest doubt," he said, "that there will be a reversal of this verdict in a higher court."

Becker will be in court on Wednesday next and at that time sentence of death will be pronounced.

It was declared this morning that the jury arrived at its verdict of first degree murder after only three formal ballots. At no time during the eight hours of deliberation was there a question of Becker's guilt—the only matter of debate being as to whether the verdict should be for first degree murder, meaning death to the prisoner, or second degree murder, which is punishable by life imprisonment. It was said that the first ballot showed eight of the jurors for conviction in the first degree, while on the second poll all but one of the 12 were agreed. The final ballot, taken shortly before midnight, was unanimous for a verdict of first degree murder.

District Attorney Whitman will now turn his attention to the cases of the gunmen of the Rosenthal murder who must be tried before the same special term of court as Becker. They have all asked for special trials, but it is believed that Becker's conviction will make their trials something not much more than legal formalities.

A record in important criminal trials has been established by the prompt disposition of the Becker case. Although it was one of the most important and momentous cases ever called to trial here it was disposed of in 15 days during which time 2000 pages of testimony was taken and 97 witnesses examined.

The cost of the trial will reach a total far less than that of most big criminal cases, it is said. The largest single item of expense was for bringing a witness from England. This item was about $2000. The cost of running the court is figured at about $700 a day, while the expense of paying and caring for the jury was about $200 a day.

Becker's coolness may be partly accounted for by his confidence that an appeal will mean a reversal, followed by a new trial and probable acquittal. Before he was taken to his cell from the courtroom he said to friends seated near him:

"Have no fear; this case is not ended yet. There will be a new trial and I will be tried again at a time when public clamor does not demand a victim. Then I am sure I will be acquitted. I do not believe that in these proceedings I had the fair and impartial trial which is guaranteed to all men under our laws."

Lloyd Stryker of Becker's counsel said today that the appeal would probably take a year's time. John F. McIntyre, Becker's chief counsel, was confident of success in this action.

"There is not the slightest doubt," he said, "that there will be a reversal of this verdict in a higher court."

Becker will be in court on Wednesday next and at that time sentence of death will be pronounced.

It was declared this morning that the jury arrived at its verdict of first degree murder after only three formal ballots. At no time during the eight hours of deliberation was there a question of Becker's guilt—the only matter of debate being as to whether the verdict should be for first degree murder, meaning death to the prisoner, or second degree murder, which is punishable by life imprisonment. It was said that the first ballot showed eight of the jurors for conviction in the first degree, while on the second poll all but one of the 12 were agreed. The final ballot, taken shortly before midnight, was unanimous for a verdict of first degree murder.

BECKER AND HIS LAWYER

taxicab this forenoon to meet Mr. McIntyre preparatory to a conference with her husband. Inquiry at the homes of the jurors revealed the fact that they came to an agreement that precluded any possibility of their talking about the case without breaking their oaths.

Before Justice Goff had urged them to keep silent they had decided to say nothing about the manner in which they arrived at their verdict or to refer to any of the incidents that attended the last day of the trial.

MEMBERS OF JURY REFUSE TO DISCUSS REASONS THAT LED TO THEIR DECISION

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The twelve men comprising the jury which found a verdict of first degree murder against Lieut. Charles Becker, who had been tried for the killing of the gambler Herman Rosenthal, refused this morning to discuss the reasons which led to their decision.

Murder trials are usually followed by extensive interviews with the jurymen. But in this case the court cautioned them to remain silent on what happened during the seven hour debate Becker's fate. One of the first places to which news of the verdict was taken was the West Side prison, where are quartered the informers, Jack Rose, Sam Schepps, Bridget Webber and Harry Vallon. The four apparently expected a disagreement, however, for they were all asleep with the exception of Schepps. He was at first suspicious when told that a first degree verdict had been returned, then remarked facetiously:

"Mr. Whitman is a smart man." Keepers at the Tombs said that Becker did not sleep last night, although no sound came from his cell after he had been marched over the bridge of signs, stamped by the verdict. He was in confer with his lawyers today and declined to give out any extended

Why Druggists Believe In "NURITO"

The New and Effective Remedy for Rheumatism, Sciatica and Neuritis

We want all the sufferers in this city to know why we believe in "Nurito," because their belief is bound to be founded on ours. This new, progressive remedy is the work of a doctor whose standing we know. There is no mystery about it—no patent medicine deception. Like men who are to-day working the great advances in medicine the world over, this physician has simply utilized and combined ingredients which separately were recognized by doctors as having a tendency to drive the uric acid poison out of the system.

It is their unique combination which is new. Instead of a mere tendency to relieve, "Nurito" gives absolute relief which is as permanent as the relief from any disease can be.

There is neither narcotic nor opiate in this prescription—simply a harmless powder which is a complete antidote for uric acid poison. Patients who have been almost distracted by the knife-thrust, darting, rheumatic pains have been greatly relieved in a very few hours and entirely relieved in a remarkably short time.

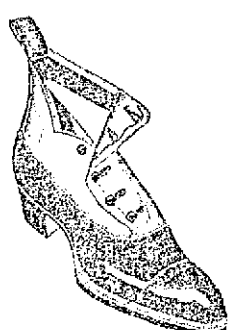

Doctors throughout the country believe in "Nurito"—they have seen its work. We, as druggists, give it our fullest endorsement. We know that there is certain relief here for every sufferer and that often a single $1 box will be the most convincing evidence of it. Compounded by Nagarsal Chemical Co., Plaiton Bldg., N. Y.

Men and Nations in the Balkan Mixup That is Attracting the Attention of the Entire World Today and Some of the Leaders in the Trouble

1—Turkish infantryman. 2—King George of Greece. 3—King Nicholas of Montenegro. 4—King Ferdinand of Bulgaria. 5—Water front scene, Constantinople. 6—Montenegrin king embracing general before sending him to the front. 7—Sultan Mohammed V. driving (cross marks sultan). 8—Montenegrin general. 9—King Peter of Serbia. 10—Montenegrin officers and soldiers.

the armies of four distinct nationalities were mobilized for immediate action against Turkey, when reports told of the putting on a war footing of more than 1,000,000 soldiers, the editors instructed their war correspondents to prepare for service and ordered the snapshots to load up their cameras. Real war was in sight in the Balkans after decades of talk. The Balkan states have been unusually disturbed and restless since all of southeastern Europe, Persia, Syria and Egypt four centuries ago.

An important element in the situation is religion. If Turkey falls, and with it a large part of the temporal authority of the papish, or sultan, spiritual head of Mohammedanism, he may call upon the Moslems of the world to take up arms against their Christian rulers. This would be an extremely serious thing for Russia, with her hordes of Mussulman subjects, and for Great Britain, with her millions of Mohammedans in India and elsewhere. Hindustan is already seething with unrest, and the addition of the flames of religious hatred might cause the pot to boil over, bringing on another Indian mutiny.

Even the United States, which has Mohammedan subjects in the Philippines might feel the tidal wave of trouble which would sweep around the world. While the temporal power of Constantinople has increased, the commands the religious allegiance of Mohammedans in all parts—of the world.

1908, when Bulgaria declared her independence of Turkey and Austria-Hungary started Europe and the rest of the world by gobbling up the Turkish provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina. Some of the Balkan states saw in the action of the dual monarchy a menace to their own existence, and feared the loss of their autonomy, gained with pain and anguish from Turkey. But Europe acquiesced in the action of Franz Josef's government and the war talk quieted down. None of the Balkan states was strong enough by itself to pick up the gauntlet, and there was at that time no possibility of a coalition. So Austria guided two important provinces simply by the process of stretching out her hand and telling the impotent Turkish government, torn by internal troubles, that it might do as it pleased about the action.

Lightning From the "War Cloud"

That was four years ago. Last year came the Italo-Turkish war over Tripoli, drizzled along until recently with no important actions. The rest of the world had almost forgotten that men were fighting and dying on the African sands in a struggle that threatened to be interminable. Peace negotiations had hardly begun before the old "war cloud in the Balkans," this time a war cloud with no silver lining, began to spread out the lightning of real conflict. Before the world knew it Montenegro and Turkish soldiers were exchanging shots across the border.

This year's Balkan trouble came to a head in August, when Turkish troops attacked and massacred the inhabitants of Bulgarian villages. There were the usual reports of men, women and children butchered by the Turkish soldiery, of burnings and lootings. The great nations have heard so many of these reports in recent decades and have let them go unheeded. But little Montenegro, animated either by desire to avenge the slaughtered or by a national yearning for expansion, or by both, occupied Turkish territory and fighting ensued.

Behind Montenegro, that little country that is hardly more than a speck on the map, stands Russia, with encouragement that is called secret, and behind Russia is the incredible force of the desire to force the Ottoman back into Asia, whence they came at the end of the fourteenth century to conquer Serbia and establish themselves in Europe. They had already seized Adrianople, in 1361, and made it their capital.

All Former Turkish Provinces

Turkey stands now ringed around with Christian powers, most of whom it held in subjection at one time or other in the four centuries and a half that have elapsed since Mohammed II, and his terrible Mussulman warriors crashed through the walls of Byzantium, the city that was the last remnant of the Roman empire. For centuries Turkey held in subjection the Christian folk within her European empire and defied the Christian powers to set them free. But the power of the present vane with the centuries, and misgovernment and corruption displaced the strong centralized government founded by Mohammed and his able successors.

For at least two centuries Europe has been hoping and plotting for the time when concerted action would make possible the forcing back of the Ottomans beyond the Dardanelles. It may be that the hour has struck now and that the taking of Asia and Herzegovina by Austria-Hungary, the virtual freedom of Egypt and the occupation of Tripoli by Italy mean the realization of the dream.

Were it not for the fact that the same hour which ushers in the freedom of the Balkans from the presence of the Turk will probably mean the inauguration of a reign of jealousy and strife among the Balkan powers it would be a consummation devoutly to be desired. Macedonia is soaked in the blood of Christians massacred by Turkish troops with the connivance or open approval of the authorities, and other European and Asiatic Christians have felt the bitter weight of the "Turkish yoke." They are not angels by any means, these Macedonian victims of Turkish misgovernment; they are turbulent, unruly, vindictive, passionate and given to murder as an ordinary pastime, but they are, after all, coreligionists of the people of the great powers, and they deserve a better fate than massacre for their religious belief.

Likelihood of European Mixup

As to the probable outcome of war in the Balkans between Serbia, Bulgaria, Montenegro and Greece, united in spite of their mutual jealousies, on the one hand, and Turkey on the other, not much can be gathered from the experiences of the past. There is and has been too much likelihood of the European powers becoming mixed in friendly or hostile fashion with those of other great powers or with the weapons of the states directly interested.

It must not be forgotten that the paw of the "bear which walks like a man" is extended in the direction of Constantinople and that Russian troops would like nothing better than to hear the Orthodox mass intoned in the ancient church, now the mosque, of St. Sophia. There is that old, possibly mythical tale of Peter the Great, which, according to legend or authentic history, bids his descendants not to sleep in peace until the Russian might sit enthroned by the Dardanelles.

One thing about a Balkan war may be stated with surety. That is that the Turk is a mighty good fighter and yields only when he is overwhelmed. This is true individually and collectively of the Ottoman warriors. They proved their fighting qualities and their generals displayed their abilities in the war against Russia in 1877-8 and in the brief, almost ridiculous way in which they disposed of Greece in 1897.

Russian homes still mourn the thousands who battered themselves to pieces against the walls of Plevna, and the Greeks know from bitter experience that an expedition against the Turks is just the reverse of a picnic. Italy has recently evinced decided respect for the fighters able to withstand her in the African sands. All Europe, in short, knows that as a military power Turkey is far from being decadent, however it may be with her in other points of civilization.

It is this which has given pause to Europe when thoughts of taking vengeance for Christians massacred in Asia Minor and European Turkey were in the air. It was this which nullified the efforts of Gladstone thundering in British mass meetings against the "great assassin." Turkey has been dubbed "the sick man of Europe," but never, he has shown great and enduring vitality.

More Than 1,000,000 Fighters
A nation which can put into the field

1,175,000 fighters, brave and fanatical, is not to be despised. Military critics have said that if Italian territory bordered on Turkish and that if Italy's navy did not command the seas between the two countries the tale of the war would probably bear an entirely different complexion. Man for man, the Turkish soldier is as good as the best Europe can show, and military genius is not lacking among the descendants of the men who conquered

POLICE COURT SESSION

Case of Threatening Occupied Judge Enright

The greater part of this morning's session of the police court was taken up with the hearing of the case of Joseph Perry charged with threatening Anton Travers. Court did not open until about 10:30 o'clock because of the numerous cases brought before Judge Enright in the juvenile session.

Anton Travers, the complainant, testified that he resides in Central street and was in the yard when Perry entered his house about 5:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Witness went into the house a few minutes later and upon hearing Perry using obscene language ordered him out of the house. Perry refused to leave whereupon he was ejected by two men. Travers said that after Perry had been put out of the house he drew a knife and said to the witness: "I will stick this knife into you."

Two other witnesses corroborated the testimony offered by the complainant.

Joseph Perry, the defendant, who resides in Elm street and is employed at the new car shops of the Boston & Maine railroad at Billerica, said he went to the complainant's house to visit his (Perry's) cousin. He admitted that he had been drinking during the day. He spoke to one of the women in the house and she used a vile epithet, whereupon Travers ordered him out of the house and he was later ejected by two men. He denied that he threw a knife, although he had a jack-knife in his pocket at the time.

The court found the defendant guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $15. Daniel J. Donahue appeared for the government and the defendant was represented by J. Joseph O'Connor.

Refused to Testify

Sarah Reay called at the office of the clerk of the court yesterday and complained that her husband, James Reay, had assaulted her. After giving her version of the alleged assault a warrant was issued and later Reay was arrested.

In court this morning Mrs. Reay said she did not want to testify against her husband and was sorry that she had made the complaint.

Judge Enright ordered that the case be dismissed.

Drunken Offenders

Stephen Foley when asked to plead to a complaint charging him with being drunk answered: "Guilty," and added: "If I wasn't drunk I wouldn't be here."

Foley was arrested in the vicinity of lower Middlesex street about 11:20 o'clock last night by Corporation Officer Briggs, but the latter had no complaint to make other than that of drunkenness.

"Where do you belong?" asked the court. "Concord, Mass.," answered the defendant. "I was never here in my life before."

"I hope I will not."

The court then imposed a fine of $2.

Charles J. Kennedy pleaded guilty to having been drunk in Braut. His case was continued till tomorrow.

Matthew J. Moore was sentenced to three months in jail, there was one first offender who was fined $2 and one simple drunk was released.

MAYOR JAS. E. O'DONNELL

Receives Inquiries About Working of Charter

Mayor O'Donnell has received a communication from R. M. Hitch, secretary of the Commission Government League of Savannah, Ga., that is inquisitive. The following questions are contained in the letter:

"What causes induced your community to adopt commission government?"

"Has commission form of government proven more or less efficient than the former system?"

"How long has the commission form of government been in operation in your city?"

"Has it given greater or less result to the people for the tax expended?"

"Would your people be willing to go back to the former system?"

The city of Savannah is soon to vote for or against the adoption of a new form of government.

THE HIGH TARIFF FALLACY EXPOSED

Congressman Redfield who is accounted one of the most prominent manufacturers in the United States is taking an active part in this campaign in support of the democratic ticket. He was to speak in this city last Tuesday night but was held in Lawrence until it was too late to make the journey over the road.

But Mr. Redfield's views on the tariff are of special interest so widely do they differ from those of republican manufacturers who seem to think that without a high tariff their business would soon collapse.

Mr. Redfield shows that the industries that are unprotected pay the highest wages and have the largest export trade. The average duty on cottons is 36 per cent, and on woollens 90 per cent., yet these industries pay the lowest wages of any in New England and the republicans say that the high tariff is a protection to labor. Side by side with this is the shoe industry which pays almost the highest average wage. American woollens find but a small market abroad, though made at a low wage and under high protection. American shoes are found all over the world though made at a high wage and with little or no protection.

Here is a statement from Congressman Redfield that should be deeply impressed upon the minds of the textile manufacturers of New England:

One does not question the technical skill or executive ability of our great textile managers, but one may fairly judge by their results that they have not yet learned to operate their industries in accordance with the fundamental laws of human nature. They cry for high protection and they pay the lowest wages in the land. They cry that they cannot compete with Europe and instead of operating under the American plan of highly paid, well treated and well equipped labor, they try to beat Europe at its own game of low wages, and naturally fail.

There are exceptions. There are, it is a good thing to know, textile mills even that have through years patiently tried to develop on a sound basis the loyal support of a well-paid, well treated and well equipped and well managed force and while those mills do not exploit this to the public eye, they prosper and are glad. Two of them to my knowledge are quite indifferent to tariff changes for they feel secure in their ability to compete.

Here is an argument against the high protection and cheap labor that should be taken to heart by the cotton and woolen manufacturers in New England who try to keep down wages and feel that but for the high tariff they could not do business. It is a proof that if they had more skilled and better paid help they could defy the world in competition. Had the republicans allowed the cotton and woolen tariff bills to pass the reduction would have benefited both industries. Thus the democratic contention in regard to the tariff is borne out for Congressman Redfield shows that steel rails are sold in Europe and Asia, that American locomotives operate the railways of Japan, that the newspapers of Rio are printed on American presses and the columns set on Linotype machines of American manufacture. Engines made in America operate machinery in Java, the cotton gins used in Turkey are made in Texas while American stationery, soap and toilet articles, he says, are found all around the globe. It is as Mr. Redfield contends too late to raise the cry of foreign competition when we ourselves are the chief menace to these competitors in their own fields. These are but a few of the proofs that might be adduced to prove the fallacy of the high tariff idea but it is favored as a special privilege for certain industries in this country because it enables them to rob the people and that is practically what they have been doing for the past twenty years. The people can bring about the desired change by electing the democratic ticket on November 5 and placing Governor Wilson at the head of the government for the next four years.

GOLDEN AGAINST THE I. W. W.

Not only the branches of the American Federation of labor and other labor unions, but the wage workers and manufacturing corporations as well, will deeply appreciate the scathing denunciation of the I. W. W. leaders made by John Golden at the convention of the United Textile Workers of America in Boston Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Golden has been a close observer of the methods adopted by the I. W. W. leaders and his opinions expressed but the general sentiment among those who have studied the methods adopted by the organization in question. It is gratifying to know that a man so prominent as a leader in the textile organizations of this country should take such a pronounced stand against this new form of promoting industrial strife apparently for the purpose of spreading revolutionary ideas and overthrowing the wage system for the application of socialistic theories.

Mr. Golden is not the only labor man who has noticed the luxurious manner in which the leaders of the I. W. W. enjoy themselves at the finest hotels while promoting strikes in which thousands of people including a large proportion of women and children are driven to the point of starvation. It seems that the chief thing necessary to check the progress of the I. W. W. in paralyzing the industries of New England is the education of the public as to the real motives and tendencies of this new organization. The conservative operatives who believe in the American form of government, who are loyal to the constitution and the flag will have nothing to do with the I. W. W. Furthermore, since the display of the anarchistic flag by this organization in the city of Lawrence it may as well be plainly stated that membership in this organization will hereafter be regarded as proof of disloyalty to the institutions of this country and adherence to revolutionary ideas such as are advocated by the leaders of the I. W. W. including syndicalism, sabotage and direct action which means the declaration of a labor strike and negotiation afterward.

Mr. Golden claims that the United Textile Workers settled the Lawrence strike for the benefit of all concerned while the I. W. W. leaders were sending out appeals for funds and laboring to prolong the struggle although thousands were at the point of starvation.

PLACING THE BLAME

For some time past some of the leaders of the republican campaign in this state, and Charles S. Bird, the Ball Moose nominee for governor, have been challenging Gov. Fox to call a special session of the legislature for the purpose of passing a senatorial primary law by which to select United States senators. The governor comes back at them with overwhelming force when he shows he advocated this measure in a message to the legislature and that the republicans in that body prevented its enactment. The statement issued by the governor says: "the fact that we have no provision for the expression of popular preference for senator remains as the direct fault of the republican forces in the state, including Mr. Hale and Mr. Bird and the governor declines to take from their shoulders this burden of responsibility which they are now so eager to cast off on the eve of election."

The governor advocated a primary election law for this purpose in his inaugural address of 1911, again in 1912 and in a special message on May 9 and June 12 of this year. The failure of the legislature to pass the measure is, therefore, with all fairness laid at the door of the republican leaders who are now endeavoring to blame the governor because such a law has not been enacted.

The Rogers Hall school is to be congratulated upon the opening of such a splendid gymnasium. During their years of study young ladies may be greatly benefited by a well directed course of gymnastics without, however, any attempt to make them expert athletes or to carry the exercises so far as to interfere with study.

The voters of Lowell, we believe, are intelligent enough to know when anybody attempts to throw dust in their eyes to blind them as to the real issues. Look out for the man who adopts this policy. He is not to be trusted as a representative of the people.

THE LINGERIE WAISTS BRIGHTEN OLD SUITS

How to Launder Them at Small Expense

Some Ideas That Will Prove Valuable

Some of the lingerie waists are so simple this season that laundering them at home is by no means a difficult matter, and it one only has the time to spare for it there will surely be a saving of money, as laundry bills have an unpleasant habit of mounting up.

To wash, lay the blouse in warm water made sudsy with good white soap and a little borax. If the waist is much soiled let it stay in this water overnight. Next morning squeeze it out and wash in warm suds, lifting the waist up and down in the water, but never rubbing it. Soap should never be rubbed on fine material, because doing so thickens the threads and makes the material look coarse.

When clean rinse in warm water, then in cold. If the blouse looks yellow use a few drops (a very few) of liquid bluing.

Starch should be used only in the smallest quantity. Mix a tablespoonful of raw starch in a little cold water and pour on boiling water until it becomes the consistency of cream. Pass the blouse through this and squeeze.

Next lay on a clean towel and roll up. Leave for some hours and then take out the waist. Shake it well, and if still wet hang up until only damp. Have good hot irons and see that they are perfectly clean. Use good mat and, if necessary, emery paper. Any bits of black on the irons will surely be transferred to the blouse, as most amateur laundresses know.

Embroidery and lace are ironed on the wrong side. To iron the blouse, first do the collar and cuffs, next the sleeves. The backs come next in order and the fronts last.

If the blouse is made of delicate color or white combined with a color, a few drops of ammonia should be added to the last rinsing water. That will restore any color that may have "come out in the wash." Very hot irons will destroy the color even more than soap and water, so take care that they are only of medium heat. Should the color change when ironing do not be alarmed for there is nothing wrong.

It is because oil has been used in the manufacture of the coloring, and when this has dried out after ironing the original color will be found. Some people think the change means scorching, but this is not so. Should, however, one be so unfortunate as to scorch the blouse raw starch mixed into a paste should be laid on the spot and the waist exposed to the sun.

All colored material will have a better finish if ironed on the wrong side of the fabric.

If the colored material is washed for the first time it should be laid in salt and water or vinegar and water for 20 minutes. The former is used for pink and blue shades and the latter for green and mauve.

The proportions are a handful of salt or a half teaspoonful of vinegar to a gallon of cold water. Thin flannel blouses require the utmost care in washing.

They should never be allowed to soak over five minutes, and soap should never be used directly upon them. Neither must the water be too hot. All these cause shrinkage, but the greatest damage is done by rubbing soap on the flannel.

Fashion Wrinkle

Masterly blue? The color of the "Bluebird," of course, and a beautiful shade. It is a very pretty gown of blue and white striped crape, with borders and buttons of plain blue satin in the soft, pure blue of the "happiness" bird's wings, is very smart. The beautiful allegorical play has furnished a name for one of the season's most charming hues.

This is the time of year when the old tailored suit that you are probably going to wear until you buy a new one later on in the season may take on an air of rejuvenation by the aid of well chosen accessories.

One of the best of these "aids" is found in a hat, bon and muff set named in Paris the châleuse because of its ecclesiastical associations. The hat is a French plush affair shaped like the shiny heaver worn on the continent by the priests. The wrap which accompanies this clever little hat hangs straight from the shoulders in stolid lines, but only in the back, again an ecclesiastical idea. The same straight effects are reproduced in the muff. All of these pieces are in black plush, but the otherwise somber effect is lightened by the sprays of roses which decorate all three. These roses are in the soft shadings of the Marabout Niel, which is now more popular than the American Beauty. The linings, soft, luxurious and alluring, harmonize with the shadings of the flowers.

Boas of plumed chiffon are often topped with a collar of satin suggesting the lines of the Robespierre. A collar of the new flame red satin will boast a ruche of chiffon in a creamy tint or one of purple will be surrounded by a deep capelle collar of chiffon, perhaps outlined with a purple thread. None of the chiffon or maline collars is as popular as one of marabou or ostrich plumes.

There are deliciously becoming sets of soft brown marabou with long, fluffy tails of the marabou, matched with muffs, and if desired toques of the same. Even more in demand are the boas of black and white ostrich feathers curled very tightly. The black streaks among the white give a certain distinction to these boas, which make them smarter than the all white or the all black.

Some of these new styles fit closely to the neck; others give the idea of the cape, extending well over the shoulders, while still others take on the use of the scarf.

Costume of Braided Velvet

Braid is immensely fashionable this season, and on dressy velvet suits it is particularly good as a trimming motif. The suit illustrated is of the

Kitchen Wisdom

Stains may be removed from the zinc tops of kitchen tables with vinegar.

When making baked or boiled custard the milk to be used should be scalded and set aside to cool. Then make a custard in the ordinary way and it will be perfectly smooth.

Some cooks always add a little lemon to mashed turnips, while others dredge in a little flour before seasoning. When the turnips are large they will have a more delicate flavor if the water is changed at least once during the boiling.

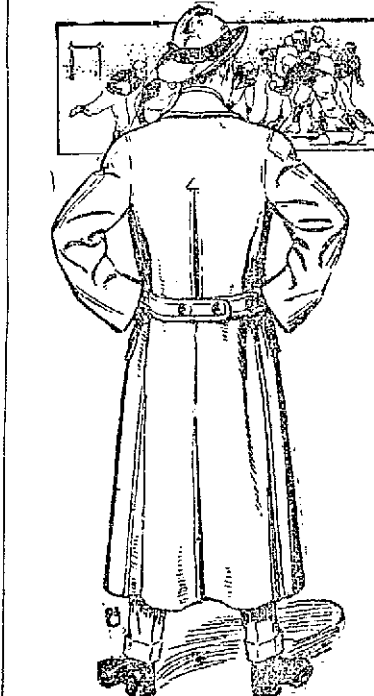

Keeping clothes props in one place where they can always be found in good condition on washing days is easily accomplished by fastening two loops of stout cord or leather against the wall of the house somewhere near the laundry, one placed high, the other low. Through these loops slide the poles as soon as they are no longer needed.

The following letter was received yesterday by Mr. George Gouzeles of this city, one of the general directors of the Pan-Hellenic union, and it was then that the movement of a mass meeting was started:

New York, Oct. 19, 1912.

Dear Sir or Madam:—The common sense of the people of Greece and Turkey the demands upon the Greek Red Cross, heavily taxed already by the general mobilization of the army, are daily growing larger and the society is becoming dependent to a very great extent upon the aid of those who sympathize with the sufferers in this inevitable struggle.

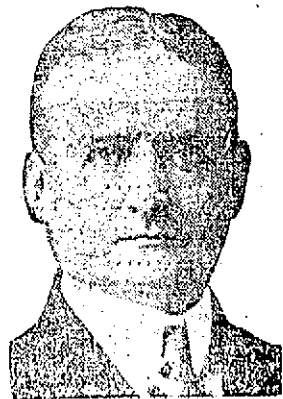

At the request of the governing body of the Greek Red Cross in Athens we make an earnest appeal to the generosity of the people of the United States to send us contributions to enable us to strengthen the important and arduous labors of the Red Cross, and to assure its continuance. Small or large sums will be equally thankfully received. Every dollar helps. Every contribution will be acknowledged by our treasurer, Mr. A. P. Ralli, care Ralli Bros., 15 William street, New York city, to whom kind senders to our fund are requested to forward their remittance. Yours respectfully,

D. N. Botassi, Consul-General of Greece, Chairman.
C. Papamichailopoulos, Manager Pan-Hellenic Union.
A. P. Ralli, Treasurer and Secretary of Committee.

More Greeks Depart
About 50 Greeks arrived in this city yesterday, coming from Minneapolis, Minn., to pay a visit to their Lowell friends before returning to Greece, where they will join their regiments, being all in the reservist class. The party is expected will leave to-night for New York with a small number of local Greeks.

A group of 50 local Greeks left this city yesterday for their mother land, 41 going at 6 o'clock, while the other 12 went on the midnight train. They all went to New York from where they sailed today on the steamship "Patrie" of the French line will sail to-ing.

The next direct sail to Greece will be made by the "Athens" of the Greek line, which will sail from New York on Nov. 9. The steamship "La Touraine" of the French line will sail to-ing.

THE BULGARIANS AND THE TURKS

LONDON, Oct. 25.—The Bulgarian and Greek armies have carried out successfully their part of the first stage of the war waged by the Balkan states against Turkey by the capture of Kirk Kilisseh and the Turkish base in the town of Servia. Their allies, Montenegro and Servia, are now working desperately to do their share by overcoming the Turkish hosts at Scutari and Kumanova, which later is the key to Uskuh.

Details of a great battle between the Bulgarians and the Turks at Kilisseh are still lacking. It is believed the Bulgarians expected the fortress to hold out longer, and its quick fall is considered by them a great achievement.

The visitors now expect to cut the communications between Adrianople and Constantinople and to take the former city. That, however, will be the opinion of military experts, be a difficult task as the forts of Adrianople are thoroughly up to date and are connected by an underground military railway line. The Bulgarians secured a lot of guns, food, and ammunition at Kirk Kilisseh, but particulars on this point as well as of the number of the prisoners of war have not yet been given out.

Even after the fortress was overcome by the fire of the Bulgarian artillery, fierce fighting took place in the streets of the town into which the Bulgarians effected their entry from the lower part.

A special despatch from Stara Zagora today says the battle was waged from street to street every foot of the ground being obstinately contested.

The Turks on their part declare that the evacuation of Kirk Kilisseh was a "strategical retirement," a phrase which became familiar during the Russian retreat in Manchuria. They still have a big army at Adrianople and along the line to Constantinople and if, as the Bulgarians say, only 50,000 Asiatic troops have so far reached the theatre of war the Turks have strong reinforcements coming up.

The crown prince of Greece has formally entered the town of Servia from which his army drove the Turks and that city is getting ready to welcome the king of Greece, who is on his way there.

The Montenegrins are still hammering at Tarnobosk and Scutari. At the continued to last place.

VERDICT FOR THE DEFENDANT

Suit Was Brought Against the Boston Elevated Company for Injuries Received

The case of Francis Callahan of Boston against the Boston Elevated Company, which was called in superior court yesterday afternoon and completed this morning the jury returned a verdict for the defendant. The case was one of the quickest tried at this session being called late yesterday afternoon and finished before noon today.

The plaintiff sought to recover damages to a team, caused by a collision of his horses with a wagon-load of ice and a car of the defendant company, which occurred in Cambridge. The plaintiff claimed that the motor-car of the car was not exercising due care at the time of the accident, charging that he was driving his car at a fast rate of speed down a steep incline. He claimed that he looked before he attempted to cross the tracks, but saw no car. The car came upon him, and struck the rear wheel of his wagon, with the result that the vehicle turned turtle, and one of the horses was thrown under the truck.

The defense claimed that the driver of the team was not using reasonable care at the time of the accident, and the witnesses for the company testified that the moonman did all in his power to avert the accident. The testimony was all in shortly after the opening of court this morning, and then the arguments were made. The case was given to the jury shortly before noon, and after being out but a short time the jury returned with a verdict for the defendant.

The case of Rose B. Flanders vs. James E. Sharkey, both of Somerville, was next called. The defendant is charged with a paternal offense. Lawyer L. Makepeace appears for the plaintiff and W. J. Shawhan is counsel for the defendant. This case occupied the entire afternoon session.

In the case of Patrick McNulty vs. the Eastern Concrete Construction Co., the jury late yesterday returned a verdict for the defendant.

Massed Picketing
LITTLE FALLS, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Massed picketing was done today by the strikers at the various knitting mills under the big red banners of the Industrial Workers of the World. It was the first public appearance of members of the I. W. W. in this city. Many placards were carried by the marchers.

They read: "Every American girl helps boss to starve the Polish, Italian and Slav babies, shame!" More bread for the workers, less booze for the bosses!" "Remember Lawrence, scabs take notice; we are going to win."

Iroquois Canoe Club
The members of the Iroquois Canoe club were tendered a dinner at the Chin Lee Co.'s restaurant in Merrimack street last night by David Dwyer, a fellow member and well known letter carrier, who will soon join the beneficiaries.

An excellent menu was discussed and after the dinner was satisfied Mr. Walter Jewett, acting as toastmaster, congratulated Mr. Dwyer and on behalf of the members of the club thanked him for the repast and wished him every success.

Speeches were also made by Messrs. William C. Grant, Arthur Bolton, Geo. Boucher and John H. McClure, eqs.

The Misses Tilly Costello, May Green, Bridget Wynne, Josie Murphy, Rose Matthews, Julia Sullivan, Ethel Duggan, Rose Cunnion and Mary Matthews spent a pleasant time Thursday evening at the playhouse, after which they enjoyed a lobster supper.

They Had Used Dynamite to Effect Entrance Into an Establishment

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—A trail of blood leading from the roof of a 12-story loft building in West 126th street, where dynamite had been used to effect an entrance to the fur establishment on the top floor, led to the capture today of two men who had been shot and wounded by a patrolman stationed on the roof of a loft building adjoining. The prisoners were charged with stealing cloaks and neck pieces valued at $18,000. Both are young men. Their wounds are not serious.

LOWELL ATTORNEY WON

Scored Victory in Court in New Haven

An interesting case was tried in the United States circuit court at New Haven last week in which a Lowell attorney won an important verdict.

The case resulted from a suit brought against the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, for the death of Charles J. Murphy, who was killed near Norwiche, Conn., April 2, 1910. The suit was brought under the act of congress, approved by Pres. Roosevelt, on April 22, 1910, which gives to persons injured in the operation of interstate railroads, or their legal representatives, damages without regard to the fellow servant rule, or contributory negligence as defenses. Under this bill if the jury finds as a fact that the railroad was negligent in the operation of its interstate train, the usual defense of contributory negligence, which is generally fatal to recovery, can only be set up for the reduction or in mitigation of damages.

The question of the constitutionality of this bill was taken to the supreme court of the United States by the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R. and in February last a decision was handed down in which the court held the bill to be constitutional.

The case of Murphy vs. the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R. was then pushed forward for a hearing by James Stuart Murphy, of this city, counsel for the plaintiff and it was tried at New Haven last week before Justice Julius M. Mayer of New York. Mr. Murphy had associated with him, Donald G. Perkins, Esq., of Norwiche, Conn. The closing argument was made by the Lowell attorney and the jury after being out nearly two hours, returned a verdict of $10,000 for the plaintiff.

Justice Mayer in his charge to the jury, instructed them to first find if the defendant corporation was guilty of negligence and second if they did so find, to assess the damages without reference to any contributory negligence on the part of the deceased. Third, if they found as a fact that the deceased was guilty of contributory negligence, then to assess the value of such negligence and subtract the amount from the damages assessed for the value of the life of deceased. The HAVERHILL, Oct. 25.—Men and women prominently engaged in charity work were among the delegates to the ninth Massachusetts state conference on charities here today. Child life in the industrial community was the subject discussed at the opening session when Miss Helen A. Woods of the Children's Friend society, Worcester, presided. Other speakers were Miss Mary Boyle, O'Reilly of Boston on New Hampshire; Mrs. Edward Clement of Boston on "Standardizing the Moving Picture Theatre" and J. Prentice Murphy, general secretary of the Boston Children's Aid society on "Good Standards of Placing Children in Individual Family Homes." Rev. Levi Powers of Haverhill was chairman of the session which considered "The Needs of Families." There were addresses by John F. Moore of the Associated Charities, Boston, on "The Use of Social Forces in the Community" and by Miss Laura E. Gilman of the Associated Charities, Pittsfield, on "The Enlistment of New Workers."

THE LOWELL ELKS ARE BUSY

Several Important Events Are on the Program—Secretary Cull on the Hustle

The local lodge of Elks, which is among the foremost fraternal organizations in this city, is making great progress towards the establishment of a permanent home here. In many of the other cities, the Elks have homes of their own, and some of the lodge rooms are among the best structures in the country. At the present time there is a large sum in the treasury for the purpose of erecting a building, that will not only be a credit to the lodge but also to the city of Lowell.

Plans for the annual ball of the order in aid of the building fund are well under way, and the prospects are very encouraging for this year's event to be one of the most successful in the history of the organization. The lodge was instituted on April 10, 1888, and since that time, many social functions have been conducted under their able and efficient management. Each year the organization has increased its membership and each year the returns have been augmented. These facts argue well for any organization, and are also responsible for the expectation that the ball of this season will bring larger returns than any previously held.

New Feature

Owing to the large increase in the membership and the great of business attached to the order, it was deemed advisable at the last meeting to set aside a room for an office for the secretary and board of directors of the lodge. This has been done, and while the remodeling is not yet finished the room is a most beautiful apartment and a very useful acquisition to the organization.

It was also decided to have the office open daily, and henceforth Secretary Cull will be at the office during the day. One of the most important furnishings in the office is an addressograph. The latter is one of two in this city. The other is in the office of the Masons.

Another device conspicuous in the office is known as the "Crown Press," which is used for postal card communi-received a number of compliments from the grand lodge office for the excellent appearance of his books and reports. He has held the office for several years, and it's one of the most popular "jobs" in the order. He will also be remembered as the secretary of the Lowell Baseball club, and to him much credit is due for the systematic manner in which both offices are conducted.

CONGRESSMAN WEEKS

Denies Stories About Express Lobby

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—Congressman John Weeks denied before a meeting of the Postoffice Superintendents' Association last evening at the Brunswick hotel that "four reasons" in the form of the express companies, had hindered delivery of the mail. "I have never seen any evidence of it," he said, "during my service in congress. No one has ever come into my office about postoffice business whom I thought had any connection with the express companies, as some urged before our committee. We should have been obliged to put their 70,000 employees in the classified service, probably entailing an expense of $25,000,000 for increased salaries. And as the profits of the companies are about that sum, no reduction of rates could have been made.

"The demand that parcels be carried at all distances for a flat rate will be insisted. But the government couldn't compete under those conditions, as the express companies would take all the local, profitable business and leave the long-distance, unprofitable business to the parcels post."

Bank Directors Act

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—A petition for leave to accept an offer of $2000 made by one of the directors of the Acushnet Cooperative bank of New Bedford, in settlement of responsibility arising from the loss of $28,000 to the bank through the alleged misconduct of its former treasurer, Edgar Lord, was filed by Bank Commissioner Thorndike in the supreme judicial court yesterday.

Mr. Thorndike has been in charge of the bank's affairs since Aug. 25, Lord, who was treasurer of both the New Bedford and Acushnet Cooperative banks is held on a charge of embezzlement.

MANY PEOPLE WERE KILLED

Several Hundred Shots Fired in Battle Between Conservatives and Liberals

HAVANA, Oct. 25.—A brisk battle between conservatives and liberals, ending which several hundred shots were fired and a number of people were killed and wounded, broke out after midnight in Central park in the heart of the city at the close of an immense outdoor meeting of supporters of Vice President Alfredo Zayas, who is a candidate for the presidency.

The meeting was conducted peacefully until the last speaker, assigned the platform by a number of shots were fired, apparently by a group of conservatives gathered in front of a hotel.

For ten minutes the firing was so brisk as to resemble the battle of machine guns.

Several forces of mounted police and cavalry, charged repeatedly with drawn sabres and firing rifles. The mob returned the firing from windows and balconies.

Reinforcements of police, rural guards and soldiers arrived and the mob which was then composed of adherents of both parties was gradually dispersed. Afterward the park was occupied by a strong force of cavalry for the remainder of the night.

The total of the wounded, which included two women, was about 40, of whom several were fatally hurt.

The fronts of the hotels and cafes facing the park were riddled with bullets. Immediately after the firing had ceased the police raided the Asberg club in search for weapons.

Another raiding party by the conservatives in an adjoining thoroughfare in the city, also ended in a riot during which many shots were fired. One version of the start of the riot in Central park is that the firing was begun by conservatives returning from their meeting who were exasperated by an attack on them there.

The city is quiet this morning but several detachments of police and rural guards are on duty. Political excitement runs high, the two factions mutually accusing one another of beginning the riot and both threatening to renew hostilities.

Shot to Death
VERA CRUZ, Mexico, Oct. 25.—Two of the captured officers of the staff of Felix Diaz were shot by the federal troops at half-past ten last evening after being sentenced to death by summary court-martial.

The court-martial began its session at 5 p. m. and its judgments must be delivered and the verdict into effect within 72 hours from the time of the meeting.

Major Fernando Zarate and Major Julian Villas are pleading on behalf of Diaz, who according to military law is liable to imprisonment for a term of three to eight years.

Public opinion against Diaz, however, is so strong that it is thought a sentence of death may be pronounced on him as well as on all the officers and government officials who joined his cause and were captured. The troops, however, who rebelled with him will in all likelihood not be punished.

Some of the volunteers who joined Diaz belonged to the leading families of the city. These will be sentenced to short terms of imprisonment when captured but many of them have escaped to the country.

The garrison of Vera Cruz consists of 2,500 men of all branches of the service. The city is quiet and business has been generally resumed.

Miss Snider Sponsor
QUINCY, Oct. 25.—A splendid addition to the American merchant marine will be made Saturday morning when the steamship Frieda will be launched.

The Frieda is built for the Union Sulphur company of New York and is named for a daughter of Hermann Frasch of that city, president of the company.

The Frieda will be launched at 11 and will be christened by Miss Addie H. Salder of New York, a student at the Weston college, Norton, Mass. It is expected the Frieda will be placed in commission late in November.

The Frieda is 315 feet in length and of 5,000 tons deadweight on a moderate draft. The vessel is of the single deck, poop, bridge and forecastle type, with propelling machinery installed aft and is rigged with three-masted masts, the fore and main having derricks and cargo discharging gear.

The equipment includes a submarine signal, wireless telegraph installation and night signal and a peridyrometer for the automatic weighing of the cargo.

Fatally Wounded
BINGHAM, Utah, Oct. 25.—Deputy Sheriff L. J. Tidwell was shot in the breast and perhaps fatally wounded, Fred Harmon, tram foreman, was shot in the arm and two Greek miners wounded in a fight between officers and Greek strike pickets when operations by the United States mine tramway were resumed today.

Cut Prices on Medicines, Drugs and Toilet Articles

WHEN RIKER-JAYNES opens a store in a city it means down go the prices on medicines, toilet articles and drugs, and up goes the quality. Why? Because we are following out our principle established years ago to sell everything at 33 1-3 per cent. to 50 per cent. discount. When C. P. Jaynes started the first Jaynes Drug Store (now the Riker-Jaynes Drug Store) he established a reputation for selling medicines one-third lower than retail prices. Jaynes built up a wonderful following with this policy. We always have and we always will continue this policy. We are always figuring how low we can sell these articles and are always trying to buy in larger quantities so we can sell even lower. The public knows we always sell low—other stores know it—and sometimes they advertise to meet our prices and even undersell them for an hour or so. What is the result? Some people go to these sales and the salesman says the articles advertised have just been sold. Then back they come to us. The public knows that we have always sold, are now selling and always will sell medicine, drugs and toilet articles at the very lowest prices, and that the quality of our goods will always be the highest.

Here is a list of patent medicines, drugs and toilet articles. Look at our selling prices and compare them to the regular prices. It's the Riker-Jaynes policy that has kept these prices down. If it wasn't for Riker-Jaynes, other stores wouldn't be vainly trying to meet our cut prices. When everything else has been going up, Riker has kept prices on drugs going down. Always remember this and encourage this policy by buying from us. It's the big volume of business we do that enables us to buy so cheap, and your trade added to the trade of others enables us to give even bigger orders to the wholesaler and manufacturer and consequently give lower prices to you.

SOLEMN SERVICE HELD

Funeral of the Late Owen J. Carney

The funeral of Owen J. Carney, whose death was due to injury received in an automobile accident in Billerica last Saturday night, took place this forenoon from his home at 44 Highland street. It was one of the largest funeral corteges that ever passed through the streets of Lowell.

There was a solemn high mass of requiem celebrated at St. Peter's church at 9 o'clock and the church was well filled with the relatives and friends of the departed.

The celebrant of the mass was Rev. John Burns. Rev. Daniel Keleher was deacon and Rev. W. George Mullin sub-deacon. The choir, under the direction of Mr. James E. Donnelly, sang the Gregorian mass. At the offertory Miss Keleher sang "O Meritum Passionis," and, after the elevation, James E. Donnelly sang. The solo in the Libera was sustained by John J. Dalton. The choir rendered "In Paradisum" at the conclusion of the mass, and as the remains were borne from the church "Da Profundis" was sung. Mr. Edward P. Shea sustained the solos. Mrs. McKennedy presided at the organ.

There was a large number of out-of-town people in attendance. They came from Boston, New York, Philadelphia and other places, and there were delegations from the Y.M.C.A. of Fred H. Bourke, John J. Lee, F. A. Mallory, W. J. Murphy, James Horsfall and J. J. Duff. From the Alpines were Frank Merron, Henry Quirbach and John O'Hara. The bearers were Rudolph Wolf, John C. McLaughlin, Thomas Hustwick, Dr. Thomas Carr, Major Robert J. Crowley, James Hearn, Michael Gookin and John McDougall. The ushers at the house and church were Capt. Connors, Roger Laug, Dr. J. B. O'Connor, Charles D. Puige and J. Joseph Hennessy, Esq.

The scene at the home of the deceased in Highland street was one of flowers and sorrow. The rose and the lily perfumed the room where sorrow reigned and where a good man was wrapped in silent slumber.

It would be almost impossible to publish a complete list of flowers, so generous were the offerings and the following list was taken at random:

Mammoth pillow inscribed "Husband and Father," from family; mammoth cross on base inscribed "Owen," James E. McCarthy and family; wreath on base, Thomas F. Hoban and Edward J. Campaign Notes

Every voter in Massachusetts who is in doubt as to how he is going to vote on election day should visit Boston during the coming week and view the tariff chamber of horrors located on Summer street. There will be a number of rooms fully furnished, such as a small family would commonly use and each article of furniture will be labeled with its price and the tariff tax which shows why the price is so high. There will also be a collection of American household utensils, mechanical tools and articles of clothing with price tags showing how much cheaper these articles are sold by American manufacturers to the foreigners abroad, than to our own people here at home. This is the same tariff exhibit which has been on view in New York city and been visited by over 250,000 persons. This is truly a campaign of education.

It did not cost much effort for Woodrow Wilson to force (Foss) victory on the democratic party in this state by insisting on the governor being a candidate for re-election.

The Wilson and Marshall club of Concord have purchased a pair of O'Sullivan rubber heels and put them over their door as a token of good luck in the place of the horse shoe which had been there.

Humphrey O'Sullivan, democratic candidate for Congress in the new Fifth congressional district, is making a surprisingly effective campaign for votes. Always genial and generous, he now shows so earnest and convincing a manner in his presentation of campaign issues that the great majority of voters, whatever their party affiliations, are going away satisfied with O'Sullivan's candidacy. This was particularly marked in the whirlwind tour of the district made this week. O'Sullivan's friends are confidently predicting his election.

CHARLES LATHROP PACK

New President of Conservation Body

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Oct. 25.—Charles Lathrop Pack of this city, recently elected president of the national conservation congress in Indianapolis, has long been interested in conservation. He was the first American to study forestry in Germany, and he was the first man in the United States to practice forestry, having received fees from Jay Gould for expert advice on timber lands.

SUPREME COURT SITS

In Order to Make Test of Eggs

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Four hundred and forty-three cans of frozen eggs of the vintage of 1910 occupied the attention yesterday of the supreme court of the United States. The members of that tribunal were engaged in determining whether the eggs were decomposed.

John S. Rounds, attorney for the claimant of the eggs, argued that the eggs were not "decomposed" within the meaning of the pure food law, and told the court that the case was the most important of all the pure food cases which had come before it for consideration, because it would decide whether the pure food law was to be interpreted according to the view of the "young men in the department of agriculture," or according to common sense. He said that the common sense was to be interpreted by the law, and that the meaning of "decomposed" was to be determined by the common sense, and not by the technical definition of the word.

Mr. Rounds informed the court that there were four grades of eggs, "first," "second," "third," and "fourth," and that the eggs were to be tested by the common sense.

A WOMAN'S BEAUTY

All Specialists Agree That It Cannot Be Obtained by the Use of Cosmetics.

Beauty—real beauty—is more than skin deep. No cosmetic in the world can give the wholesome color, the bright eyes, the clear transparent skin that is the natural result of pure blood, proper diet and hygienic habits of daily life.

It sounds easy and it is easy for a woman to have the beauty which health alone can give. A safe and efficient tonic if the blood is weak, thin or impure (Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are especially recommended), the avoidance of foods which will cause eruptions, and regular bathing of the skin. That is all and it is the only way. Most women will be interested in the following statement:

Mrs. Agnes Goodworth, of No. 89 Grace street, Mt. Washington, Pittsburgh, Pa., says: "I was in a run-down condition, which developed into anemia and nervous prostration. For two or three years I was doctoring and was confined to bed for from four to six weeks every few months. I was pale and weak. I couldn't sleep and was so nervous and irritable that I could hardly stand it. I had no appetite and nothing that I ate agreed with me. I lost weight and became completely run down. The doctor said I didn't have enough blood and at last advised me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. In about a week I began to gain. They did wonders for me. I gained in flesh and strength, had a good color and was entirely cured. Later I gave them to my little boy who had no appetite and was sickly. He commenced to gain right away and is now strong and healthy. I can heartily recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for people who are run down and have no blood. Women, especially, will be benefited by them. I gave them to my daughter and they built her up wonderfully. It is my duty to speak good words for a remedy which has done so much for my family."

Write to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Box 176, Schenectady, N. Y., for a free booklet, "Plain Talks to Women." It should be read by every woman and growing girl. A free sample of the new laxative "Pinklets" will also be sent you. Should you be unable to obtain Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People in your locality, they will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, fifty cents per box; six boxes for $2.50.

VALUES COLLAPSE

I have no sentimental regard for the cost price, for the market value, for the inherent worth of things when I decide to make a market for those things.

I'd be kidding only myself if I told you that this Key West weather in October was not hurting my winter clothing trade. I'd be kidding only myself if I carried over till next year the goods I ought to sell this winter.

I can't bring home my immense stock of Winter Overcoatings and Suitings and frame them. I must sell them. You must buy them—I say you must buy because I am going to sell them Friday and Saturday at prices that will make you buy them.

Thirty-four different styles in Brown and Gray Overcoatings, the popular shades this season, in plaid backs, shaggy rough mixtures, made any style. No restriction in length. A store full of staples in Johnson's Fancy Kerseys, Black and Blue Meltons, Heavy Weight Worsted Suitings, Premier Worsteds, Wanskuk Serges, Sheriff Worsteds, North Adams Worsteds, Standish Worsteds. SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The regular meeting of Highland council, Royal Arcanum, was held last night in Highland hall and consisted of business was transacted. Seven applications were received for the class initiation which will be held on Nov. 14. At the conclusion of the business meeting an enjoyable entertainment was carried out by the Honey Day minstrels and addresses were made by the following officers of the order: Alfred C. Turner of Boston, supreme secretary; Charles J. Taylor of Baltimore, J. J. Baker of St. Louis, this evening.

The anniversary committee will make a report and it is hoped that a good attendance of the members will be present to hear it. Final arrangements of the affair will also be made. The general committee will meet at the conclusion of the lodge session.

Knights of Pythias
Lowell lodge, Knights of Pythias, met in regular session at their hall, 124 Merrimack street last night. There was a large attendance and considerable business was transacted. It was voted to draw up a set of resolutions of regret on the death of Brother William Kershaw, a member of the lodge.

Brother C. Baker, P. C., gave an interesting account of his trip through the Provinces.

Franco-American Society
A very important meeting of the Franco-American Historical society of New England was held in Boston at the City club. The affair was attended by nearly all members and a feature of the evening was the election of officers for the ensuing year.

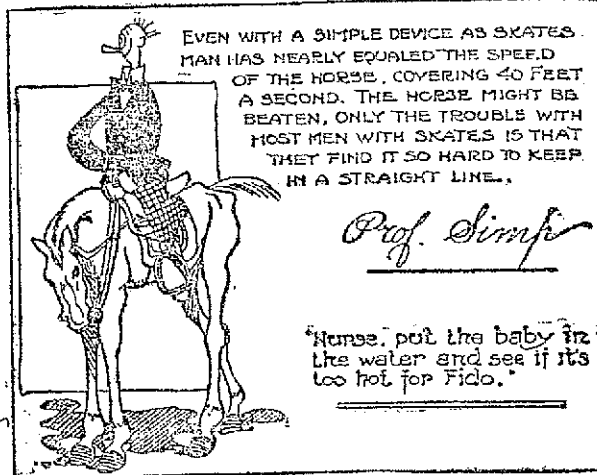

At 7 o'clock the members sat down to a banquet which was followed by an interesting lecture by Rev. Camille Roy of Quebec, professor at the Laval university, who took for his text, "Portrait de M. Gaspé."

The election of officers resulted as follows: Dr. J. A. Beaudry, Lynn, president; Henri Beaudry, Manchester, N. H., vice president; J. A. Favreau, Boston, secretary; Hector L. Belsie, Lawrence, assistant secretary; J. H. Guillet, Esq., Lowell, treasurer; Hen. Henri T. Ledoux, Nashua, N. H., Louis E. Cadieux, Boston; J. B. Lachance, Manchester, and Clarence F. Cormier, Walworth, directors.

Considerable routine business was transacted, and interesting remarks were delivered by all members of the new board of officers. Among the Lowell people who attended the meeting were: Messrs. Louis P. Turcotte, Paul Vigeant, Thomas Dourne, J. H. Guillet, Esq., and Rev. Joseph M. Blais, O. M. I.

DON'T MISS IT

Latest in Ships is the "Sea Automobile"

ONE OF THE TWO "SEA AUTOMOBILES," THE SELANDIA

Not since the turbine appeared on the scene in the marine engineering world, promising relief from the defects of the reciprocating engine, has so great an advance been made in that line as that of the "sea automobile," newest of ships. The recent appearance of the latter in New York and other great ports of the world aroused the observers of marine affairs. They are unanimous, or almost so, in calling the ocean going motor-driven vessels the forerunner of a revolution in navigation. There are now only two of these ships about the Christian X, and the Selandia, but there will soon be others. Enthusiasts assert that in a few years they will drive from the seas altogether the reciprocating engine vessel and the newer turbine driven ship. Most nautical experts will not go so far as that, however, while conceding to the novelty the merits proved by successful experiment.

"Sea automobile" is a good term for the Selandia and the Christian X, but the reader must imagine an automobile in the shape of a steamship, 375 feet long and 54 feet wide. He must equip her with three masts, but he must be no more pictorial between the foremast and the mainmast or between the latter and the mizzenmast than the funnels that are so familiar a feature of the ordinary ship.

A motorship carries no funnels. When a captain or a lookout sights the Christian X or the Selandia at sea or in port the first thing he does is rub his eyes. Then, if he is near enough, he halts her and wants to know what has become of her funnels. Captain Niss of the Christian X, reported on his arrival in New York from New Orleans the other day that he had been queried by every ship he had sighted as to what he had done with his smokestacks.

Like its land relative, the sea automobile burns oil, but fuel oil, not gasoline. Fuel oil is what is left of petroleum after the gasoline and the kerosene have been removed by distillation.

Gasoline is not suited for use in marine power plants. Its volatile nature makes leaks from pipes or tanks extremely dangerous to ship and crew and cargo. Residual fuel oil is safe from the possibility of forming an explosive mixture with the air. The by-products of combustion are discharged through apertures in the upper part of the mainmast and the smoke from the galley fires through the mizzenmast.

In non-technical language it may be said that the Christian X, and the Selandia are propelled by compressed air and crude oil, highly expanded, hitting pistons. It may almost be said that the vessels "blow" themselves along, but the "blows" come so rapidly and so continuously, and are applied in such a manner by the proper coupling of the eight cylinders of the internal explosion motors that the progress of the vessels through the water is steady and smooth. There is no jerkiness in the movement. The cylinders are coupled in fours and are of 1250 horsepower to each piston of four.

In virtually every respect the running of the new motor-driven vessels marks an advance in economy over the steamship. For instance, in a steamship of the size of the Christian X, or her sister ship 45 men would be needed in the engine room to handle the 50 tons of coal she would burn every 24 hours of steady sailing. In the "sea automobile" only ten men are required. This means a saving of at least $500 a month in wages and food. The first cost of the ship is greater, but there is a saving in the end. According to an eminent New York engineer, "an oil engine ship is more expensive to build and operate than a steam engine ship. In the case of such large vessels as the Selandia and Christian X, the difference is as much as $40,000. The East Asiatic company of Copenhagen, the concern for which these two vessels were built, estimated that there would be a saving of some $75,000 per annum for each ship if equipped with motors in place of steam engines.

"Each ship was supposed to make three round trips or voyages from Copenhagen to the far east via the Suez canal in that time. (This plan was changed later, and the Christian X, now west from Europe to New Orleans, and then to New York.) They calculated also upon a rate of a thousand tons in cargo space moved by the smaller size of the engines, which represent to them not less than $400 per voyage, or $15,000 per ship per annum. If the calculations of the owners are correct the extra cost of these 10,000-ton motorships will have been earned and written off within 18 months."

The Season's Coat Length

The length of the coat to accompany the walking suit is a question that is uppermost in the minds of women who are buying or ordering their winter garb. The effect has gone forth that for tailored suits the length is to be 32 or 34 inches long, cut away in front and ending in a broad curve or blunt point in the back. Some of the very extreme models in outworn effects reach in the back to the end of the skirt, but this very long swallow-tailed coat is too bizarre to be adopted by women who dress well.

The style most favored is buttoned over slightly on the left side and has the Robespierre collar and revers arranged that they can be opened up when the weather permits. Some are made with perfectly straight cut backs and others have a slight fullness at the back and a decided flare on the side seams.

Nearly all have slightly rounded or pointed corners, and all show the modified outworn effect. The Robespierre collar, with vest of a contrasting material, is very much liked. The sleeves in the more costly models of the season are in variety, with medium large armholes.

Velvet collars and velvet bound buttonholes and large ornamental buttons trim the best and most attractive models.

It's Oyster Season

With the oyster season comes a novelty which no one can afford to overlook. It is made in both Sheffield plate and solid or sterling silver and is to hold the slice of lemon which must be on each plate, and in using it one avoids the very disagreeable experience of having a sticky lemon juice run over one's hands and fingers, an incident which for many a person almost spoils the oysters.

The holder is designed like two fainty clamps on either side of a long piece, the quarter of lemon is slipped on the prongs and by pressing the two supported clamps the juice is squeezed down on the oysters or clams and once the lemon escape. This stand also can be used for serving sardines and a nice for lemon or anything with which lemon is served. These cost in Sheffield plate 25 cents and in solid silver $2 each. Nothing could make a more agreeable bride's gift than a set of these lemon holders, for they are useful and unusual, and for any home they are among the items which mark the up to date and alert hostess at whose dinners and luncheons some special and attractive hostess is sure to be found. These novelties are not expensive.

River is High

The heavy rainfall during the past week has caused a big rise in the waters of the Merrimack river and according to information received at the Lakes & Canals it is thought that the water will rise much higher.

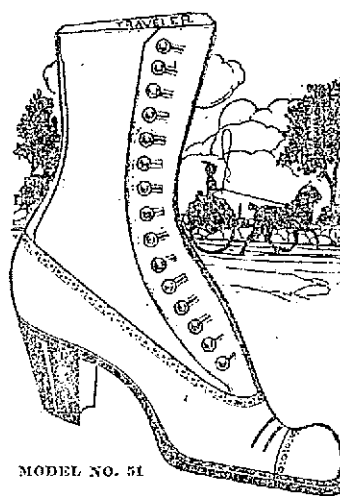

At the present time the water is up to the top of the flash boats on the top of the granite dam and the strain has been so severe on the boards that several of the stay rods have bent outward and the water is running over the boards. When the tide comes tonight it will cause the water in the river to rise and it is expected that many of the boards will be washed away.

THE PROGRESSIVE PARTY

Urged Gov. Foss to Call Special Session

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—Gov. Foss was urged to call a special session of the legislature for the enactment of a senatorial preference law in a communication delivered at the state house by members of the progressive party today.

The progressives marched in the rain up Beacon hill stopping at the republican and democratic headquarters on the route and inviting the members of the other parties to join them. Gov. Foss was not on hand to receive the callers. He was on a tour of the sixth and seventh congressional districts. He had previously issued a statement declining to call the legislature together on the body, he said, had three times refused his request for the enactment of such a law.

The governor's program today called for sixteen speeches in as many cities and towns and evening addresses at Salem, Peabody and Danvers. At these latter meetings he expected to be accompanied by Gov. Emmett O'Neal of Alabama, who was to discuss national issues.

Joseph Walker, the republican candidate for governor, had evening rallies planned for Waltham, Medford and Salem, while the progressive leader, Charles Blod, gave his attention to Cambridge, North Cambridge, Arlington, Waltham and Watertown with hourly speeches from 10 a. m. until nearly midnight.

Robert E. Martin, who disarmed John Schrank after his attack on Col. Roosevelt in Milwaukee, spoke at a progressive rally in Faneuil hall today. George H. Roosevelt, a cousin of the colonel, was another speaker.

Ribbon Bracelets

The woman who suffers the annoyance of having her long gloves constantly slipping down to her wrists can find relief in a pair of ribbon bracelets. Which will look best when they match the gloves in color. These little necessities can be made at home. The materials needed being one yard and three-quarters of soft ribbon about two inches wide and half a yard of narrow elastic.

Divide the ribbon into three equal parts and the elastic into two parts. To make a single bracelet, sew the ends of one piece of ribbon together and fold it so that the seam comes at the center of the underside. Slip on the elastic, pull up the ribbon on it and join elastic and ribbon end to end.

Out of one half of another of the ribbon piece make a puff or some piece to hide the joining. The little bracelet slips up the arm and catches the glove just above the elbow.

Sunday Night Teas

A woman whose husband was obliged to work on Sundays found the day dull and lonely. Remembering the number of people who have unexpected guests Sunday afternoon, she had cards printed announcing that hot muffins and biscuits and salads and jellies were for sale at her home from 5 till 7. The salads, cakes, etc., she prepared on Saturday and Sunday morning. The biscuit dough was in the boxes ready for the oven at a moment's notice and the materials for the muffins being spread out on the kitchen table. Most of her friends and neighbors had telephones, and by previous notice she had their orders ready when they arrived. Finally her trade increased so much that she hired two boys to deliver orders for her. Next morning and afternoon were the same. The patrons could not help but form the habit of having "Mrs. B's" portion. The collar is made of self Sunday supper" as a regular thing.

She kept plenty of cardboard boxes and waxed paper on hand for the orders, but wrapped the hot breads in plain white crepe paper napkins, as she claimed the waxed paper did not absorb the moisture and consequently the hot breads were apt to be soggy if wrapped in it. Salads were sold in waxed paper cartons.

The New Tailored Blouse

The new blouse has no yoke in the back and is absolutely without tuck or fold in front, though for very thin figures there is a style with a single plait laid in at the shoulders which is becoming, yet does not make the blouse lumpy. The sleeve is put in just like a man's shirt sleeve, with a creased so much that she hired two boys to deliver orders for her. Next morning and afternoon were the same. The patrons could not help but form the habit of having "Mrs. B's" portion. The collar is made of self Sunday supper" as a regular thing.

A four-in-hand tie is worn with it, and a gold safety pin holds the points of the collar together very smartly. For more formal wear a black satin stock with a narrow turn-over of white pique is chosen.

This blouse may be purchased in the shops carried out in wash silks, both plain white and striped. Especially smart are the white silks striped with hair lines of black, either singly or in clusters of four or five. In wash cotton material madras is the favorite. One very good blouse even recently is of white with a wide stripe of dull blue. It would look well with dull gold links and a blue four-in-hand tie to match the blue of the stripe.

Two Young Men and a Black Dog Will Make Trip Around World

WALTER STANDOW JACK HENRY DANES

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Walter Standow and Henry Danes, two young men who have already made reputations as walkers in Europe, have started on a pedestrian tour of the world that will not only take them around the globe, but will take them into every country. They will be accompanied by "Jack," a black dog with a willingness to travel on foot. The idea of the tour was formed some years ago when the young men attended a banquet in Germany at which Sun Chong Tai, mayor of Hong Kong, was a guest. He invited the pedestrians to visit his country and agreed to assist them in every way if they would make a tour of the Chinese empire with a view of arousing an interest in walking.

REV. GEORGE KENNGOTT

Addressed Men of the
Round Table

At the opening meeting of the Men of the Round Table of the First Presbyterian Church last evening, Rev. George F. Kenngott, departing pastor of the First Presbyterian Congregational church, delivered an address on the subject of "Social Service."

A large attendance characterized the event and preceding the address a bounteous supper was served the gathering.

President Frederick J. Flemings presided at the meeting and briefly outlined the work of the organization. He then introduced Rev. Mr. Kenngott, who said in part:

"The first impression one gets of this country is size. I have traveled across the continent twice and have received the idea of immensity which carries with it. This very immensity is one of the difficulties that confronts us in this big problem of today. The population, too, is scattered and unevenly distributed, figures from the last census showing 35 persons to the square mile of territory. And when it is remembered that Lowell with 16 square miles of territory contains over 100,000 souls and other cities in proportion, some of the scattered population of the more isolated sections of the country can be obtained. Another difficulty is the different conditions under which the immigrants, among whom this work lies, live in this country in comparison with their own. For instance many of the foreigners in our city come from farms, were shopkeepers or engaged in some employment entirely different from what is met in their new country. Another difficulty is of a political nature. What is feasible in New England is not feasible in the south and what would be the proper thing in the south would not do in California.

There are different matters of legislation in the various states, too, where there should be national legislation. There should be national legislation for the conservation of natural resources. For instance, the Mississippi river, one state empties its sewage into it, and another state uses the river for its water supply. For an example nearer home take our own Merrimack. New Hampshire discharges sewage into it and our Massachusetts sewage into it. Our national legislation has not yet reached the scale of Germany's which cares for all the people, all the time and all of the natural resources.

"A sense of nationality is also apparent today. It has become a good thing to be an American. The Spanish war helped that spirit along. While there was a militant spirit in some, most of it was like that of the Crusader. It was an appeal to a Christian spirit; some one was suffering and the conditions must be rectified.

"The day of individuals is past. We are now fighting the battle, shoulder to shoulder, for new principles. And the churches must co-operate with each other in the battle for the things in life which are right.

In conclusion the speaker referring to Lowell said:

"Now, you men of Lowell know your city. Study its past. Study its present population, its tongue, where it originated and how it lives. Tuberculosis and intemperance go hand in hand with poor housing, unsanitary conditions. Remember the unholy triad—dirt, darkness and dampness. Remember that because the average scale of wages is something about $3, that that fact does not help the poor unfortunate who gets $3. And because on that $3 he can save a dollar, is no credit to the community. The emphasis must be laid, not on the cheapness of labor, but on the efficiency of labor. Massachusetts stands first of the states in labor laws and while our state will work for a disadvantage against the south, Massachusetts will ultimately reap the benefit of it. Some labor is costly at any price and must be watched with care.

"In this social service work there is a lack of union. There is no concentration of resources in this last few weeks. We must concentrate our work, our abilities and our money to overcome these difficulties and make this city of Lowell a holy city.

Rev. Selken W. Cummings, who is soon to leave his pastorate at the First church, made a brief address in which he thanked the Men of the Round Table for their help and wished them great success in their work in the next year.

ANNUAL DANCING PARTY

Relief Corps

Odd Fellows hall in Centralville was the scene of a very pretty social function last night, the occasion being the second annual dancing party and fair under the auspices of B. F. Butler Women's Relief Corps, No. 76, auxiliary to Post 42. The attendance was large and the affair proved to be a social as well as financial success.

The interior of the hall was decorated in a very attractive and artistic manner, the national colors predominating. Booths and tables which were placed at points of vantage around the hall were very prettily decorated and did a thriving business.

In the afternoon a sale of goods was held and a neat sum of money was realized.

General dancing was enjoyed last night from eight o'clock until a late hour, music being furnished by the Merrimack orchestra.

General chairman, Mrs. Kate Gott; treasurer, Mrs. Eliza Goodwin; chairman of decorations, Mrs. Bessie Cummings.

Apron and fancy tables: Mrs. S. Blanche Cummings and Mrs. Lydia Bartlett, chairmen, Mrs. Ella B. Light, Mrs. Josephine P. MacDonald, Mrs. Carrie Warren and Mrs. MacFadden.

HAIR STOPS FALLING, DANDRUFF DISAPPEARS--25 CENT "DANDERINE"

Save your Hair. Beautify it. Invigorate your scalp. Danderine grows hair

Try as you will, after an application of Danderine, you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or a loose or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most, will be after a few weeks' use, when you will actually see new hair, fine and downy a first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine now will immediately double the beauty of your hair.
No difference how dull, faded, brittle and neraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it country roads stole as many apples as their pockets would carry. Monday night they hid among cotton bales in a freight car at North Monmouth, Me.

Soon after a shitter came along and the car, locked and sealed, was made up into a train. At that time they were asleep. Yesterday morning the car containing the runaway came to Boston and was shunted to a track in the Prison Point yards.

At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon trainmen heard weak cries coming from the car. With Patrolman Jeremiah Crowley of Charleston they opened the door and found the boys crying. They were scarcely able to walk. At a nearby milk receiving depot they drank eagerly and munched crackers.

At station 13, they had a bath and a square meal and then went to sleep in a cell. Today they will be turned over to the state board of charity and sent back to school. Both boys are 14 years old, and their parents live in

BUSINESS RUSHING

Employees of the Heinz Electric Co.
Obliged to Work Nights—Additions to Plant Nearly Finished

The night work continues at the Heinz Electric Co. and owing to the number of orders on hand, the prospects are that the "double work" will continue through the winter months.

HAIR STOPS FALLING, DANDRUFF DISAPPEARS--25 CENT "DANDERINE"

Save your Hair. Beautify it. Invigorate your
scalp. Danderine grows hair through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Owing to the increasing business there, it was decided some time ago to erect two additions to the plant, and work was immediately started.
It was expected that the new buildings would be completed long before now, but owing to the fact that the shipment of Georgia pine timber were held up continually, the contractor was obliged to discontinue operations several times.

The timber finally reached here and now the buildings are nearing completion. When finished the employees who are now engaged in night work will be transferred and the company will be better able to handle the numerous orders that are being received there on every mail.

As President of Phillies—Manager Evers Plans Big Shake-up of Cubs

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—One of the biggest pieces of news in baseball here yesterday was the arrival of William Locke, for many years secretary of the Pittsburgh team of the National league. He came into the city quietly and had a good hour's conference with President Murphy. A report that would not down and widely published here is that Locke is wanted for the position as president of the Philadelphia team of the National league, and was here conferring with Murphy regarding the probable signing of Evers. Locke stands very well indeed with all the magnates of the senior baseball organization, and there is little doubt that it would be an entirely proper move to place him at the head of the Phillies.

One version of Mr. Locke's visit here is that he was after the original copy of the Fogel story, which was published here and caused all the row. In some quarters it is believed that Murphy was the author of the Fogel story attacking the National league umpires.

Mr. Locke, after his conference with Murphy, absolutely declined to discuss the subject of their interview. Murphy was also reticent.

Evers Gets Job

The appointment of John J. Evers as manager of the Cubs of 1913 was made public yesterday afternoon.

Immediately there were rumors of some big deals.

Evers says his first official act will be to get a man to fill the position of Joe Tinker, who is almost sure to go to the Cincinnati Reds. Mike Doohan, shortstop of the Philadelphia National league team and a very capable infielder, has caught the eye of the new Cub leader, and Johnny is planning negotiations with the Philadelphia management.

"I want to get Doohan if it is possible," said Evers. "I consider him one of the best men in either league, and I would be willing to make some kind of a three-cornered deal to secure him."

"There will be a number of changes made in the line-up for the Cubs for 1913. I am looking for a man to take the place of Jimmy Sheckard. It is not fast enough. He is a good ball player, but I want a faster man."

"I have in mind a three-cornered trade involving Chicago, Cincinnati and Philadelphia. It would be premature to announce all the details of this trade just now."

From reliable sources it has been learned that Tinker has agreed to accept the position of manager for Garry Herrmann's club, to take the place of Frank O'Day.

Evers says his team will line up about as follows: Center field, Miller; left field, left open; with Frank Schulte, right field. The infield will be made up of Sater on first, Evers on second, and Zimmerman on third. Should Johnny fail to land Doohan for short, he will turn his attention to some other good man, but he is going to try hard for the Philly star.

Archer will do the greater part of the work behind the bat. Needham will likely find himself elsewhere next year, as will some of the other pitchers, for Johnny wants another catcher of class who can relieve Archer in times of need.

That some of the pitchers will be sold or traded also is sure, but just who will go could not be learned.

Enthusiastic Over Braves Prospects for 1912

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—President Jas. E. Gaffney of the Boston Nationals is enthusiastic over the prospects for next season. He said Wednesday that he had signed George Stallings to a three year contract, to take effect Jan. 1, also that he had secured the best players in the Northwestern league.

Mr. Gaffney has received word from Bud Sharpe, manager of the Oakland club, that in William James of Vancouver the Boston Nationals will have another Mathewson. James won fifteen straight games this year and was a sensation in the home state. Bert Whiting of Seattle has made a great record behind the bat. He worked in 133 games, had seven errors and threw out 158 would-be base stealers. Pitcher Noyes of Spokane ranks second in point of effectiveness. Pitcher Strand of Seattle was practically unbeatable in the last month of the campaign. A year ago the Red Sox bought his release for $4500, of which $2500 was paid in cash to bind the bargain, but in some way the deal fell through.

Meyers, a first baseman with Spokane, stole 115 bases, a record for organized baseball. The Spokane team as a whole pitched a total of 393 sacks. Mr. Gaffney has also signed Thompson, a big left-hander from Seattle; Gervais, a pitcher from Vancouver, and De Voigt, who did first class work behind the bat for the Spokane club.

A Doyle of the Finishers did the best bowling of the evening, getting a single of 113 and a total of 227. B. Phelps of the Shavers came next in line, totalling 251 for his three strikes.

McIntosh Wants Boxers

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 25.—Hugh McIntosh, the Australian promoter, positively declines to further negotiate with Jack Johnson. Tom Andrews received a cablegram from the Australian promoter to drop all matters with Johnson as he will not be permitted to box there.

Andrews was authorized by McIntosh to open negotiations for the services of Harlem Tommy Murphy, Gunboat Smith and Dave Smith. Joe Jeanette and Buck Crouse were included in the list. Jeanette is out of the question, however, and Crouse is abroad at present.

Jimmy Clabby, who agreed to the terms offered him for another trip, is now undecided about going. Clabby is doing so well with his cafe in Hammond, Ind., that he is seriously thinking of calling everything off and boxing in the future near his home town.

MR. H. A. FAULKNER

Bay State Advertising Agent Has Accepted New Position with New England Street Railway Club

Mr. Herbert A. Faulkner, who for the past seven years has been general passenger and advertising agent of the Bay State Street Railway Co., has tendered his resignation to the company to be effective Nov. 1.

Mr. Faulkner has been elected secretary of the New England Street Railway club, which is made up of representatives of all the street railways of New England and the large houses in the allied supply trades and one of the strongest trade organizations in the country.

Mr. Faulkner will, as secretary, have full charge of all publications of the club, including the Street Railway Bulletin, a monthly trade magazine of high standing, the Trolley Wayfinder and others, succeeding Mr. John J. Lane, who after about 12 years of faithful and able service, has been compelled to resign because of ill health.

Mr. Ralph M. Sparks, whose three years' service along special lines for the Bay State Street Railway Co. has earned him a promotion, has been appointed to succeed Mr. Faulkner.

THE ST. LOUIS BRANCH WIFE AIDS SICKLES

Of the Lowell Bleachery Has Sale of His Effects Almost Finished Postponed

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—A plea against a sale of the personal effects of Gen. Daniel L. Sickles, the war veteran who was formerly ambassador to Spain, was made yesterday by his estranged wife, to Sheriff Harburger, who agreed to a postponement of the threatened sale when Mrs. Sickles promised to pay about Nov. 10 money necessary to satisfy a new judgment against her husband.

This is the second time in a month that Mrs. Sickles has come to the veteran's aid. On the other occasion she pawned jewelry that was her property when a belle in the court of Spain when Gen. Sickles knew her there.

This action led to a report that the couple would be reconciled, but although Mrs. Sickles paid the judgment, their social relations remained as before, each in a statement declaring their reunion was impossible.

Surprise Party

Eugene A. Tansey was tendered a very enjoyable surprise party at his home, 16 Alder street, by a number of his friends, the occasion being his 31st birthday anniversary. The host was presented a beautiful gold watch, the presentation speech being made by John J. Payne.

The evening was spent in games and a musical program was given. Among those taking part were: John J. Payne, John Curry, Miss Winnie McCormack, Miss Mary Carroll and Miss Catherine O'Connor. Thomas Purcell was the accompanist of the evening. Refreshments were served during the evening by Miss May Tansey and Miss Lillian Laduranti. The gathering broke up at a seasonable hour, all wishing Mr. Tansey many happy returns of the day.

Held a Whist Party

The members of Cercle St. Louis gave a whist at the St. Louis parochial school last night. The affair was largely attended and proved to be a great success. Garde Fontenau, Capt. Albert Bergeron in command, gave a very interesting exhibition drill and an entertainment program was also rendered.

Mr. Philippe Chaput presided over the whist, and several handsome prizes were awarded the winners. Among those present were Rev. J. N. Jacques, pastor, and Rev. R. A. Fortier, chaplain of the circle.

Root Elected Lecturer

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 25.—The election of United States Senator Elihu Root of New York as Stafford Little lecturer on public affairs was announced here yesterday at the regular fall meeting of the board of trustees of Princeton university. This chair was held by former President Grover Cleveland until his death in 1908. Former Mayor McClellan of New York then held the lectureship for two years.

Senator Root succeeds Joseph H. Choate, who held the chair last winter.

It takes good food to build children like these—

and in this case, what is good for the child is good for the grown-ups.

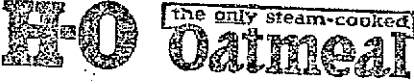

Oatmeal is an admirable food. In its combined richness of protein (which builds brain, bone, flesh and blood) and fat and carbohydrates (which supply heat and energy) oatmeal leads other foods.

If you want the authority for this statement, send for the U. S. Department of Agriculture Bulletin No. 249, and look on page 12.

There are other good foods to give children, but you can always be sure that oatmeal is a safe, sure food; and if you serve H-O Oatmeal you can be sure that it will always be properly cooked.

Twenty minutes on your stove plus the more-than-two-hours' cooking we give it in the mill, insures that.

Right away, order a package of H-O from your grocer, at less than half-cent a dish.

Conant's Sales

The report of this week's auction sales by J. E. Conant & Co. shows that they have sold three large manufacturing plants with a total which aggregates nearly $46,440. Their report of the transactions is as follows:

"On Tuesday forenoon we sold the E. E. Poore plant of the Federal Biscuit company at Lawrence, Mass., to John Shea of Lawrence for $9410. On Wednesday afternoon we sold part of the real estate of the C. D. Ross & Son, Inc., plant of the Federal Biscuit company at New London, Conn., to Ernest E. Rogers et al. of New London, for $24,250. On Thursday afternoon we sold the realties of the Leeds & Cullen plant at Middletown, Conn., to Dale D. Butler and S. L. Calkins of Middletown, for $12,780. The three sales approach a total of at least $46,440. The sale at Middletown was illustrative of the difference with which the honest advertisements of properties pledged to the highest bona fide bidders at absolute auction sale are sometimes received. The sale of the properties at Middletown was worthy of much better attendance than it received, and the prices realized were much less than they should have been. There was some comment in the town after the sale to the effect that had these talking been present at the sale, they would have bid much more for the properties, but they did not believe that the owners would allow the properties to be sold at such low prices. The point the sale so perfectly illustrates is that the pledge without qualification to sell to the highest bona fide bidder must have been purposely interpreted to suit some peculiar process of reasoning. Such pledges to sell are legally binding."

MILITIA AND POLICE DENY

That They Fired Shots During the Fatal Riot in Lawrence on January 29th

SALEM, Oct. 25.—Members of the Massachusetts militia were in court today to testify in the trial of Joseph J. Eitor, Arturo Giovannitti and Joseph Caruso for the murder of Anna Lopizzo in the Lawrence strike. The militia, captain of Company D, Eighth regiment, who began his testimony yesterday, was ready to resume the story.

The prosecution planned to show by the militia's evidence that none of the shots fired in the riot of Jan. 29 when the killing occurred and none of the shots fired at the climax of the rioting came from the state's guard. The commonwealth maintained that not a policeman or soldier fired a shot.

Capt. Cody again took the stand and his cross-examination was begun by Attorney Eisk. He said that his detachment of 24 soldiers was near the scene of the riot at Garden and Union streets on the evening of Jan. 29. But when he arrived at the scene, Capt. Cody said he heard six shots fired in quick succession and within 10 minutes he heard 20 or more shots. At that time in Lawrence scattered about the strike district, Capt. Cody said, were about several hundred militiamen, none with rifles. Some were authorized to carry revolvers also. Six men in his company had 35 calibre revolvers.

"Were you interested to know the result of the autopsy on the body of the woman who was shot that night?" asked Attorney Eisk.

"In a general way," replied Captain Cody.

"And you learned that she was shot with a 35-calibre bullet?"

"No, sir," answered the captain. "It is unknown what it was. It looked like one, but might have been something else."

Asked if he recalled any time when the civil authorities of Lawrence directed the movements of the soldiers, Capt. Cody declared they had no authority to do so and did not. He reiterated his positive declaration that the crowd of strikers in his detachment fired a shot during the disturbance of the 29th.

Daniel Harrington, a private in Company D, Eighth regiment, who actively engaged with the strikers on the evening of Jan. 29, testified that in the crowd just before the murder he saw several strikers armed with revolvers, clubs and knives.

"One of the strikers in a mixup at Garden and Union streets hit me on the jaw with a club," said Harrington, "while we were driving the crowd back. I thought it was pretty near time for us to use the guns then, but we didn't."

"Did you see any firearms?" asked Dist. Atty. Atwell.

"Yes; one striker ran out on Garden street and pointed his revolver at me," Harrington answered. "I picked up my rifle and hit him over the shoulder with the butt end of the gun. He ran away. I saw another man with a revolver at almost the same time. He was jeering at the soldiers and shouting 'let's go and get them.'"

The judge asked how many people there were in the street at the time. The witness said there was four or five hundred.

Thomas Quinn, a special policeman, testified that he saw the defendant Caruso on the night of Jan. 29 in front of the Italian postoffice near the scene of the Anna Lopizzo killing.

"Caruso," said Quinn, "had a large club in his hand, a club three feet and a half long. He was in front of the crowd and another man beside him carried a club."

Frank Elliot of Boston, captain of Company G, 8th regiment, described the rioting on the morning of Jan. 29 when the street cars were attacked.

"One of my detachments on Essex street that morning," said the captain, "was almost overwhelmed by the rioters. They were being stoned and pelted with ice and I had to call for more troops to drive back the rioters."

On this morning the captain declared he heard shots fired, the shots coming from the strikers in the streets. Capt. Elliot in cross examination said eight of his men carried revolvers but did not use them and were not at the scene of the fatal riot.

MILITIA AND POLICE DENY THAT THEY FIRED SHOTS DURING THE RIOT

SALEM, Oct. 25.—Militiamen and police officers denied positively today in the trial of Eitor, Giovannitti and Caruso for the murder of Anna Lopizzo in the Lawrence textile strike, that they fired any shots during the fatal riot last Jan. 29th.

One militiaman was at the scene of the riot told of beating with the butt end of his rifle a striker who drew a revolver and Police Sergeant Walter Spranger told of an order he gave his men to get their guns ready, but said they did not fire.

"I was in charge of a squad of policemen which was driving the crowds at Garden and Union streets that night," said Spranger. "We had been posted by the strikers repeatedly, had been pelted with missiles and had driven the people back time and again with our clubs. When we heard the shooting we were about a block away. I ordered the men to rush to the scene and as we were proceeding I told them to get their guns ready. There was no such order until the shooting was all over."

Sergeant Spranger admitted that he clubbed many of the strikers on the back and shoulders.

"Did you strike any of them on the head?" Attorney Mahoney asked.

"Possibly," said Spranger. The sergeant said he could not recall saying to his men to get their guns ready.

Asked whether the policeman who was stabbed during the riot declared that he was rushed by a crowd of strikers just after several shots were fired at Garden and Union streets.

"Officer Marshall and myself were trying to turn the crowd back," said Benoit. "The howling men closed in on us and I heard a pistol report and saw a flash."

"Did you see a woman then?" asked Dist. Atty. Atwell.

"Just before that moment Benoit said he felt a blow in the back but paid little attention to it. After the woman fell—she was Anna Lopizzo—the officer said he went into the store where she was taken and discovered that he had been stabbed in the back.

Benoit testified in court the revolver, a 35 calibre, which he carried that night. He denied that he fired any shots.

Asked by the district attorney if he saw Caruso that night Benoit declared that he saw him in the front row of the strikers that rushed up to the corner of Garden and Union streets just before the woman was shot.

"I saw Caruso after that at the police station," said Benoit, "and said to him, 'I've seen you before—at the corner of Garden and Union streets the night of the trouble' and he said 'yes.'"

Mr. Adolph Perry of 53 Hudson street has been missing from home since last Sunday morning, and his family are at a loss to know where he is, for he left saying he was going to church and has not returned since, and not a word has been received from him.

CHELMSFORD IRON FOUNDRY

Locates in a Tanner Street Building and Has Many Orders Ahead

Owing to the delay in securing power from the Electric Light company, work at the new plant of the Chelmsford iron foundry on Tanner street is held up. The foundrymen have also experienced another delay in the connection for a telephone, this, too, being caused by the fact that several formalities are necessary before the phone will be installed.

It is expected, however, that by the first of next week these impediments will be eliminated and the company will be able to start work. Assurances have been received that power will be furnished under protest, this governing until a settlement is reached over the taxing of new poles.

Many men are at work, however, at the shop, getting things in shape, setting up cranes and other paraphernalia, while the engineer is busy installing a motor for the power. The latter is one of large proportions, and will supply the power for the entire plant.

The principle work of the motor will be to supply a force blast for the furnace, while it will also furnish "juice" for empty wheels, rammers and other small devices.

The Chelmsford foundry was formerly located in North Chelmsford, where for many years it did a thriving business. Even at the present time the business is exceptionally good, many orders being on hand, and soon to be started on. When the original owner of the property died and his heirs came into possession of the buildings several sales of the plant were contemplated. The Silesia Worsted company operating in North Chelmsford tried several times to purchase the property. For the last five years the Silesia company has been after it and finally bought it a short time ago.

By the sale of the foundry owners were obliged to seek new quarters, and they had considerable difficulty in finding a suitable place. At the old stand, owing to the excellent location, shipment was greatly facilitated. On one side of the building a track for receiving material is located, while on the other a track for shipment was available. The building itself is a very spacious structure, and as the business of the company demands large quarters, the building was ideal for carrying on the work.

Upon being notified to vacate the premises in North Chelmsford, the officials got busy and viewed many locations. The building formerly occupied by the Union Iron foundry on Tanner street was finally selected. The latter, however, was not large enough to conduct the entire business of the concern, hence the owners decided to transfer the moulding to the Tanner street building, while the large structural work will be done in Medford.

In Medford, the company has been preparing a shop for five years, and the heavy work, formerly turned out at Chelmsford, will be manufactured there.

During the past two weeks the employees of the company have been engaged in moving the cranes, patent boxes, casting boxes, etc., to the new plant. All the paraphernalia to be used at the new foundry has been in position for the past week, and but for the delays in power and wire connections, the shop would be running now.

A number of men are still at work at the old foundry in Chelmsford, loading on the heavy devices, that are being sent to Medford. This will consume the remainder of the week, and by Monday next the keys of the old foundry will be turned over to the new owners, the Silesia Worsted company.

With everything out of the old building, and the necessary wire connections, the present foundry, the officials expect to be working at full blast next week.

GRAVES ARE BEING MARKED

Of Victims of Titanic Disaster—Several Memorial Monuments to be Erected

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 25.—The graves of the victims of the Titanic disaster who were buried in Halifax cemeteries are being individually marked in connection with a plan of memorial arrangement. Several memorial monuments have been contracted by the White Star line, the owners of the Titanic, and will be erected beside the graves.

Halifax cemeteries contain the remains of 150 victims of the tragedy. The bodies, who bodies were identified and claimed, together with those which were dropped back into the sea were recovered by searching steamers. Most of the remains are those of men. One is that of a child. Most of the remains are still unidentified, but there have been occasional identifications even within a few months and further identifications are considered likely. Inquiries regarding bodies and their effects continue to pour into this city from relatives and friends of victims not definitely accounted for. Deputy Provincial Secretary Matthews handles the correspondence, which is bulky. Several identifications have resulted from these letters and correspondence now under way promises to identify one more.

Many of the bodies in Fairview cemetery, however, were without such identifications and these are grouped as are those of each religion.

The White Star line within a short time after the disaster secured large plots in each of the cemeteries. The plots have been set apart from the rest of the cemetery by concrete walls. Within these walls the graves extend in two or three long hundred by cup-pings. The memorial markers, all of which are not yet in place, give the name of the victim and the date of the disaster, where the remains have been identified. In the case of unidentified bodies the marker contains a number by which the body is known until it is identified when the name is inscribed in a space left for that purpose.

There are two graves apart from the rest in Fairview cemetery. One of these contains the remains of Mr. Harrison, a White Star line official, who was aboard the Titanic. The other is that of the baby whose body was picked up by the steamer Mackinac Bennett and interred at the expense of the crew of that ship. Flowers are placed on the little grave at regular intervals by members of the crew. J. Bruce Ismay, director of the White Star company and himself a survivor of the Titanic disaster, has ordered large gravestones for the graves of Mr. Harrison and of Ernest Freeman, who was head deck steward on the ill-fated liner. The stone on the Freeman grave is to be inscribed: "This stone is erected by Mr. Bruce Ismay, director of the White Star Company, in memory of Ernest Freeman's long service and notable heroic self-sacrifice."

FIND $28,000 GONE

In Co-Operative Bank Loot Probe

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—That $28,000 mysteriously disappeared from the Acushnet Co-operative bank through the mis-conduct of its treasurer became known yesterday when Bank Commissioner A. J. Thorndike filed a bill in the supreme court, asking permission to accept a settlement from the directors.

For ten years, the bill alleges, the mis-conduct of the treasurer continued. The bank commissioner took possession of the bank on Aug. 26 last.

The disappearance of the money was not noted, the bill states, because the secretary of the bank had delegated some of his duties to the treasurer. It is claimed that the directors knew of the disappearance of the $28,000.

They have made an offer of $3000 to the bank commissioner to settle all claims which may arise as a result of the loss of the money. That offer the commissioner wishes to accept. The bill is brought against the bank.

Nov. 12 has been set for a hearing in the supreme court.

Wilson Signs Sheepskins
PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 25.—Ten years ago today Woodrow Wilson was inaugurated president of Princeton university. Today as governor of New Jersey and democratic nominee for the presidency he sat in the library of his home executing a task which carried him back to the days when he presided over Princeton university. Several graduates of the last four years had studied under the Wilson administration but had received their diplomas in the period subsequent to Mr. Wilson's resignation sent their sheepskins to him today for his signature.

Miss Jesse Wilson, his daughter, sat near her father watching him write his name and carry the diplomas to the prospects to dry the ink.

"It seems like old times," said Miss Wilson, "to see father signing diplomas and laying them aside to dry."

Ever since he was elected chief executive of the state, Governor Wilson has been receiving diplomas from the class of 1911 and 1912 asking him to add his autograph to their diplomas. The governor planned to spend the day at home.

COL. ROOSEVELT Resumed the Active Work of the Campaign Today—He is Still Quite Weak

OYSTER BAY, Oct. 25.—Col. Roosevelt took up the active work of his campaign today for the first time since he was shot 11 days ago. John McGrath, his secretary, came from New York last night to be at Sagamore Hill early in the day and as soon as Col. Roosevelt had breakfast he began his work. He dictated a number of letters to progressive leaders, then took up the preparation of the speech which he expects to deliver in New York next week.

Col. Roosevelt was in good trim, physically, although he was still weak and was not able to do as much work as he wished. He has not overcome the effects of the nervous exhaustion which he suffered after spending a week in bed in Chicago and finds himself greatly fatigued if he undertakes too much.

Dr. Scurry Terrell said that his patient was in surprisingly good condition and that he expected his strength to return soon.

Dr. Lambert, Dr. Joseph Blake and Dr. George Brewer are expected from New York this afternoon to dress the wound.

Y. W. C. A. Notes
Vesper services will be in charge of the four secretaries of the Y. W. C. A. and they will try to answer the question, "Why Join the Church?" This is a series of the series on the church, the third will be held November third.

Games and athletic contests were enjoyed by all after which delicious refreshments were served. The committee in charge of the entertainment were Miss Newberlin, Miss Whipple and Miss Trash. Y. M. C. A. Star Course
A more appropriate name than the Star Course would be hard to find, this being a series of lectures and concerts conducted by the Y. M. C. A. at the First Baptist church. Due credit must be given the officials of the Y. M. C. A. for securing such excellent features for their country.

Wednesday, October 30 will be the date for the first lecture which will be given by the Meistersingers of Boston. The Harvard, Schubert and Weber male quartet. Very little need be said about these famous singers as they have appeared in Lowell before.

The second lecture will be held on Wednesday, November 20th. Prof. Ernest Woodland of Rochester, N. Y., conducting a popular science lecture giving a few demonstrations in twentieth century science. Some of the experiments successfully done by Prof. Woodland are remarkable and completely beyond the comprehension of the audience. The third lecture will be given by the Chicago Ladies' orchestra on Wednesday, January 23rd. This orchestra is composed of accomplished musicians each one of them being a master in his line. Cora La Parade Cawthorn will give some exceptionally clever character readings. Then, Frank J. Cannon, the ex-senator of Utah will speak February nineteenth on the "Modern Mormon Kingdom." Mr. Cannon is an extraordinary speaker and the subject of his speech will be on polygamy existing in Utah today. The final concert will be given Mar. 12 by "Ye Old Folks Choir." This is a mixed quartet and the selections sung by them are the songs of fifty years ago. Children Should Have an accomplished reader, will also be another attraction to the evening's entertainment.

MARKET IRREGULAR

AT THE CLOSING HOUR THIS AFTERNOON

Complete Recoveries Made by Some Stocks—Steel and the Coppers Did Not Rally as Did the Railroads

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Opening prices in the stock market today indicated general firmness, Canadian Pacific was the strongest issue, advancing over a point. Marked strength was shown by other active stocks such as Reading and Amal. Copper, Steel and heavy dealings showed some pressure. Further weakness was shown by today's stock market, the result in all probability of money conditions. Local banks have lost over $10,000,000 to the interior chiefly through the sub-treasury, which makes probable a deficit in the cash reserve.

Indication marked the early dealings, prices fluctuating fractionally. Reading showed well above yesterday's final figures at one period and Amal. and Steel were materially below.

Liquidation was temporarily suspended at midday, but the resurgent rally was feeble and the short interest made another attack on prices when money rose to six per cent.

Further recovery was shown in the late afternoon, despite another advance in money. Reading, Can. Pac. and Amal. regained a full point, but trading continued dull and cautious.

The market closed irregular. Complete recoveries were made by some stocks during the brisk rise in the final hour, Canadian Pacific gaining over a point. Steel and Coppers did not rally with as much spirit as some of the railroads.

RECORDS WERE PRODUCED

In the Alleged Dynamite Cases

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 25.—Records taken by government stenographers of conferences held in the offices of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers after the official of that union had been indicted for alleged complicity with the McNamara brothers were produced for identification at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today.

Ralph W. Douglas, a newspaperman, was called to testify as to the presence of a telephone "spy" system in the union headquarters. For two months government stenographers hid-den in a room below recorded what was said in the iron workers office. The government announced that the stenographers' reports are to be read to the jury later.

FOSS AND WALSH SPOKE

In the Interest of John J. Mitchell

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—While the democratic speakers appeared at various rallies in the interest of John J. Mitchell, democratic nominee for congress in the 13th district, yesterday, Gov. Foss was detained at the state house by business until 1:30 p. m. When once under way, however, he made things hum for the rest of the afternoon. The rest of the speakers joined them at Natick, where he was addressing the largest meeting of the day.

The voters of the district turned out yesterday in large numbers and freely applauded the mention of Mr. Mitchell's name, as well as those of Gov. Foss and Hon. David I. Walsh.

Mr. Walsh left the democratic headquarters on Beacon street at 9 o'clock for Ashland, where a meeting was scheduled for 9:30 a. m. Mr. Mitchell and other speakers had held well attended meetings in the Marlboro high school grounds and at the Southboro depot before they joined Mr. Walsh at Ashland.

Holliston square was the next stop. After brief speeches the party went on to Medway, where they were scheduled to appear at 10:30. Framingham post-office was next on the list and then came Franklin postoffice. The speakers reached Wrentham common shortly after noon.

At Plainville 200 people were addressed by Mr. Walsh and Mr. Mitchell.

At Walpole square a brief stop was made and then the party proceeded to Norfolk, where the meeting was held near the town hall.

Mill's voters to the number of 300 turned out with the expectation of seeing the governor, and although the meeting was not held until after 2 o'clock the governor had not reported.

Mr. Walsh and the rest of the party motored over to Medfield, where Mr. Mitchell in the meantime got in touch with the state house and the democratic state committee in an effort to bring Gov. Foss to the firing line. As a result the governor slipped into his automobile at 1:50 and reached Dover at 2:40 in the afternoon. The governor opened the rally with an address on the history of the democratic party in this state and on plans for the future.

The other speakers were not in sight when Mr. Foss started for Sherborn, where he found that the rally had not been advertised. So he went on to Framingham, but by accident he stopped at South Framingham, where 200 people had gathered in the square.

The governor's address covered various phases of the campaign and dealt particularly with his efforts to enlarge the powers of the railroad commission, or have a new and stronger board appointed.

In Natick fully 400 cheered the governor before he began speaking and again at the conclusion of his address. He told his audience that the republicans had no hope of victory owing to the fight in the party and he urged the voters to give the democrats control of the legislature in order that his policies might be carried out.

This was the last meeting attended by the governor, who hastened back to the state house to finish up some business. He found time in closing to give a ringing endorsement of Mr. Walsh, which brought out loud cheering when the crowd saw the candidate for lieutenant governor come into view.

Mr. Walsh delivered a stirring address at this meeting and later spoke at Cohasset, Sudbury, Weston, Wellesley and Needham, as did Mr. Mitchell.

Today Gov. Foss and Mr. Walsh will campaign with the democratic nominees in the 6th and 7th congressional districts.

"Fake it" said the Editor

"She's a Ghetto woman, hey! Make her a society woman, a settlement worker. Hint that the man is a Yale graduate."

This is the creed of a master-faker of the American newspaper business, whose secrets are now told by a newspaper writer after twelve years' service under him.

It is a matter of pretty vital interest to every newspaper reader in this country. You'll find the article, "Faking as a Fine Art" in

SOME USEFUL ARTICLES

To be Found in the Toy Stores

"An up to date toy store carries a lot of articles that are useful to grown people," said a practical woman recently.

"Take a toy megaphone, for instance. We have found this invaluable while automobiling over unfamiliar country roads. An inquiry as to a road can be heard by the megaphone in a loud, clear, distinct tone, and we have saved time and trouble by keeping one of these little toy megaphones in our touring car."

"Another toy outfit for use to the traveler who wants to wash his face and hands is a toy washboard and a few dolls' clothespins. The latter are not much more than an inch long, but they hold articles firmly in place so that they may dry quickly in a breeze. They do not rust, the article is so simple. The clothespins on the washboard are of such a size that there is no danger of their injuring the most delicate fabric and the washboard can be used in a washbowl. If only one is desired, a better place than the toy drawers of a doll's bureau as receptacles for such things as collar buttons and small, easily lost trunk keys. My sewing room has one of these miniature bureaus, which we use for books and eyes, small buttons, papers of needles and the like.

"When it comes to kitchen utensils, the doll's department is a help to the kitchenette housekeeper. There is a coffee grinder that will grind a tablespoonful of coffee for the bachelor girl's breakfast and do the work quite as well as a machine costing five times as much. A little meat chopper is just the thing to grind a few nuts for a sandwich or a few bread crumbs.

"The hostess who likes to serve little cakes with afternoon tea cannot do better than buy the little cake tin to be found in a well stocked toy store. Only a few inches in diameter, and only a few inches high, it holds about a teaspoonful of batter. Cakes baked in these little tins excite the wonder of the curious tea drinker, who cannot guess where such tiny cake tins are to be found. Tiny cutters for tea cakes are also to be found among the dolls' kitchen utensils.

"A hot water bag not over three inches long originally intended for play only is a real comfort in case of a cold. A miniature hairbrush can find its way into a small space in one's pocketbook and for brushing up one's 'scooping' look' is without a rival. Once a person gets the idea of adapting some of these tiny articles to grown up needs it's wonderful the number of uses she finds."

KENNEDY WAS ARRESTED

In Connection With Assault on Lawrence Man

LAWRENCE, Oct. 25.—Stephen Kennedy, aged 21, a local boxer, was taken into custody by the police yesterday and is held pending an investigation into rumors that he was a participant in the quarrel in which John Smalsky was fatally injured Saturday afternoon.

At yesterday's session of the police court John T. Manning was charged with being an accessory to manslaughter in connection with the death of Smalsky, and the case was continued until Nov. 1 on request of the commonwealth, sureties being fixed at $500.

Uniform Wage Scale
HAVERHILL, Oct. 25.—The movement for a uniform wage scale for the outside cutters was inaugurated yesterday by Joseph E. Gardner, business agent of the Boot and Shoe Workers' union, local, when he submitted new agreements to six firms using the stamp of that organization.

Two firms have already granted the $15 weekly wage, and yesterday Knipe Brothers granted their 47 cutters a 3 per cent. increase in wages, they having been paid $18.32 for 57 hours. The cutters affiliated with the Boot and Shoe Workers' union have been receiving $16 on hand and $18 on machine work, and they want a raise of $2 per week.

The firms that use the union stamp employ about 300 cutters. Since the movement was started by those outside the Boot and Shoe Workers' union to obtain increased wages, two meetings have been held to organize the cutters and make a concerted demand for a uniform wage scale, but no formal action has as yet resulted.

The Boot and Shoe Workers' union, local, decided to start the movement and the demands were presented today. Two of the six union stamp factories have agreed to grant the $2 increase, the new price lists will have to be submitted to arbitration.

BODY AND FACE MASS OF ECZEMA

Grew Worse Until Hands and Feet Swollen and Running Sores. Skin Would Drop Off in Scales. "Practically a Shut-In." Cuticura Soap and Ointment Entirely Cured.

Brownville, N. Y.—"Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured me of a stubborn case of eczema, which followed a severe case of scarlet fever. My body and face was a mass of sores so that I was practically a shut-in. It grew worse until my hands and feet were swollen and running sores. I tried many remedies. One kind which I used fairly burned my skin up so that I would drop off in scales as if it was scalded. But thanks to good advice I then used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In a short time I was entirely cured. Now my skin is clear as ever and I have had no return of the disease. I hope this letter will help the suffering ones who are fighting eczema." (Signed) Miss Edna Dildwell, Jan. 10, 1912.

TUBERCULOSIS SUNDAY

The Disease to be Discussed in Churches

Next Sunday is to be observed by many of the local churches as tuberculosis day. Several of the pastors have chosen this day to speak on the subject of tuberculosis, its rapid spread in this country, the causes and the ways of preventing the disease. Most of the religious creeds throughout the United States are going to adopt next Sunday as the day to speak on this most important subject.

This movement is favored by prominent men of the country, such men as President Taft, Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Archbishop Prendergrast and many others. President Taft said: "I hope and believe that a tuberculosis day in the churches will be productive of great good." Theodore Roosevelt issued the following statement: "I am glad indeed that arrangements are being made to have attention directed towards the United States on 'Tuberculosis day,' Oct. 27, to the immediate urgent duty resting upon us all to do all we can to check this preventable disease. It is particularly fitting that clergymen, churches and church organizations should impress upon their members and attendants the duty of actively supporting in every practical way their local agencies, hospitals, dispensaries and the like engaged in the suppression of tuberculosis. The amount of suffering, misery, orphanage, bitter poverty and economic loss that would be obliterated by the application of our present knowledge as to the causes and prevention of tuberculosis is simply incalculable."

Archbishop Prendergrast of the diocese is quoted as saying: "I am pleased to know that you are continuing the good work towards the prevention of tuberculosis and that you have set aside the 27th of October as tuberculosis Sunday. I am sure that all of our priests will be interested in our efforts and will comply with any request that you will make of them in furthering the worthy work in which you are engaged."

Mayor Hakenburg of Philadelphia speaks very favorably of the interest that is to be displayed in the work. His opinion of the movement is as follows: "I am glad to learn that the National Society for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis has set aside Oct. 27 as a day for the special consideration of the means of eliminating consumption. Tuberculosis is a social disease. Its greatest aids are ignorance and poor living conditions. It is to be fought through the education of the people. Tuberculosis day, as I understand it, has this end in view and I therefore urge all of the citizens of Philadelphia to cooperate through their churches and their organizations in making the observance of this day as widespread as possible."

SENDS URGENT APPEAL

The Greek Red Cross Society in Stringent Circumstances, Solicits Contributions From the Public

The Greek Red Cross Society upon which great demands have been made since the opening of hostilities between Greece and Turkey, and which is already heavily taxed by the general mobilization of the army, is becoming dependent to a great extent upon the contributions of those who sympathize with the sufferers in this struggle. The following letter was received by the editor of the Sun from the United States headquarters of the Greek Red Cross Society in New York:

New York, Oct. 22, 1912.
To the Editor of the Sun:
The Greek Red Cross Society is formulating plans by which the sick and wounded in the present conflict may be succored. Contributions to the Red Cross fund are earnestly solicited and there is no way of making an appeal to the thirty million people of the United States other than through the press. It is, therefore, requested that each editor to whom the present is sent publish the enclosed appeal in his paper. The use of the power of publicity which you possess is of itself a tremendous contribution, a contribution of far greater magnitude than a monetary one, and in aiding the Greek Red Cross in this manner it is hoped that that peculiar happiness which is enjoyed by those who help the sick and suffering may be yours.
Yours Very Truly,
Greek Red Cross Society,
Committee for the United States,
Anthony P. Ralli, Treasurer.

SOCCER FOOTBALL
The Bunting Club Will Meet the North Chelmsford Team Next Saturday Afternoon
On next Saturday afternoon the Bunting club soccer football team has the bye, having no game scheduled in the Lowell, Lawrence and District soccer football league, but Manager Flynn has succeeded in arranging another game outside the league for that date which will serve to keep the players in trim. The opponents of the Bunting club on Bunting field Saturday afternoon will be the soccer football outfit of North Chelmsford. Although not included in the district soccer league, nevertheless the North Chelmsford eleven are no slight opponents and the Buntings will probably find that they have their hands full. There is considerable rivalry between the two teams.

It appears that Lowell is shy on soccer players and if the local fans will recall the lineup of last season's Y. M. C. A. team they will find that out of that number there are but five who are now playing under Lowell colors. The aggregation decided to change the name from Y. M. C. A. to Bunting and since then seven of the former members are now playing on other teams on the Lowell, Lawrence and District league. It is a fact that if all the Lowell players would represent their home city, Lowell would have one of the best teams in the district and would not encounter such difficulties as they are meeting at present. Manager Flynn of the Buntings says that with two or three first class players at the present time he would not fear any outfit in the league, but that it looks as if this city is a farm for soccer players for as soon as they get a good team together some of the out-of-town teams approach the players with enticing offers, to Lowell's loss. Furthermore, the Spindle City will continue to fight, impeded by this obstacle, until this business is ended. Manager Flynn of the locals is of the opinion that it would be a great thing for the soccer game here if the authorities of the Lowell, Lawrence and District league would make a rule doing away with this practice.

The team which will represent the Bunting club against North Chelmsford on Saturday afternoon will be picked from the following: Clegg, O'Brien, Mitchell, Taylor, Mahan, Farrell, Clayton, W. Kelly, J. Graham, J. Kelly, Burrows, Walker, Carman, O'Connor, Conliffe, Linsman, Kennedy. The game will be called promptly at 3 o'clock.

On Saturday the following games will be played in the L. L. and D. league: Methuen vs. Manchester Blues; Clan McPherson vs. Manchester United; Andover vs. Lawrence Olympics; Lawrence vs. South Lawrence.

The work of installing new rails on the Bay State street railway line on East Merrimack street near High street is progressing rapidly and will be completed this week.

FLOODS CAUSE HEAVY DAMAGE

The Loss is Figured to be in the
Thousands — Strong-Hewat
Woolen Mill Was Saved

NORTH ADAMS, Oct. 25.—Heavy rains, falling steadily for two days, have produced unusual flood conditions in the Hoosac and Deerfield valleys. The Deerfield valley so far suffered the most.

In the Hoosac, northeast of this city, the Strong-Hewat woolen mill was saved during the night by the promptness of B. A. J. Hewat, the owner. Seeing the mill and the great smokestack's foundations already submerged and the water still rapidly rising, Mr. Hewat called for volunteers, who under his direction cut a 12-foot gap in the mill dam and released the rising waters.

Thousands of dollars worth of damage was done in the Hoosac valley by washouts, and the Deerfield valley damage will not be repaired for weeks. Bridge Carried Away

At the immense plant under construction by the Power Construction company between Monroe bridge and Hoosac Tunnel station, thousands of dollars' damage was done in a few hours.

About 1 o'clock in the morning members of the construction gang were awakened by the creaking of beams and timbers. Andrew H. Berard, who has charge of the work at this point for the E. F. Smith company of Pawtucket, rushed out of his sleeping quarters just in time to see the new $3000 bridge built for temporary use, slung 20 feet into the air, twisted and broken and carried down the river on the crest of the flood.

The force of the current was indicated by the fact that one of the iron railings was found wound about a big tree, while one of the heavy iron girders was carried down the stream to the Hoosac Tunnel station.

Mr. Berard saw at once that two pumps valued at $500 each were likely to go next and he succeeded in chaining them to trees before they were submerged. They are now under water. The damage at Somerset, where the Power Construction company was doing its biggest work on a monster dam, could not be estimated yesterday. Three big steam shovels and two pumps are entirely in the water. The great big boom at that point went out yesterday morning, carrying hundreds of logs down the river.

New Mill Flooded

At Mountain Mills the Castle Bridge was partly washed away and the engine room of the new mill of the New England Hardwood company was flooded to a depth of four feet. The master mechanic, Daniel O'Connell, estimates that tools to the value of $1500 are seriously damaged.

Two bridges on the Somerset road went out also the cement bridge to Wilmington.

At Monroe Bridge yesterday morning every able-bodied man in the town turned out to fight the flood, which threatened to undermine the dam, pulp and paper mill. About midnight the water flooded the railroad tracks on the east bank of the river and began to loosen some of the foundation stones under the pulp mill, located on that bank, the paper mill being on the west side. Despite every effort, the damage to the pulp mill was so serious that the plant will probably be closed for several days.

Charles Ramage, Supt. Forbes Woods and Master Mechanic Harry Taber, with a gang of laborers, immediately set to work to build a dam of logs, brick and mud across the railroad tracks. Despite their efforts, a connection with the new track laid in connection with the changing of the gauge to standard was washed away.

In addition to the damage at the pulp mill it was found that a large hole had been made in the foundation of the paper mill and Mr. Ramage believes the larger part of the machinery will have to be reset.

The dam gates of the Power Construction company at Somerset were opened to save the company's machinery as well as the dam, and this let the flood down on the Hoosac Tunnel and Wilmington railway. Had the gates not been opened the dam would have been carried away.

The Hoosac Tunnel & Wilmington officials estimate their damage at between $3000 and $1000.

Train in Difficulties

at the regular time, 7:30 a. m., but got only as far as Mountain Mills, where it encountered the first big washout. MacTeer immediately made up another train at Readstone, and sent it to the scene of the trouble, where the passengers were transferred. The second train got as far as Monroe Bridge, where the roadbed was so badly washed that it was considered dangerous to proceed. The passengers were ordered out, two cars were uncoupled, and with MacTeer and a couple of brakemen on board, were allowed to coast down the grade over the dangerous piece of track. The passengers boarded the third train, and this time got almost to Hoosac Tunnel when they were stopped by a great boulder which had rolled on the tracks. They were transferred to flat cars and made the last part of the trip in a downpour of rain.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Lowell Opera House
Sig. Liberator, director of the fine military band and company, granted opera singers that are to be heard at the Opera House next Sunday evening, was at one time a private in the Ninth regiment Italian Volunteers under Col. Monetti Garibaldi, and it was in the service that he first became a band leader. In 1871, Liberator's first concert in Lowell was given by the Kings brigade. In 1871 he was taken prisoner while serving in the Franco-Prussian war and for two years he was bandmaster and concert soloist to his excellency Earl Dufferin, governor general of Canada. A TOTAL WRECK

Remains of Auto Found Near Lake Massabesic Station—Second Machine Found Abandoned

MANCHESTER, N. H., Oct. 25.—For the second time within a week an automobile has been found damaged beyond repair and abandoned beside the roadside in the vicinity of this city with the license number removed.

The first was found on the river road and had evidently been put out of commission in a collision.

Atchison Annual Meeting

TOPEKA, Kan., Oct. 25.—At the 15th annual meeting of the stockholders of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe R.R. held in Topeka yesterday, four directors of the road were re-elected for a term of four years. They are: Edwin J. Berwind of New York, John G. McCullough of Vermont, Henry C. Frick of Pittsburgh, and Andrew C. Johns of Kansas City.

Sixty per cent. of the 2,800,000 shares of the company's stock was represented. It was announced by President Ripley that the Santa Fe now has 35,000 stockholders, a gain of 2000 over last year.

A very enjoyable and successful fair was held in the Central Congregational church vestry last evening, under the auspices of the Central Congregational society. The event opened at 4 o'clock and continued through the evening. A large crowd attended and an excellent business was done at the numerous

At 6 o'clock supper was served and so large was the crowd that several extra settings were necessary. During the supper hour as well as later, excellent music was furnished by the "Titania Ladies' orchestra."

At 7:45 an entertainment was opened in the auditorium, that proved a most enjoyable feature. The program was as follows: Titania ladies' orchestra;

The boys of Mrs. S. A. Jackson's class gave a most enjoyable musical and entertainment at the Westminster Presbyterian church last night.

Among the numbers on the musical program were the following: Piano solos by Miss Ruth Blackie and Miss Flora Common; a piano duet by Miss Esther McLaughlin and Miss Louise Jackson; and songs by Miss Susan McQueen, Miss Elizabeth Waters, James Brown and John Dickson. Messrs. Smith and Davis were the accompanists. Edward Rowe, a former bandmaster of Glasgow, Scotland, delighted the audience with his imitations of the violin and cornet, and his characterizations. Mrs. Belle Harrington Hall gave several enjoyable readings.

NORTH CHELMSFORD

A largely attended and enthusiastic rally was held in the town hall last evening, under the auspices of the Democratic town committee. Shortly after 8 o'clock a parade was formed at St. John's hall, and headed by the life and drum corps of Forge Village, proceeded through the principal streets of the town. Included in the line of march were the Boy Cadets and the supporters of the Democratic party. Along the line of march red fire was burned and the speakers were enthusiastically greeted. Upon reaching the town hall all proceeded inside, where selections were played by the drum corps, prior to opening the meeting. John D. McManis called the meeting to order and introduced James P. Dunnigan as presiding officer. The

Atchison Annual Meeting

TOPEKA, Kan., Oct. 25.—At the 15th annual meeting of the stockholders of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe R.R. held in Topeka yesterday, four directors of the road were re-elected for a term of four years. They are: Edwin J. Berwind of New York, John G. McCullough of Vermont, Henry C. Frick of Pittsburgh, and Andrew C. Johns of Kansas City.

Sixty per cent. of the 2,800,000 shares of the company's stock was represented. It was announced by President Ripley that the Santa Fe now has 35,000 stockholders, a gain of 2000 over last year.

CHELMSFORD

A very enjoyable and successful fair was held in the Central Congregational church vestry last evening, under the auspices of the Central Congregational society. The event opened at 4 o'clock and continued through the evening. A large crowd attended and an excellent business was done at the numerous tables, located around the hall. The decorations added much to the attractiveness of the surroundings, and every detail connected with the event was carried out in a manner that reflects great credit on those in charge.

At 6 o'clock supper was served and so large was the crowd that several extra settings were necessary. During the supper hour as well as later, excellent music was furnished by the "Titania Ladies' orchestra."

At 7:45 an entertainment was opened in the auditorium, that proved a most enjoyable feature. The program was as follows: Titania ladies' orchestra;

reading, "The Museum of Orphan," Mrs. Belle Harrington Hall; solo, "To My First Love," Ravel W. Leith, leader of the Brown University Glee club; orchestra; solo, "The King is Dead," J. Horace Paradis; duet, "Life's Dream is Over," Mr. Leith and Mr. Paradis; reading, "Taking Him Down," Mrs. Hall; solo, "Three for Jack," Mr. Leith; reading, "Just Boy, Mrs. Hall; orchestra, Southern Melodist; Mrs. J. H. Paradis was accompanist for the vocal numbers.

PROGRESSIVES TURNED DOWN

Governor Foss Declines to Give Them an Audience--Parade This Afternoon

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—I take pleasure in informing you that your request for an audience is denied.

This was the concluding sentence in the reply Gov. Foss sent the progressive leaders yesterday afternoon when notified that the Bull Moose followers will march upon the state house today to demand a special session of the legislature for enactment of a senatorial preference law.

The governor said he believes the progressives are making the demand in an effort to bolster up "forlorn political hopes." He pointed out that the republican majority in the legislature, representing jointly the regular and progressive wings, had four times rejected his request for such legislation so far as it referred to the election of Senator Crane's successor.

The progressives propose to assemble, nevertheless, at the state headquarters, at Devonshire street, at 12:30 this afternoon and shortly before 1 o'clock begin to march on Beacon Hill. The leaders last night sent out a general invitation for people of all parties to join in this move to obtain for the people a right to select their own United States senators.

It is planned to halt the march at the intersection of the city hall and the state house, where the leaders of these parties are invited to join in the parade and in the movement.

Warn Governor of "Call"
Albert Hurwitz, temporary secretary of Wednesday night's meeting, yesterday sent Gov. Foss a letter, the body of which follows:

"At a meeting of the progressive city committee of the city of Boston, held on Wednesday evening, Oct. 23, 1912, at Ford hall, Boston, it was voted that I communicate with you and call to your attention that a delegation of members of the progressives of Massachusetts will call on you Friday afternoon, Oct. 25, 1912, between 1 and 2 o'clock, for the purpose of urging your excellency to call a special session of the legislature sometime before Jan. 1, 1913, and have you present before said legislature a message, inviting for its subject the holding of a state primary, whereby the voters of this commonwealth shall express their choice for the next United States senator for Massachusetts, and that a preference so expressed by the voters be binding upon the 1913 legislature."

Governor Prompt in Reply
Gov. Foss last night sent Mr. Hurwitz a letter declining to be on hand to receive the progressives this afternoon. In it he says:

"Your request, if granted, would call into special session a legislature which has four times failed to consider my demand for the same legislation which you now expect it to pass forthwith at your request."

"I called for the non-air choice of senators in my inaugural of 1912, and in three successive special messages to the legislature under dates of May 9, May 17 and June 12."

"In my message of June 12 I stated that if the general court were to adjourn without giving the people of this commonwealth the privilege of expressing their preference of candidates for United States senator at the forthcoming fall election, Massachusetts would, in my judgment, be placed in a very unfortunate position."

Republicans Are Responsible
"I agree with you that, because of this failure of the 1912 republican legislature Massachusetts is today placed in a very unfortunate position, and I say now that the responsibility for this failure rests squarely upon yourself, together with the other members of both branches of the republican party (your own or so-called progressive branch and the regular branch) for your failure to supplement and endorse any four-times repeated demand upon the republican legislature for the legislation which you now want.

"You give me credit for more credit than I possess. If you now expect me at this date to call together this same legislature in the vain hope that they will now consider any such legislation."

Bolstering Up Forlorn Hopes
"But I am not so credulous as to suppose that you are making this demand for any other purpose than the bolstering up of your own forlorn political hopes, and in the attempt to wipe out from the record of your party the stigma of not having urged this legislation when the generous court was in its regular session."

"And I thank you again for giving me this opportunity to tell the people of Massachusetts that a legislature, the republican majority of which represented jointly the regular and progressive wings of your party, four times rejected my request, so far as it referred to the election of Senator Crane's successor."

Man Held on Charge of Burglary

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Heir to one-fourth of an estate valued at $500,000, a man, who is said by the police to be William Arnold Victor Koch, was held a prisoner under bail in police court here, charged with attempted burglary, which, according to detectives who arrested him, was the result of their capturing him for excitement.

Thrilled and sullen, Koch was brought into court after a battle in a saloon with the police. To the magistrate he would not admit his identity, but the police, arraigning him under the name of "John Doe," say he has twice served sentences in jail for house breaking and burglary. They declare that they identified him through pictures in the Rogues' Gallery and by finger prints.

Silk-Lisle HOSIERY
The wonderful machines which turn out "Triplettes" hosiery are carefully adjusted. A few pairs are enough to satisfy the most exacting tastes. They are carefully tested by experts, for elasticity. And any number of re-adjustments of the machines are made until the hosiery comes out with the right elasticity. This is a painstaking, costly process. But we consider it well spent because it gives "Triplettes" hosiery the right degree of elasticity. That's the thing that makes it so comfortable. That's the one reason why "Triplettes" hosiery is so loved by the women of the world. It fits so snugly yet with no feeling of tightness. All colors, black and white. Won't crack. All weights. GOV. OSBORN INJURED

In a Railroad Accident in Chicago

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Gov. Charles S. Osborn of Michigan was one of 13 persons injured in train and street car wrecks yesterday that resulted from a dense fog in the southern part of the city.

The governor was only slightly injured on the right arm. Mrs. Osborn, who accompanied her husband, was not hurt.

Of those injured, four are believed to be dying, while others were not seriously hurt. The first wreck occurred when a Big Four train struck the rear end of a Michigan Central train at the 10th street crossing. Gov. and Mrs. Osborn were on the latter train coming to Chicago. Beside the governor, three women were slightly injured in this wreck.

A second wreck occurred when a Pennsylvania train struck a street car at 10th street. The fog was so dense that the gateman failed to see either the car or the train and left the gates open. Seven passengers on the street car were hurt, of whom four probably will die.

Another accident happened on the South Side elevated lines, when two Jackson park trains loaded with city-bound passengers met in a rear-end collision between stations, the motor-man of the second train being hurt.

SENT TO REFORMATORY

Jones of Wales Charged With Larceny

WORCESTER, Oct. 25.—A tour of the United States begun by W. C. Jones of Montgomery, Wales, on Aug. 25, when he arrived in Boston on an ocean liner, landed him in the Concord Reformatory yesterday for the alleged theft of an automobile in Ellensburg, and a warrant charging a similar offense in New York awaits service on Jones when he is released from the Massachusetts penal institution.

The spending of $5000 in a week and the raising of a large sum, believed to be up in the thousands, from hotel keepers, automobile dealers and chauffeurs by means of blank checks and letters of credit on London and Paris bankers and banks, figure in the story that Jones tells of his career in this country and the information gleaned by Police Inspector Bernard H. Flaherty of the Pittsburgh police.

The police say Jones began his fling at a hotel in Boston, and moved it to hotels in New York and spread it along among garages from Fifth avenue in New York to Brattleboro, Vt.

Jones was called upon to plead in superior court yesterday to a charge of taking the automobile of John B. Manley of Brattleboro, Vt., on Sept. 23, with a decided English accent, he said to Judge Ratigan. "Yes, I took the car, but I really did not intend to steal, but just to drive it a bit, don't you know?"

He admitted he took an automobile "just to drive a bit," that he hired from the Lawson garage on Fifth avenue in New York.

Judge Ratigan sentenced Jones to the reformatory for a year and the Pittsburgh officers have placed the New York warrant at the Concord institution for service.

Jones went to a big hotel in New York, Inspector Flaherty says, and after a few days secured advances of money on the strength of blank checks and letters of credit from Barclay Bros. of London and the bank of Paris that he displayed. Later he moved to another hotel and finally engaged an $8000 touring car from the Lawson garage.

Down on Long Island, it is claimed, Jones sent the chauffeur into a cafe for a drink. When the driver returned, Jones and car were gone. It is alleged. Man and auto were next heard of in Brattleboro, where Jones, it is said, ditched the car and left it a wreck. He then secured the Manley car and had proceeded as far as Pittsburg on Sept. 23, when Inspector Flaherty arrested him.

STATE BOARD OF TRADE

Held Annual Meeting and Elected Officers

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—The Massachusetts state board of trade held its 22d annual meeting yesterday noon at Hotel Vendome, about 100 delegates being present. The Brockton chamber of commerce was admitted to membership.

Preg. John H. Corcoran, in his annual report, urged all members to keep watch on what is going on in the various legislative bodies that may affect trade interests. The speaker severely criticized the greater liberty given trust companies over savings banks in the matter of the control of the money of depositors, and said the state laws are inconsistent in the matter.

Findlay Acker, president of the Philadelphia chamber of commerce, a guest at the meeting, was given a reception before luncheon. He spoke on "Commercial and Transportation Facts and Fallacies," dealing with theories as to the high cost of living, his belief being that advanced cost is due largely to increased cost of labor and depleted supply of some raw materials. He also cited a steadily advancing standard of living.

He denied the increased cost of living is due in any large measure to excessive profits for the dealers.

The election resulted in most of the old officers being chosen again, including John H. Corcoran as president, and Richard L. Gay, secretary and treasurer. Ten of the 55 vice presidents were not re-elected and were succeeded by E. Kinsman Banks of Beverly, Anthony W. Strauss of Cambridge, Frank B. Howard of Chicago, Edward B. Kingman of Leominster, M. V. Bresnahan of Lynn, Abbott C. Lamson of Malden, James Y. Noyes of Marlboro, Albert E. Cole, Henry B. Humphrey and Jason Bailey.

The meeting next month will be at Springfield, where the members will be guests of the local board of trade.

WALSH AND ATTELL DRAW

Exciting Time at the Pilgrim A.
A. Meeting in Boston
Last Night

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—A draw was the decision by the referee of the 12-round bout between Abe Attell and Jimmy Walsh at the Pilgrim A. A. last night. Attending the bout was considerable excitement, caused by hoodlums, who made the fans think that an army was raiding the place, by the way they broke the windows and doors.

Still more trouble developed when Walsh's manager refused to let Jimmy box unless the rounds were out to two minutes. There was a big howl from the fans over this, and a lot of unpleasant things were said. The club officials showed that they were not responsible for the shortening of the rounds.

It appears that when the match was made it was agreed that the weight should be 124 pounds. Several days later Attell notified the club that he could not make the weight in the time, and asked for catchweights. Walsh's manager agreed to this, to the club officials' delight.

Walsh is said to have weighed under 124 pounds yesterday afternoon, but Attell did not, for, according to the agreement, he did not have to. Not until the men were in the ring and the fans anxious to see the mill start did the manager of Walsh make his demand for two-minute rounds.

After some time the howling fans let up, and Attell announced that he would box according to Walsh's manager's demands.

Attell is far from being the Attell of old, although he showed flashes of his former cleverness. He is the same confident boxer of old, and he went after Walsh as if he were not the boxer that Walsh is rated.

For nine rounds the honors were Attell's by a big margin. He could shoot his left at Walsh's face and body whenever he wanted to, and a number of times when at close range he beat a merry tattoo with both hands on Walsh's body. The manner in which he would get his head away from Walsh's leads and the way he would use both hands when in the clinches were reminders of his old style. He also did some good blocking.

While Walsh landed some rights and lefts on Attell's face, many of these blows Attell deliberately opened up for and took without making any pretense of blocking them. A few times he shot the right over for the jaw, and although the blows landed, they did not bring about what Attell desired.

After the ninth round Attell acted as if he had stowed himself up. He did not tear after Walsh the way he did in the previous rounds, but he did not try so often to work both hands into the body.

On the other hand Walsh sent many lefts and rights to the face, and some of them Attell could have blocked if he felt like it. Attell landed some lefts on the face and body.

In the last two rounds Walsh made a great dash and landed some good blows on Attell's face and body.

While it looked to most of the fans as if Attell was entitled to the award, the referee called it a draw. After the bout Attell said that he hurt his right hand on Walsh's elbow in the 11th round, and that the reason he took so many of Walsh's blows without trying to stop them was because Walsh was not hitting hard.

The bout between Joe Nelson of Lawrence and George Robinson, the colored Cambridge boxer, was a red hot affair. Robinson was too clever and too fast on his feet for Nelson and easily won the decision at the end of the eight rounds.

In the opening bout Tommy O'Brien of Charlestown and Tony Lorenzo of Boston boxed six hard and fast rounds and O'Brien was declared the winner. In the other preliminary Fatsy De Luca and Dave Powers went six hard rounds and the bout was called a draw.

Duffy Gets Trouncing
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Jack Britton of Chicago gave Freddie Duffy of Boston an artistic trouncing in a 10-round bout at the 41st street Sporting club last night. Britton at the end permitted Duffy to remain on his feet, that he could have knocked Duffy out in the final round was apparent.

Duffy was weak and reeled around helplessly from a right to the chin and an uppercut. While Duffy was in this plight Britton gave his adversary several little jabs with his right, as though using a powder puff. Under this sort of treatment Duffy remained on his feet to the final gong. The weights were: Duffy 123 1-4, Britton 123 3-4 pounds.

The middle sessions, particularly the sixth and seventh rounds, were interesting. During these chapters Duffy boxed well and staggered Britton several times.

Jim Savage of New Jersey stopped "McKenna" Keating, a local heavy-weight, in the first round of their scheduled 10-round session. Referee Young Corbett stopped the bout. Tommy Hudson of Windsor, Canada, knocked out Johnny Craven of Toronto in the fifth round of their bout.

The Jim Barry-Joe Jeannette bout was declared off.

Roger Bresnahan's Dismissal as Manager

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 25.—The removal of Roger Bresnahan as manager of the St. Louis National baseball team was not wholly unexpected in view of the numerous reports of the past year. It has crept almost as much comment as the discharge of Frank Chance by Charles W. Murphy. Either of these men would be welcomed in several other cities. Bresnahan's record with the Cardinals compares very favorably with the achievements of numerous other managers who are considered fairly successful. While he had a poor season in 1912, he was gradually getting together a pretty good ball club, and he was always a strong road attraction. More than likely Miller Huggins, the Cards' second baseman, will be Bresnahan's successor. A year ago Bresnahan was signed by Stanley Robinson to a four years' contract as playing manager at a salary of $10,000. He was also to receive 10 per cent. of the net profits. Bresnahan will demand settlement in full.

WALSH GREATEST PITCHER

According to Opinion of
Umpire Dineen

"Ed Walsh is the most valuable pitcher to his club of any hurler in baseball. Considering his continuous service and his record for 1912, he stands out as one of the marvels of the game."

This tribute is from Umpire Dineen, at one time considered among the greatest pitchers in the game and the player who won a world's series for Boston in 1903.

Dineen is in a position to judge of the relative merits of players in the American league. He is behind the plate as arbitrator and can form a conservative opinion. His stellar career as a pitcher gives more weight to his opinion.

"I have watched Walsh closely for several years, and it is nothing less than wonderful the way he continues to pitch effective ball. When Walsh was worked so much by Fielder Jones in 1908 many said that would be about all for his big Ed. They thought he had shot his bolt. It didn't seem any human being could stand all that work and retain his effectiveness. Walsh has worked nearly four seasons since 1908, when he appeared in so many games. He has continued to pitch nearly six seasons since he won a world's championship for the White Sox, but he seems to be about as strong today as seven years ago.

"I attribute Walsh's great stamina and wonderful record to the splendid care he takes of himself. Other players with similar talents have been addicted to drink or have had some failing which has sapped their vitality and shortened their careers. Walsh takes good care of himself. He doesn't drink intoxicants, chew tobacco or chase around. He is not a habitué of the Great White Way.

"When I watched Walsh fan Hal Chase in a bunch as he did Frank Baker at Philadelphia I couldn't help admiring the big fellow for conserving his talents. There couldn't be a greater test of a player's gameness than facing Frank Baker with the bases loaded, none out and a run needed to tie the score. That was what Walsh faced, and he conquered Baker in much the same manner as he humbled Chase and Speaker in similar tight places. It is evidence to me that Walsh is about as effective today as he ever was."

Walsh has a record this season that outshines that of Walter Johnson in spite of the fact that the "big mouse" has worked much harder and longer than the wonderful speed dispenser of the Washington Senators. Walsh has appeared in more games for the White Sox than Johnson. He has pitched against the Philadelphia Athletics, the

World's Championships
to be Held in Boston

What will undoubtedly prove the greatest carnival of bicycle racing ever seen in this country will be staged at the Arena in Boston beginning Nov. 1. It will include the world's championships in sprint racing, motor-paced races and a six-day event.

This is the first time in the history of the game that the championships have been decided in the Hub.

The best riders in the world have been signed to compete here. England will send its best men, while France, Italy, Germany and Austria will be represented by the stars and, of course, the American riders will be in the lists.

Among the latter will be seen Elmer Collins, the Lynn speed merchant; Jimmie Moran, Chelsea's favorite; Eddie Root, Bobby Walthour, Floyd Grebs, Frank Krauer, world's champion sprinter; Percy Lawrence, George Wiley and Joe Fogler.

The six-day carnival will start Friday evening with the sprint championships, and Saturday evening will also be devoted to this. The long six-day grind will start at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon, Nov. 4, and ten hours will be given each day to racing. Fourteen teams have already been signed, while several more are expected.

This is the first six-day event in the Hub for two years. The demand this year by the cycle "fans" has been so great that Alex McLean has been working for several months to line up what he expects to be the greatest bike event ever seen in this country.

McLean has already made arrangements for the building of the fastest and most up-to-date board track ever constructed here. He is sparing no expense with either track or talent and expects to make this week a credit to the cycle game.

New York's Six Day Race

Although some doubt was expressed at the time that John M. Chapman signed for the New York six-day race in manager, as to his ability to produce the proper talent for the coming race in Madison Square garden, Dec. 9 to 14, Chapman lost very little sleep over the "signing" of the riders, and so far he has as strong a field as has ever been signed two months previous to the contest. With one or two exceptions the list is as good if not better, than other fields in past years. Jackie Clark and Joe Fogler have not signed as yet and the trouble may be settled satisfactorily to both of these riders. Clark's trouble is of a financial nature, while Fogler wants to ride with Clark, and Chapman says no.

Fogler contends that as Kramer and Moran are paired up that he has a right to pair with the man with whom he won last year, but Chapman wants Fogler and Clark to pair with other riders. Might be that these two would win on their own and cause the latter to have many restless and pained moments during his six days of residence in Diana's palace of torture.

With two or three teams yet to be added, the riders will line up in the next Madison Square garden race in the following manner:

Frank Kramer and James Moran.
Alfred Grauda and Ernie Pyle.
Reddy brothers.
Paddy Hehir and Eddie Root.
George Wiley and Percy Lawrence.
Jake Magin and George Cameron.
Lloyd Thomas and Martin Ryan.
Clarence Carman and Elmer Collins.
"Bobby" Walthour and Gordon Walker.
Walter DeMara and Ernest Johns.
Alvin Loftis and Jumbo Wells.
Peter Brodach and possibly W. L. Mitten.
Andre Perchicot and French mate.

heaviest sluggers in the circuit, many more times than has Johnson.

Johnson is a sensational exponent of speed in a pitcher and in this respect is a rival of Amos Rusie. Johnson and Rusie are on a par in this respect, but neither possessed the varied talents of Walsh. Johnson makes use of his speed almost exclusively to buffet the batter. Walsh has the speed and a varied assortment of other balls. He is the greatest spitball pitcher who ever drew breath, says Frank Schulte of the Chicago Cubs, who met Walsh last season in the Chicago city series.

ANOTHER RACE MEET

ham Park Saturday

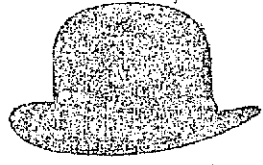

A series of special automobile races will be held at Rockingham Park Saturday under the auspices of several dealers and private owners. In addition to a race for the Rockingham Park Trophy, Harry Grant, driving a Stutz, will race the winners of the trophy and the 25-mile race and a special event to lower the record for a mile track will be staged.

A feature of the meet will be the absence of admission fees, the public being admitted to the races without charge. A small fee will be charged for grandstand seats and for the parking of motor cars in order to defray expenses.

The committee in charge consists of John J. Judd, of the Jackson Motor Car Company, chairman; Arthur J. Cammissey, Lowell agent for Stutz cars; Prof. David L. Gallup of Worcester Polytechnic Institute, who enters a Studebaker; J. F. Vallock, sales manager of the Lexington Motor Car Company of New England; and Richard G. Badger and N. F. Darling, entering privately-owned National cars.

The entrants include Harry Grant, twice winner of the Vanderbilt cup and Jack Le Cain, in Stutz cars; J. F. Badger, with a Stutz; Harry Cole, with a Jackson; Daniel Higgins, who drove a masterly race last week in the Studebaker; and several private owners. The list of events include a 10-mile free-for-all for the Rockingham Park Trophy, donated by the Rockingham Park Association; a 5-mile event for amateurs, in which Curtis Downes and Paul Moulton have already entered; a 25-mile professional race, for which seven starters are already prominent; a special 20-mile match between Grant and the winner of the two other professional events, and a mile time trial to establish a mile track record.

Harry W. Knights, New England member of the A. A. contest board has promised that a sanction will be granted, while Manager James F. Keen of the Rockingham Park Association is doing his part to make the meet a success. The officials who had charge of last week's races will again officiate.

THE WORK IS PROGRESSING

On the Plant of New Rubber Company in Middlesex Street

Work is rapidly progressing on the new building of the Patterson Rubber Co. Lowell is very fortunate in being chosen as the city in which this large concern is to manufacture their goods. Mr. E. G. Baker has the contract for the construction work. Mr. C. A. O'Neill is the resident engineer. The building which this plant is located on is on Middlesex street, right on the line between North Chelmsford and Lowell. Ten acres of land have been purchased by the company, extending from Middlesex street to the railroad tracks. The majority of the land is on the Lowell side but it also extends into North Chelmsford. Just at present they are laying the foundation for the new building. The building will be a two-story structure and will extend from Middlesex street to the N. Y. N. H. & R. R. R. The new buildings are to be four stories in height and made of brick with cement trimmings, electric lights and all the equipment that goes with an up-to-date manufacturing concern. The factory will include the power house which will be 200 feet long and 40 feet wide. It is a "thin veiled" running up for the state, and upon which his counsel, John P. McIntyre, declined to comment. To do so, he said, would place him in contempt of court.

Stripped of its legal verbiage as it came from the careful lips of Justice Goff, the charge was, in effect, a ruling that the guilt or innocence of the prisoner rested almost solely upon the delectable point as to whether Sam Schepps was an accomplice to the crime. Dapper little Schepps, when arrested at Hot Springs, styled himself as the "keystone" of the arch. As events transpired, he spoke truer than he knew.
"It is for you to determine whether Sam Schepps was an accomplice," charged Justice Goff. "You cannot convict on the uncorroborated stories of Rose, Webster and Vallon."
As to whether Sam Schepps was an accomplice, the justice refused to charge, saying that while a "suspicion exists that he was, I must say I have a doubt in my own mind."
What he did instruct the jurors to do was to return a verdict of first degree murder, or second degree murder, or to acquit the defendant. Murder was eliminated, and "a no compromise verdict" was directed upon the motion of Becker's lawyer.
By far the greater part of the court's instruction dealt with murder in the first degree, the penalty for which is the electric chair.
Planked by counsel, face expressionless, Becker sat chewing gum, while the court delivered the charge. Back of the railing sat his wife, head bowed, eyes downcast.
The white-haired justice spoke in a monotone, but with incisive deliberation.
"It is not claimed by the prosecution that Becker's hand did actually kill Rosenthal," he said at a crucial point. "It is claimed that he requested and directed that the killing should be done and as I have already instructed the jury, Becker, in law, must be held responsible for the acts of every one who acted in pursuance of his request or instructions."
"It is important here that I should direct you as to the law governing the case now presented: Where a person is claimed not to have done the actual killing, but to have inspired it and instructed it. Under the law Becker stands charged principally with the commission of the crime of murder on the ground that he counseled and advised it."
The court here added that the main witnesses against the defendant were without a doubt accomplices, and he so branded Rose, Vallon and Webster. Schepps's relation he would not define.
At 4:50 o'clock Justice Goff received a communication from the jury and immediately sent for Dist. Atty. Whitman and Mr. McIntyre and John W. Hart, counsel for the defense. They went into conference.
The communication from the jury was a request for copies of the stipulations made by the state with Rose, Webster, Vallon and Schepps at Hot Springs, Ark., to Rose, offering to testify. The documents were sent to the jury room.
The 12 jurors, with solemn faces and measured steps, filed into the court room at 11:55 o'clock. A minute later the defendant was brought in from the Tombs. Justice Goff had not yet entered the room and for a moment Becker took a side seat.

taxicab this forenoon to meet Mr. McIntyre preparatory to a conference with the jurors revealed the fact that they came to an agreement that precluded any possibility of their talking about the case without breaking their oaths. Before Justice Goff had urged them to keep silent they had decided to say nothing about the manner in which they arrived at their verdict or to refer to any of the incidents that attended the last day of the trial.

MEMBERS OF JURY REFUSE TO DISCUSS REASONS THAT LED TO THEIR DECISION

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The twelve men comprising the jury which found a verdict of first degree murder against Lieut. Charles Becker, who had been tried for the killing of the gambler Herman Rosenthal, refused this morning to discuss the reasons which led to their decision.
Murder trials are usually followed by extensive interviews with the jurymen. But in this case the court cautioned them to remain silent on what happened during the seven hour debate on Becker's fate. One of the first places to which news of the verdict was taken was the West Side prison, where are quartered the informers, Jack Rose, Sam Schepps, Bridgie Webster and Harry Vallon. The four apparently expected a disagreement, however, for they were all united with the exception of Schepps. He was at first suspicious when told that a first degree verdict had been returned, then remarked loudly.
"Mr. Whitman is a smart man," keepers at the Tombs said that Becker did not sleep last night, although no sound came from his cell after he had been marched over the bridge of sighs, stunned by the verdict. He was to confer with his lawyers today and declined to give out any extended interview. His fellow prisoners heard the verdict almost instantly that it was announced. In some mysterious manner the message flashed from cell to cell and when Becker tramped back along the corridor, faces were pressed at the bars to watch him.

Yet no one spoke to him. He gazed neither to right nor left and his set face invited no cheering comments from his companions. Not a word had come today from the four gunmen and the two alleged accomplices—"Jack" Sullivan and William Shapiro, who are also to be tried for Rosenthal's death. The dates for their trials, which probably will be separate, have not been announced.
Inasmuch as their testimony will be used at the trials to come, the informers will doubtless remain in jail as confessions and threats against them have expressed no desire for liberty and when they are eventually released it is said that they will leave New York.

Lieut. Becker enlisted in the New York police department Nov. 1, 1891. He was 25 years old at the time. His father is dead but his mother, now in her 83rd year, lives in New York and is overjoyed at his conviction.
Becker's chief counsel, was confident of success in this action. "There is not the slightest doubt," he said, "that there will be a reversal of this verdict in a higher court."
Becker will be in court on Wednesday next and at that time sentence of death will be pronounced.
It was declared this morning that the jury arrived at its verdict of first degree murder after only three formal ballots. At no time during the eight hours of deliberation was there a question of Becker's guilt—the only matter of debate being as to whether the verdict should be for first degree murder, meaning death to the prisoner, or second degree murder, which is punishable by life imprisonment. It was said that the first ballot showed eight of the jurors for conviction in the first degree, while on the second poll all but one of the 12 were agreed. The final ballot, taken shortly before midnight, was unanimous for a verdict of first degree murder.

Becker's conviction will now turn his attention as to whether the verdict should be for first degree murder, meaning death to the prisoner, or second degree murder, which is punishable by life imprisonment. It was said that the first ballot showed eight of the jurors for conviction in the first degree, while on the second poll all but one of the 12 were agreed. Why Druggists Believe In "NURITO"

The New and Effective Remedy for Rheumatism, Sciatica and Neuritis

We want all the sufferers in this city to know why we believe in "Nurito," because their belief is bound to be founded on ours. This new, progressive remedy is the work of a doctor whose standing we know. There is no mystery about it—no patent medicine deception. Like men who are today working the great advances in medicine the world over, this physician has simply utilized and combined ingredients which separately were recognized by doctors as having a tendency to drive the uric acid poison out of the system.
It is their unique combination which is new. Instead of a mere tendency to relieve, "Nurito" gives absolute relief which is as permanent as the relief from any disease can be.
There is neither narcotic nor opiate in this prescription—simply a harmless powder which is a complete antidote for uric acid poison. Patients who have been almost distracted by the knife-thrust, darting, rheumatic pains have been greatly relieved in a very few hours and entirely relieved in a remarkably short time.
Doctors throughout the country believe in "Nurito"—they have seen its work. We, as druggists, give it our fullest endorsement. We know that there is no other relief here for every sufferer and that often a single $1 box will be the most convincing evidence of it. Compounded by Magistral Chemical Co., Flatiron Bldg., N. Y.

Men and Nations in the Balkan Mixup That is Attracting the Attention of the Entire World Today and Some of the Leaders in the Trouble

1-Turkish infantrymen. 2-King George of Greece. 3-King Nicholas of Montenegro. 4-King Ferdinand of Bulgaria. 5-Water front scene, Constantinople. 6-Montenegrin king embracing general before sending him to the front. 7-Sultan Mohammed V. driving (cross marks sultan). 8-Montenegrin general. 9-King Peter of Servia. 10-Montenegrin officers and soldiers.

Ten years ago a leading encyclopedia writer said of the Balkans: "The strife of nationalities is intense in the Balkan peninsula and threatens at any moment to disturb the existing order." The same might have been written with truth at any time within the past hundred years. Indeed, so constant and continuous has been the condition of disturbance in the Balkans that it became trite commonplace.

The "war cloud over the Balkans" has been one of the stock jokes of newspaper offices in Europe and America. Wars and rumors of wars have been the normal condition of affairs in the southeastern corner of Europe; peace has been the abnormality.

Ordinary rumors of serious trouble there would therefore have been received with incredulity by the wise men whose business it is to read the cable dispatches carefully. But when the armies of four distinct nationalities prepare for service and ordered the were mobilized for immediate action against Turkey, when reports told of the putting on a war footing of more than 1,000,000 soldiers, the editors instructed their war correspondents to usually disturbed and restless since 1908, when Bulgaria declared her independence of Turkey and Austria-Hungary startled Europe and the rest of the world by gobbling up the Turkish provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina. Some of the Balkan states saw in the action of the dual monarchy a menace to their own existence and feared the loss of their autonomy, gained with pain and anguish from Turkey. But Europe acquiesced in the action of Franz Joseph's government and the war talk quieted down. None of the Balkan states was strong enough by itself to pick up the quarrel, and there was at that time no possibility of a coalition. So Austria gained two important provinces simply by the process of stretching out her hand and telling the impotent Turkish government, torn by internal troubles, that it might do as it pleased about the action.

Lightning From the "War Cloud"

That was four years ago. Last year came the Italo-Turkish war over Tripoli, dressed along until recently with no important actions. The rest of the world had almost forgotten that men were fighting and dying on the African sands in a struggle that threatened to be interminable. Peace negotiations had hardly begun before the old "war cloud in the Balkans," this time a war cloud with no silver lining, began to send out the lightning of real conflict. Before the world knew it Montenegrin and Turkish soldiers were exchanging shots across the border.

This year's Balkan trouble came to a head in August, when Turkish troops attacked and massacred the inhabitants of Bulgarian villages. There were the usual reports of men, women and children butchered by the Turkish soldiery, of burnings and lootings. The great nations have heard so many of these reports in recent decades and have let them go unheeded. But little Montenegro, animated either by desire to avenge the slaughtered or by a national yearning for expansion, or by both, occupied Turkish territory and fighting ensued.

Behind Montenegro, that little country that is hardly more than a speck on the map, stands Russia, with encouragement that is called secret, but is really open. And behind Russia is the impelling force of the desire to force the Ottomans back into Asia, whence they came at the end of the fourteenth century to conquer Serbia, and establish themselves in Europe. They had already seized Adrianople in 1561, and made it their capital.

All Former Turkish Provinces

Turkey stands now ringed around with Christian powers, most of whom it held in subjection at one time or other in the four centuries and a half that have elapsed since Mohammed II, and his terrible Mussulman warriors crashed through the walls of Byzantium, the city that was the last remnant of the Roman empire. For centuries Turkey held in subjection the Christian folk within her European empire and decided the Christian powers to set them free. But the power of the present waned with the centuries, and misgovernment and corruption displaced the strong centralized government founded by Mohammed and his able successors.

For at least two centuries Europe has been hoping and plotting for the time when concerted action would make possible the forcing back of the Ottomans beyond the Danube. It may be that the hour has struck now and that the taking of Bosnia and Herzegovina by Austria-Hungary, the virtual freeing of Egypt and the occupation of Tripoli by Italy mean the realization of the dream.

Were it not for the fact that the same hour which ushers in the freedom of Europe from the presence of Turk will probably mean the inauguration of a reign of jealousy and strife among the Balkan powers it would be a consummation devoutly to be wished. Macedonia is soaked in the blood of Christians massacred by Turkish troops with the acquiescence or open approval of the authorities, and other European and Asiatic Christians have felt the bitter weight of the Turkish yoke. They are not angels by any means, these Macedonian victims of Turkish misgovernment; they are turbulent, unruly, vindictive, passionate and given to murder as an ordinary passion of the people of the great powers, and they deserve a better fate than massacre for their religious belief.

Likelihood of European Mixup

As to the probable outcome of war in the Balkans between Serbia, Bulgaria, Montenegro and Greece, united in spite of their mutual jealousies, on the one hand, and Turkey on the other, not much can be gathered from the experiences of the past. There is and has been too much likelihood of the bayonets of Russia and the other European powers becoming mixed in friendly or hostile fashion with those of other great powers or with the weapons of the states directly interested.

It must not be forgotten that the paw of the "bear which walks like a man" is extended in the direction of Constantinople and that Russian statesmen would like nothing better than to hear the Orthodox mass intoned in the ancient church, now the mosque, of St. Sophia. There is that old, possibly mythical will of Peter the Great, which, according to legend or authentic history, bids his descendants not to sleep in peace until the Russian might sit enthroned by the Dardanelles.

One thing about a Balkan war may be stated with certainty. That is that the Turk is a mighty good fighter and yields only when he is overwhelmed. This is true individually and collectively of the Ottoman warriors. They proved their fighting qualities and their generals displayed their abilities in the war against Russia in 1877-8 and in the brief almost ridiculous war in which they disposed of Greece in 1897.

Russian homes still mourn the thousands who "battered" themselves to pieces against the walls of Plevna, and the Greeks know from bitter experience that an expedition against the Turk is just the reverse of a picnic. Italy has recently evinced decided respect for the fighters able to withstand her in the African sands. All Europe, in short, knows that as a military power Turkey is far from being decadent, however it may be with her in other points of civilization.

It is this which has given pause to Europe when thoughts of taking vengeance for Christians massacred in Asia Minor and European Turkey were in the air. It was this which nullified the efforts of Gladstone thundering in English mass meetings against the "great assassin," Turkey, has been dubbed "the sick man of Europe," but in at least one of his members, the army, he has shown great and enduring vitality.

More Than 1,000,000 Fighters
A nation which can put into the field

1,175,000 fighters, brave and fanatical, is not to be despised. Military critics have said that if Italian territory bordered on Turkish and that if Italy's navy did not command the seas between the two countries the tale of the war would probably bear an entirely different complexion. Man for man, the Turkish soldier is as good as the best Europe can show, and military genius is not lacking among the descendants of the men who conquered all of southeastern Europe, Persia, Syria and Egypt four centuries ago.

An important element in the situation is religion. If Turkey falls, and with it a large part of the temporal authority of the papacy, or sultan, spiritual head of Mohammedanism, he may call upon the Moslems of the world to take up arms against their Christian rulers. This would be an extremely serious thing for Russia, with her hordes of Mussulman subjects, and for Great Britain, with her millions of Mohammedans in India and elsewhere. Hindustan is already seething with unrest, and the addition of the flames of religious hatred might cause the pot to boil over, bringing on another Indian mutiny.

Even the United States, which has Mohammedan subjects in the Philippines might feel the tidal wave of trouble which would sweep around the world. While the temporal power of Constantinople has waned, the religious authority of the sultan has increased. He commands the religious allegiance of Mohammedans in all parts of the world.

POLICE COURT SESSION

Case of Threatening Occupied Judge Enright

The greater part of this morning's session of the police court was taken up with the hearing of the case of Joseph Perry charged with threatening Judge Enright. Court did not open until about 10:30 o'clock because of the numerous cases brought before Judge Enright in the juvenile session.

Joseph Perry, the defendant, who resides in Elm street and is employed at the new car shops of the Boston & Maine railroad at Fillerica, said he went to the complainant's house to visit it his (Perry's) cousin. He admitted that he had been drinking during the day. He spoke to one of the women in the house and she used a vile epithet, whereupon Travers ordered him out of the house and he was later ejected by two men. He denied that he threw a knife, although he had a jack-knife in his pocket at the time.

The court found the defendant guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $15. Daniel J. Donahue appeared for the government and the defendant was represented by J. Joseph O'Connor.

Refused to Testify

Sarah Reay called at the office of the clerk of the court yesterday and complained that her husband, James Reay, had assaulted her. After giving her version of the alleged assault a warrant was issued and later Reay was arrested.

In court this morning Mrs. Reay said she did not want to testify against her husband and was sorry that she had made the complaint.

Judge Enright ordered that the case be dismissed.

Drunken Offenders

Stephen Foley when asked to plead to a complaint charging him with being drunk answered: "Guilty," and added: "If I wasn't drunk I wouldn't be here."

Foley was arrested in the vicinity of lower Middlesex street about 11:50 o'clock last night by Corporation Officer Briggs, but the latter had no complaint to make other than that of drunkenness.

"Where do you belong?" asked the court.

"Concord, Mass.," answered the defendant. "I was never here in my life before."

"Well don't come here again."

"I hope I will not."

The court then imposed a fine of $2.

Charles J. Kennedy pleaded guilty to having been drunk in Dracut. His case was continued till tomorrow.

Matthew J. Moore was sentenced to three months in jail, there was one first offender who was fined $2 and one simple drunk was released.

"Has commission form of government proven more or less efficient than the former system?"

"How long has the commission form of government been in operation in your city?"

"Has it given greater or less result to the people for the tax expense?"

"Would your people be willing to go back to the former system?"

The city of Savannah is soon to vote for or against the adoption of a new form of government.

THE HIGH TARIFF FALLACY EXPOSED

Congressman Redfield who is accounted one of the most prominent manufacturers in the United States is taking an active part in this campaign in support of the democratic ticket. He was to speak in this city last Tuesday night but was held in Lawrence until it was too late to make the journey over the road.

But Mr. Redfield's views on the tariff are of special interest so widely do they differ from those of republican manufacturers who seem to think that without a high tariff their business would soon collapse.

Mr. Redfield shows that the industries that are unprotected pay the highest wages and have the largest export trade. The average duty on cottons is 50 per cent. and on woollens 90 per cent., yet these industries pay the lowest wages of any in New England and the republicans say that the high tariff is a protection to labor. Side by side with this is the shoe industry which pays almost the highest average wage. American woollens find but a small market abroad, though made at a low wage and under high protection. American shoes are found all over the world though made at a high wage and with little or no protection.

Here is a statement from Congressman Redfield that should be deeply impressed upon the minds of the textile manufacturers of New England:

One does not question the technical skill or executive ability of our great textile managers, but one may fairly judge by their results that they have not yet learned to operate their industries in accordance with the fundamental laws of human nature. They cry for high protection and they pay the lowest wages in the land. They cry that they cannot compete with Europe and instead of operating under the American plan of highly paid, well treated and well equipped labor, they try to beat Europe at its own game of low wages and naturally fail.

There are exceptions. There are, it is a good thing to know, textile mills here that have through years patiently tried to develop on a sound basis the loyal support of a well-paid, well treated, well equipped and well managed force and while those mills do not exploit this to the public eye, they prosper and are glad. Two of them to my knowledge are quite indifferent to tariff changes for they feel secure in their ability to compete.

Here is an argument against the high protection and cheap labor that should be taken to heart by the cotton and woolen manufacturers in New England who try to keep down wages and feel that but for the high tariff they could not do business. It is a proof that if they had more skilled and better paid help they could defy the world in competition. Had the republicans allowed the cotton and woolen tariff bills to pass the reduction would have benefited both industries. Thus the democratic contention in regard to the tariff is borne out for Congressman Redfield shows that steel rails are sold in Europe and Asia, that American locomotives operate the railways of Japan, that the newspapers of Rio are printed on American presses and the colons set on Linotype machines of American manufacture. Engines made in America operate machinery in Java, the cotton gins used in Turkistan are made in Texas while American stationery, soap and toilet articles, he says, are found all around the globe. It is as Mr. Redfield contends too late to raise the cry of foreign competition when we ourselves are the chief menace to these competitors in their own fields. These are but a few of the proofs that might be adduced to prove the fallacy of the high tariff idea but it is favored as a special privilege for certain industries in this country because it enables them to rob the people and that is practically what they have been doing for the past twenty years. The people can bring about the desired change by electing the democratic ticket on November 5 and placing Governor Wilson at the head of the government for the next four years.

GOLDEN AGAINST THE I. W. W.

Not only the branches of the American Federation of Labor and other labor unions, but the wage workers and manufacturing corporations as well, will deeply appreciate the scathing denunciation of the I. W. W. leaders made by John Golden at the convention of the United Textile Workers of America in Boston Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Golden has been a close observer of the methods adopted by the I. W. W. leaders and his opinions expressed but the general sentiment among those who have studied the methods adopted by the organization in question. It is gratifying to know that a man so prominent as a leader in the textile organizations of this country should take such a pronounced stand against this new form of promoting industrial strife apparently for the purpose of spreading revolutionary ideas and overthrowing the wage system for the application of socialistic theories.

Mr. Golden is not the only labor man who has noticed the luxurious manner in which the leaders of the I. W. W. enjoy themselves at the finest hotels while promoting strikes in which thousands of people including a large proportion of women and children are driven to the point of starvation. It seems that the chief thing necessary to check the progress of the I. W. W. in paralyzing the industries of New England is the education of the public as to the real motives and tendencies of this new organization. The conservative operatives who believe in the American form of government, who are loyal to the constitution and the flag will have nothing to do with the I. W. W. Furthermore, since the display of the anarchist flag by this organization in the city of Lawrence it may as well be plainly stated that membership in this organization will hereafter be regarded as proof of disloyalty to the institutions of this country and adherence to revolutionary ideas such as are advocated by the leaders of the I. W. W. including syndicalism, sabotage and direct action which means the declaration of a labor strike and negotiation afterward.

Mr. Golden claims that the United Textile Workers settled the Lawrence strike for the benefit of all concerned while the I. W. W. leaders were sending out appeals for funds and laboring to prolong the struggle although thousands were at the point of starvation.

PLACING THE BLAME

For some time past some of the leaders of the republican campaign in this state, and Charles S. Bird, the Bull Moose nominee for governor, have been challenging Gov. Foss to call a special session of the legislature for the purpose of passing a senatorial primary law by which to select United States senators. The governor comes back at them with overwhelming force when he shows he advocated this measure in a message to the legislature and that the republicans in that body prevented its enactment. The statement issued by the governor says: "the fact that we have no provision for the expression of popular preference for senator remains as the direct fault of the republican forces in the state, including Mr. Hale and Mr. Bird and the governor declines to take from their shoulders this burden of responsibility which they are now so eager to cast off on the eve of election."

The governor advocated a primary election law for this purpose in his inaugural address of 1911, again in 1912 and in a special message on May 9 and June 12 of this year. The failure of the legislature to pass the measure is, therefore, with all fairness laid at the door of the republican leaders who are now endeavoring to blame the governor because such a law has not been enacted.

The Rogers Hall school is to be congratulated upon the opening of such a splendid gymnasium. During their years of study young ladies may be greatly benefited by a well directed course of gymnastics without, however, any attempt to make them expert athletes or to carry the exercises so far as to interfere with study.

The voters of Lowell, we believe, are intelligent enough to know when anybody attempts to throw dust in their eyes to blind them as to the real issues. Look out for the man who adopts this policy. He is not to be trusted as a representative of the people.

THE LINGERIE WAISTS BRIGHTEN OLD SUITS

How to Launder Them Some Ideas That Will at Small Expense Prove Valuable

Some of the lingerie waists are so simple this season that laundering them at home is by no means a difficult matter, and if one only has the time to spare for it there will surely be a saving of money, as laundry bills have an unpleasant habit of mounting up.

To wash, lay the blouse in warm water made sudsy with good white soap and a little borax. If the waist is much soiled let it stay in this water overnight. Next morning squeeze it out and wash in warm suds, lifting the waist up and down in the water, but never rubbing it. Soap should never be rubbed on fine material, because doing so thickens the threads and makes the material look coarse.

When clean rinse in warm water, then in cold. If the blouse looks yellow use a few drops (a very few) of liquid bluing.

Starch should be used only in the smallest quantity. Mix a tablespoonful of raw starch in a little cold water and pour on boiling water until it becomes the consistency of cream. Pass the blouse through this and squeeze.

Next lay on a clean towel and roll up. Leave for some hours and then take out the waist. Shake it well, and if still wet hang up until only damp. Have good hot irons and see that they are perfectly clean. Use good mat and, if necessary, iron paper. Any bits of black on the irons will surely be transferred to the blouse, as most amateur laundresses know.

Embroidery and laces are ironed on the wrong side. To iron the blouse, first do the collar and cuffs, next the sleeves. The backs come next in order and the fronts last.

If the blouse be made of delicate color or white combined with a color, a few drops of ammonia should be added to the last rinsing water. That will restore any color that may have "come out in the wash." Very hot irons will destroy the color even more than soap and water, so take care that they are only of medium heat. Should the color change when ironing, do not be alarmed for there is nothing wrong.

It is because oil has been used in the manufacture of the coloring, and when this has dried out after ironing the original color will be found. Some people think the change means scorching, but this is not so. Should, however, one be so unfortunate as to scorch the blouse raw starch mixed into a paste should be laid on the spot and the waist exposed to the sun.

All colored material will have a better finish if ironed on the wrong side of the fabric.

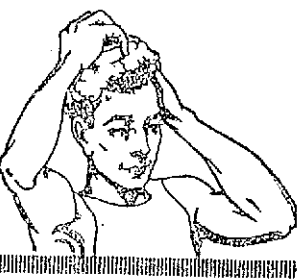

If the colored material is washed for the first time it should be laid in salt and water or vinegar and water for 20 minutes. The former is used for pink and blue shades and the latter for green and mauve.

The proportions are a handful of salt or a half teacupful of vinegar to a gallon of cold water. Thin flannel blouses require the utmost care in washing.

They should never be allowed to soak over five minutes, and soap should never be used directly upon them. Neither must the water be too hot. All these cause shrinkage, but the greatest damage is done by rubbing soap on the flannel.

Fashion Wrinkle

"Masterlinck blue." The color of the "Bluebird," of course, and a beautiful shade it is. A very pretty gown of blue and white striped crêpe, with borders and buttons of plain blue satin in the soft, pure blue of the "happiness" bird's wings, is very smart. The beautiful allegorical play has furnished a name for one of the season's most charming hues.

This is the time of year when the old tailored suit that you are probably going to wear until you buy a new one later on in the season may take on an air of rejuvenation by the aid of well chosen accessories.

One of the best of these "aids" is found in a hat, bow and muff set named in Paris the chasuble because of its ecclesiastical associations. The hat is a French plush affair shaped like the shiny beaver worn on the continent by the priests. The wrap which accompanies this clever little hat hangs straight from the shoulders in staidlike lines, but only in the back, again an ecclesiastical idea. The same straight effects are reproduced in the muff. All of these pieces are in black plush, but the otherwise somber effect is lightened by the spray of rose which decorates all three. These roses are in the soft shadings of the Maréchal Niel, which is now more popular than the American Beauty. The linings, soft, luxurious and alluring, harmonize with the shadings of the flowers.

Bows of plaited chiffon are often topped with a collar of satin suggesting the lines of the Robespierre. A collar of the new flame red satin will bear a ruche of chiffon in a creamy tint or one of purple will be surrounded with a deep capelike collar of chiffon, perhaps outlined with a purple thread. None of the chiffon or malines collars is as popular as one of marabou or ostrich plumes.

There are deliciously becoming sets of soft brown marabous with long, fluffy tails of the marabou, matched with muffs, and if desired toques of the same. Even more in demand are the bows of black and white ostrich feathers curled very tightly. The black streaks among the white give a certain distinction to these bows, which make them smarter than the all white or the all black.

Some of these new stoles fit closely to the neck; others give the idea of the cape, extending well over the shoulders, while still others take on the use of the scarf.

Costume of Braided Velvet

Braid is immensely fashionable this season, and on dressy velvet suits it is particularly good as a trimming motif. The suit illustrated is of this

Kitchen Wisdom

Stains may be removed from the zinc tops of kitchen tables with vinegar.

When making baked or boiled custard the milk to be used should be scalded and set aside to cool. Then make a custard in the ordinary way and it will be perfectly smooth.

Some cooks always add a little potato to mashed turnips, while others dredge in a little flour before seasoning. When the turnips are large they will have a more delicate flavor if the water is changed at least once during the boiling.

Keeping clothes props in one place where they can always be found in good condition on washing days is easily accomplished by fastening two loops of stout cord or leather against the wall of the house somewhere near the laundry, one placed high, the other low. Through these loops slide the poles as soon as they are no longer needed.
